PATTON OPENS NEW PUSH AGAINST SIEGFRIED LINE

Hodges' 1st Army Captures Four More Towns.

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 3 (AP).—The United States 3d army smashed organized resistance in most of the factory city of Saarlautern and broke across the Saar river into the Siegfried line today as the 1st army seized four towns in triple assaults west of Cologne that rolled back the Roer defenses a mile or more.

The 3d army's 95th division boldly seized a bridge over the formidable Saar and sent infantry and armored tank destroyers racing across in the first attack on this front against the Siegfried line.

Lt. Gen. Patton's troops also crossed the Saar frontier at a new point eight miles south of Saarlautern, and expanded their hold on the Saar's west bank north of Saarlautern.

Penetrates One Mile.

The new crossing, made by the 5th infantry division whose commander was disclosed to be Maj. Gen. Stafford L. Erwin, penetrated a mile into Germany 11 miles southwest of the Saar's main city of Saarbrucken, repulsing a tank-supported counterblow.

Farther south, the 80th division entered Cite Ste. Barbe, nine miles southwest of Saarbrucken and less than a mile from the Saar border, after a one mile advance.

A mile and half northwest of Saarlautern, American troops found the Saar town of Nieder Limberg burned and abandoned in the first application by the Germans of scorched earth inside the reich.

The 90th division occupied Rehlingen, five miles northwest of Saarlautern. Seventeen miles north, pilots reported civilian refugees streaming east out of Saarburg.

Possible Outflanking Drive.

On the south flank, in the potential outflanking drive on the main Saar city of Saarbrucken, the 26th division cleared the last Germans from the French city of Sarre Union. It is on the east bank of the Saar, 12 miles from the basin's border and 21 miles from Saarbrucken.

The 4th armored division moved up a mile to a point a mile and a half northeast of Sarre Union.

A German counter-attack, paced by up to 50 tanks, finally was contained near Mackwiller, four miles to the east, and the United States 7th army recaptured the town. The 7th also entered Waldhambach, a mile and a half east.

Inden, Lucherberg, Luchem, and Brandenberg fell to Lt. Gen. Hodges' 1st army, which made an assault crossing of the Inde river. It was pushing toward the Roer river at three points along a 12 mile front.

Yanks Caught in Town.

Lucherberg, a mile southeast of the Inde crossing, two and a half miles from the Roer and five miles northwest of the stronghold of Duren, was seized by American infantry cut off in the town.

Refusing a German demand to surrender, the Americans radioed supporting artillery to shell the town—even if they were in it—and with this help drove out the enemy, capturing 100 prisoners.

Another force coming up from the south seized by storm the ham-

HOW AMERICANS TRICKED NAZIS AND WON BRIDGE

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 95TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN SAARLAUTERN, Germany, Dec. 3.—Here is the story of how infantry men of the 95th division accomplished a brilliant predawn crossing of the Saar river today. They climaxed this bold stroke by closing on a bridge in the heart of the city from both ends and seizing it before the Germans had time to set off explosives with which the span had been prepared for demolition.

All organized resistance in the portion of Saarlautern west of the river had ceased this afternoon tho snipers still were being mopped up thruout the burning town, which is under heavy German mortar and artillery fire.

The men who made the early morning crossing in assault boats, aided by those who later crossed the captured bridge, were enlarging their bridgehead and had already taken two old style "castle wall" forts, despite determined German resistance.

Shells Wreck One Bridge.

Saarlautern, the largest German city entered by Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army troops to date, was entered yesterday by men of the 379th regiment commanded by Col. Robert Bacon, Harlingen, Tex. Much credit for their surprise crossing is due to the 320th engineer battalion commanded by Capt. Elias Tolbert, Culpepper, Va., which manned the boats that ferried the infantry men quietly across the 300 foot stream and then built a foot bridge.

The engineers were nearly done with a heavier infantry support bridge when dawn and the enemy discovered them simultaneously and the Nazis began shelling.

The engineers, including Corp. Leonard Slaton, 30, of 4952 N. Spaulding av., Chicago., continued with their work until the enemy scored a direct hit, knocking out the structure, which was about 60 per cent completed.

Sweep on Permanent Bridge.

Meanwhile, the men across the river under command of Lt Col. Tobias Philbin, Clinton, Mass., swept in on the permanent bridge from the east side of the Saar while a second force raced down the western bank of the river.

The Germans for some inexplicable reason had failed to put outposts on the river and both forces reached their respective ends of the bridge without opposition of any serious nature, managed to demine it and hold it for American use. A second bridge across the river farther downstream, however, was blown up by the Germans.

Progress thru Saarlautern was slow because the Germans left five or six men in each defensible building. But our troops brought in 90 mm. and 155 mm. guns and used them to fire point blank at these strong points.

Engineer from Fort Wayne.

Maj. Edward P. Von Derau, former country district circulation manager of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, an executive officer of the 1st battalion of the 379th regiment, whom we saw in Saarlautern, said the engineers continued their efforts to erect an infantry support bridge even after the structure was hit.

Saarlautern, whose peace time population is about 30,000 persons, still held 3,000 civilians on the west side of the river when American troops entered.

A POST-WAR POSSIBILITY

COOS WIN WIFE TO YANK'S BABY

Errant Soldier Husband Is Forgiven.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 3 [Special] A baby's smile has succeeded where the eloquence of Pvt. Arthur E. Whitehouse failed, winning a home for one and forgiveness for the other in a happy finale to the soldier's spectacular saga of international extra marital romance.

This became known today with Whitehouse's joyous announcement that his wife, Rose, 44, has been captivated by the smile of 10 month old Geraldine and has agreed to rear the baby as her own.

Whitehouse got a stony reception from his wife last week when he brought Geraldine back from Newfoundland, where he had been on duty for the last 31 months. Geraldine, he explained, had been born to him and an unidentified hospital worker in St. John's.

Tells of Reconciliation.

Whitehouse explained today how he induced his wife to change her mind. He took the baby to the home of her son by a previous marriage in Chelsea Heights, N. J., he said. The son, Raymond Fasy, 28, has three small children of his own and Geraldine was welcomed to the family circle.

Mrs. Whitehouse, after first refusing, finally agreed to visit the Fasy family and take a look at Geraldine, he said. She did so Friday. Her three grandchildren clustered around her. Geraldine cooed and smiled. Mrs. Whitehouse smiled back and Geraldine held out tiny arms. That was all there was to it.

"We were childless thru nine years of marriage," Whitehouse said today. "Now we are going to be happier than we have ever been."

On 32 Day Furlough.

In order to bring Geraldine here from Newfoundland Whitehouse had to obtain a release from the baby's mother and to wangle a 32 day furlough from the army. The release was easy, he said, because "she didn't want the baby and she didn't want me."

He had his troubles on the homeward trip. On the first leg of an air journey, Geraldine developed pneumonia and 12 days of his furlough expired while she was getting hospital treatment.

The Whitehouses were back in Philadelphia today looking for an apartment where Mrs. Whitehouse will live with the baby after the father returns to duty.

"I am the only woman he loves," Mrs. Whitehouse said. "He couldn't help making a mistake."

Col. Elliott Marries Actress on Rim of the Grand Canyon

Grand Canyon, Ariz., Dec. 3 (AP).—Col. Elliott Roosevelt and Movie Actress Faye Emerson were married in a glass enclosed observation station on the rim of the Grand Canyon today in what the bride called "probably the most beautiful wedding there ever was."

The President's 34 year old second son and the 27 year old, coppery blonde graduate of little theaters recited their vows at 9 a. m. before a large window overlooking the magnificent chasm. Blankets of snow and swirling mist partly concealed its famed hues. The temperature outside was 29 degrees.

"Our marriage means so much to us both that we wanted to begin it as beautifully as possible," the bride told reporters.

The Rev. Roger Sawyer, pastor of a Williams, Ariz., Methodist church, performed the ceremony as a few friends stood by.

Daughter Is Maid of Honor.

Miss Emerson was attended by Mrs. Joseph B. Livengood of Los Angeles, a granddaughter of the late opera star, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink. Maid of honor was 10 year old Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, daughter of Col. Roosevelt by the second of his two previous marriages.

Best man was Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc.

Miss Emerson wore a blue doeskin suit, a mink bandeau with matching coat and muff, and brown alligator shoes. She carried a cluster of white orchids.

Champagne for Breakfast.

From the Yavapai observation station the wedding party proceeded to El Tovar hotel, a rustic and scenic honeymooners' retreat a mile away. A lengthy wedding breakfast included champagne and creamed chicken on sliced avocado, topped off by wedding cake.

The newlyweds told newsmen they would honeymoon for about a week in the Grand Canyon region. Last Wednesday, when the engagement was disclosed, Col. Roosevelt said he would go overseas again "darn soon." He is on leave from the army air forces.

Several of the guests brought floral pieces to the improvised wedding chapel. They included Mrs. Frye, Miss Janet Thomas of Hollywood, and Mrs. Clarence Shoop of Los Angeles.

Forced to Walk 4 Miles.

Mrs. Frye and Miss Thomas had to walk 4 miles from an emergency landing at Ashfork, Ariz., before obtaining a ride with a secret service man assigned to the wedding party. Their plane had been forced down in a storm.

It was the second marriage for Miss Emerson—the first actress to join the White House family. In 1942 she was divorced from William Wallace Crawford Jr., by whom she has a 5 year old son.

Col. Roosevelt had a son by Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt and three children by Ruth Googins Roosevelt, from both of whom he was divorced.

CLAIM LONDON TESTS SUPPORT SEEING FUTURE

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The belief that human beings can see into the future is supported by the results of experiments conducted for three years by S. G. Soal of Queen Mary college, London university, it was announced today.

Prof. Hor Evans, principal of Queen Mary college, said the faculty which the tests are alleged to affirm is known as precognitive telepathy. Placed in a room apart the subject guessed, not the card chosen for him, but the one to follow, and he did this often enough, Soal said, that the odds against the tests being due to chance were stupendous.

Several scientists present asserted the outcome would have important implications for philosophy. Soal found that two out of 160 persons tested registered a number of "hits" far above coincidence on both the preceding and the following card. In each instance the cards were exposed for a few seconds to a third person and the subject "foresaw" an image that was to be in this person's mind a few seconds later.

'Chewing Gum' Explodes and Loosens His Teeth!

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP).—Glenn Gloyd, 54, took three chews on a stick of chewing gum today, and said he thought it tasted funny. On the fourth chew the gum exploded in his mouth, searing his gums, lacerating his palate, and loosening his teeth. After emergency treatment, he told police he bought the gum in a local store. An investigation was begun.

A Global Warrior Finds Home Folks Interested

Fort Sill, Okla., Dec. 3 (AP).—Corp. Harold Totman came back from a furlough spent in Pipestone, Minn., his home, and related that while walking with his mother there, a woman stopped him and asked, "Where were you in action?" When told in the Southwest Pacific, she queried, "O, how far is that from Paris?"

Lupe Velez Tells Plan to Marry French Actor

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 3 (AP).—Lupe Velez, Mexican actress, told a reporter today she soon will marry Harold Ramond, French actor.

LEFTISTS FIGHT ROYALISTS IN ATHENS SUBURB

Protest Order to Give Up Arms.

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 3 (AP).—Greek police fired on a crowd of left wing EAM demonstrators in this capital today—killing 15 and wounding 148 persons by EAM account—and a pitched battle broke out in an Athens suburb between royalists and EAM army members.

Premier Papandreou.

[Prime Minister George Papandreou, in a broadcast to the Greek nation, heard in London by the Associated Press, charged "leaders of the extreme left are preparing the way to civil war."]

The crowd of EAM sympathizers turned back by police guns this morning in Constitution square included women and children.

A crowd was demonstrating against Papandreou's orders that all guerrillas be disarmed and disbanded.

Fight Near Acropolis.

In a suburb in the shadow of the Acropolis, royalists and men of the ELAS—the EAMS's army—battled openly, and the conflict had lasted five hours by tonight.

A curfew was imposed on Athens and Piraeus port from 7 p. m. to 6 a. m. beginning tonight.

British Sherman tanks, scout cars, and armored cars patroled the streets of the Greek capital, and R. A. F. and Hellenic air force and United States transport planes circled over the city this afternoon.

Large crowds assembled outside the United States embassy.

Papandreou had banned a scheduled EAM demonstration today, but the EAM's central committee nevertheless called one for 11 a. m. and ordered a general strike for tomorrow.

By 10 a. m. gray clad civil police surrounded the approaches to Constitution square, while four British armored cars waited in the square.

Shooting Begins.

The shooting began when the crowd, breaking thru the cordon at a few places, surged forward on the government palace before the tomb of the Unknown Warrior with their banners unfurled. Alongside the Communist flag and blue and white Greek ensign carried by the demonstrators waved the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack.

As the first wave of demonstrators rushed to within 100 yards of police headquarters on the corner of the square, Police Chief Ebert dashed to the window and screamed the order for his men to fire.

The policemen hesitated before pulling back the bolts of their guns, and then agitatedly began to fire over the heads of the demonstrators, women and children among them.

The people flopped down like cards. Some were hit by stray shots. Onlookers scattered to the shelter of doorways.

Crowds Mass Again.

After ambulances picked up the fallen, and policemen took cover behind lamp posts and pillars with guns at the ready, the angered crowds massed once more, shouting, "Democracy."

They surged forward again. The police again opened fire. The demonstrators broke thru in a straggling crowd.

Reds Seize 3 Nazi Bases in Hungary Drive

LONDON, Dec. 4 [Monday]—(AP).—Three Russian armies yesterday toppled Miskolc and Satoraljaujhely, last big German strongholds northeast of Budapest, pushed closer to the Hungarian capital along the west bank of the Danube, and drove to within 72 miles of the Austrian frontier.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2d Ukrainian army stormed the great rail center of Miskolc, 85 miles northeast of Budapest, and elements of his troops together with Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian army captured Satoraljaujhely, on the Slovak frontier 45 miles northeast of Miskolc.

Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3d Ukraine army, in a five mile advance, captured Dunafoldvar, on the Danube 43 miles south of Budapest, in the drive to take the Hungarian capital from the rear.

21 Miles from Lake Balaton.

In an 11 mile push toward the Austrian frontier, Tolbukhin's troops seized the important rail junction of Tamasi, only 21 miles below Lake Balaton, guardian of the strategic approaches to Austria.

Tolbukhin's smashing success engulfed more than 80 places, including Kaposmero, 5½ miles west of Kaposvar, taken Saturday. Kaposmero was the closest approach to the Austrian frontier, 72 miles beyond.

Tolbukhin's successes won him a steadily expanding front below Lake Balaton, and the Russians now have a 36 mile hold on the Budapest-Zagreb-Trieste railway connecting the German defenders in Budapest with those in Yugoslavia and northern Italy.

Moscow's Guns Boom.

In addition to capturing Miskolc, Marshal Malinovsky's troops seized Homrogd, 11 miles to the northeast, and the soviet bulletin said they captured 21,745 Germans and Hungarians in the fighting from Nov. 8 thru last Saturday.

The storming of Miskolc, a town of 73,000 population and the last major center of German resistance northeast of Budapest, rated 20 salvos from 224 of Moscow's big guns. The fall of Satoraljaujhely called for 12 salvos from 124 guns.

REDS MOVE MACHINERY

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The soviet authorities in Romania have already commenced removing certain heavy machinery and other types of equipment to the U. S. S. R.

This transfer from the vanquished to the victor is proceeding under the terms of an armistice under which Romania, joined forces with the allies.

Any itemized list of machinery being dismantled and sent to Russia is impossible to obtain but it is

B-29S FIGHT OFF JAP PLANES IN 4TH TOKYO RAID

Bombs Set Fire to Aviation Plant.

SAIPAN, Dec. 3 (AP).—Saipan based Super Fortress bombers raiding Tokyo's great Musashima aircraft factory today on their fourth visit to the Japanese capital dodged intense anti-aircraft fire and fought off swarms of fighters, but left industrial areas in flames and ruin.

Pilots said this was the toughest Tokyo raid yet but also the most successful, since the target was clearly outlined in sunlight during the hour and a half assault.

Second Lt. John W. Iid of Rudyard, Mich., co-pilot of the first plane over the target, saw his bombs touch off several explosions. Each following wave saw stronger proof of devastation below, but also had stronger interception. An undetermined number of enemy planes was shot down.

Chicagoan in Crew.

His plane included in its crew Staff Sgt. William A. Wiegers, Marinette, Wis.; Sgt. Edward J. Morrissey, 6541 S. Talman av., Chicago, and Corp. Robert C. Webb, Monroeville, Ind.

"It was clear as a bell for 100 miles around Tokyo," related Lt. Martin Nicholson of Kingsville, Tex.

Two interceptors hung around Nicholson's plane but did not attack. However, when Lt. Col. William McDowell of Brady, Tex., flew over later he encountered "40 or so enemy fighters, 10 of which were fairly close." McDowell said the Japanese were not very aggressive and dove away when the Super Forts came close.

Jap Fighters Plentiful.

Capt. Charles Moreland of Live Oak, Tex., said his tailgunner set one Japanese plane smoking but lost sight of him when another attacker demanded his attention.

Lt. Iid and others in the lead plane confirmed the destruction of one enemy plane by Ronald Talbot of Catonville, Wash.

Capt. Donald Thompson of Nyack, N. Y., said Japanese fighters were plentiful and persistent. They maintained an attack or threat of attack for 50 miles in the Tokyo area.

A B-29 commanded by Capt. Robert McClanahan of Los Angeles, caught fire in the tail turret before leaving the target and hastily descended to a low altitude to enable the plane to depressurize. Fire extinguishers quenched the flames.

15 Japs Over One B-29.

Fifteen or 20 Japanese planes hovered over the B-29 commanded by Capt. McClanahan but only two came in close. Sgt. August Otto Renner of Dearborn, Mich., set one smoking and saw it spiral downward. Others in McClanahan's plane included co-pilot 2d Lt. George P. Rawkis, 2135 S. Michigan av., Chicago, and bombardier 2d Lt. Charles L. Smader, Racine, Wis.

The Musashima engine plant of the Nakajima aircraft factory was the prime target of the midafternoon attack with visual pinpoint bombing.

One Fortress Lost.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—One Super Fortress was lost to a Japanese fighter plane attack in today's raid on Tokyo, the 20th air force announced today.

"Results today were reported good," said the bulletin. "The weather was clear, permitting daylight visual precision bombing. The last squadrons to reach the target observed in the bombing area several large fires that were being whipped by an unusually high wind.

Four Jap Planes Downed.

"The late formations encountered moderately strong enemy fighter opposition and destroyed four Japanese planes, with eight others probably destroyed. One B-29 was lost to enemy fighter action over the target. Anti-aircraft fire was moderate."

Japanese headquarters claimed that 15 of "some 70" B-29s which raided the city for an hour and a half were shot down. Tokyo said "damage to our side was very slight."

YOUTHS TAKING LEADING ROLE IN FAT STOCK SHOW

Chicago Sees War Plant That Has No Strikes.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Chicago went to see a new kind of war show yesterday and found that youngsters were holding the spotlight.

City residents paraded past pens of fat cattle, sheep, and hogs at the stock yards, where the annual Chicago Market Fat Stock show is being held and learned that the farm factory is one which has been turning out war material without strikes, slowdowns, or demands for higher wages.

Many of the exhibitors of the 5,500 animals are 4-H club boys and girls and Future Farmers of America. Big families, with every member displaying a prime animal, are common at the show.

Youngsters Exhibit Cattle.

An example is the Getzelman family from Hampshire, Kane county. Arthur, 18; Donald, 15; Le Roy, 11; Lloyd, 14, and Lyle, 12, are showing 12 head of cattle. Helping groom the animals are Dick, 9, and Marilyn, 18.

Late arrivals in the Iowa cattle section were Carmelite Bice, 16, Boone City, Ia., and her brothers and sister, Francis, 14; Harry, 14 [twins]; Lawrence, 10, and Patricia, 13. They were showing Hereford and Angus steers. Also from Iowa was the Held family of Hinton, Plymouth county. This family group consisted of Charles, 19; Darlene, 18; Gordon, 15½; Lois, 20, and Stanley, 13.

The youngsters were busy putting the final glamor touches to their animals. Today they will lead the animals into the ring before the judges. Champions will be picked in the cattle, sheep, and swine divisions. These champions then will be permitted to compete in the open classes with the animals brought by adults. John C. Burns of Fort Worth, Tex., has the job of choosing the champion calf.

Champions to Be Picked.

Tomorrow the open classes will be judged and the grand champions of the show will be selected. On Wednesday and Thursday the animals will be auctioned. Every head at the show is destined to be converted to meat.

Hundreds of spectators yesterday watched judges pick championship carloads of fat and feeder cattle. Wooden runways among the outdoor cattle pens permitted a bird's-eye view of fat backed, curly haired steers.

For the third consecutive year the prize for the grand champion load of fat cattle went to Karl Hoffman of Ida Grove, Ia., on a load of 15 Herefords, averaging 963 pounds, fed and fitted by Hoffman and jointly owned by Robert Storz of Omaha. The grand champion load won in competition with 56 other entries.

The 1944 International Shorthorn congress and sale will open today with a show of sale cattle and judging. Bulls among the 174 head entered will be sold tomorrow and cows Wednesday. The annual banquet will be held Wednesday night in the Stevens hotel.

Girls Have Major Role.

This year, with many of the older farm boys in the army, the girls have taken a major role in the show. There are 71 girls, and many of them are 10 years old, the minimum age limit for a 4-H club member. They are anxious to place first so they can mail that letter to France or Leyte telling their brothers they have won for them.

In all, there are 520 exhibiters among the boys and girls and they have brought 790 steers, 91 hogs, and 51 lambs to the show. This is a record entry for the junior feeding show, and Manager Barney Heide said the show was the largest in its three year history. He said the quality of the animals being displayed is excellent and maintains the high standards set by the International Live Stock exposition, which was canceled for the duration of the war.

TAFT OPPOSES ABOLITION OF TWO-THIRD RULE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—Sen. Taft [R., O.] said today he has no doubt that a two-thirds senate majority could be obtained at present to approve United States entry into a peace enforcement league.

Taft opposed abolition of the two-thirds rule for treaty ratification in a radio forum preview of senate debate on the question now before congress.

Sen. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] advocated abolition of the rule as provided in a house resolution proposing a Constitutional amendment calling for approval of treaties by bare majorities of both branches of congress.

MEMPHIS PHONE WORKERS AWAIT CALL TO STRIKE

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 3 (AP).—Long distance telephone operators of Memphis remained at their jobs today, awaiting union authorization of a strike which a spokesman for the operators said might stop telephone service all over the nation.

The Memphis affiliate of the National Federation of Long Line Operators voted yesterday to leave their posts unless they are granted a $5 weekly raise, $3 more than the war labor board recently approved.

National Union President J. J. Moran, New York, said no action by the union's executive committee was expected before tomorrow. Moran has indicated the committee may defer action until after a strike vote is taken by Louisville operators Dec. 11. He said his union has a pledge of mutual support with the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

FARM SOCIETY NAMES KANSAN AS PRESIDENT

Dr. A. D. Weber of the Kansas State college was elected president of the American Society of Animal Production at the concluding session of its convention here yesterday. Other officers are W. A. Craft of Ames, Ia., vice president, and W. V. Lambert of Purdue university, secretary and treasurer.

At a ceremony in the Saddle and Sirloin club, a portrait of Prof. Frank G. King, chairman of the department of animal husbandry of Purdue university, was presented to the society to be hung in its portrait gallery of agricultural leaders.

The society membership includes workers in the field of animal husbandry from every state and Canada.

BOY OF 18 MAKES $14,000 ON FARM; WINS 4-H AWARD

The highest honor which can come to any 4-H club boy or girl was given to Donald F. Mowery, 18, Terre Haute, Ind., and Mary Jo Morgan, 19, of Laurel, Miss., yesterday when they were declared national achievement champions of the 23d annual 4-H congress. Each will receive a trophy from the President of the United States and a $200 college scholarship.

The 18 year old farm youth from Indiana earned his award thru hard work and pluck. A tragic turn in his life left him fatherless in 1941 and when the hired man deserted shortly thereafter Donald decided to take over the 158 acre farm. Since then he has earned a total income of nearly $14,000.

Tells of Mother's Help.

A small green record book, not more than an inch thick, which he submitted to the judges, is a model of neatness and legibility and every line tells the story of his nine years in club work.

"I couldn't have accomplished so much except for mother's courageous support," the boy said.

Miss Morgan's record shows an income of $6,808.25 from projects completed in nine years of club work, including gardening, canning, clothing, foods, poultry, and home improvements. She has completed one year in junior college, where she organized a college 4-H club.

$17,135 in 11 Years.

Herbert Hoover, 20, of Oskaloosa, Ia., was runner-up boy as achievement winner and will receive a $100 college scholarship. His certified income of $17,135.75 is evidence that in 11 years of 4-H work he has acquired more of what it takes to make a successful live stock man than many producers get in a life time.

The achievement awards are based on the sum total of accomplishments, as distinguished from recognition of achievement in a single project.

An Irish lad, Donald F. Sullivan, 19, of Potsdam, N. Y., was declared the national boy leader. One of the main objectives of the 4-H program is training boys and girls to assume leadership in their clubs and communities and in local, state, and national affairs. Awards for this honor are the same as in the achievement contest.

Doing Club Work 10 Years.

Sullivan has been in club work 10 years, earned an income of $8,108.63, and served his club and community by giving talks, making demonstrations, taking part in judging contests, and organizing five farm clubs.

Mildred Reed, 20, Bristol, Conn., is the national girl leader.

Farm 4-H girls have been mending for victory the last year by making over their own garments. Yesterday 43 state champions vied for 12 awards of $200 scholarship upon the basis of their clothing achievements.

Irene Lofftus, 20, Roseville, Ill., who has remodeled 129 garments for herself and family, was one of the central section winners. Others included Dorothy Fobes, Moorhead, Minn., and Marie Kolb, 17, Berlin, Wis.

HOLDUP VICTIMS ACCUSE FIVE IN POLICE SHOW-UP

Five men paraded in the police showup yesterday were identified by victims of recent robberies.

Julius Schleffler, 1848 Touhy av., president of a trucking company at 1803 Fulton st., identified Sidney Moman, 21, Negro, 2056 Maypole av., as one of two gunmen who took $700 from him Saturday.

Emanuel [King Kong] Cannady, 26, Negro, 73 E. 31st st., former boxer, and Leo Douglas, 28, Negro, 730 E. 46th st., a painter, were picked out as gunmen who obtained $23 and some jewelry in another robbery.

John H. Hendrickson, 33, of 4806 Fletcher st., and Arthur Lein, 29, of 2239 Milwaukee av., were identified by six persons who had been robbed of more than $10,000 in money and jewelry in the last two months.

THIEVES TAKE SILVERWARE.

Theft of silverware, an electric iron, and an electric toaster, valued at $35, from his home was reported to police yesterday by Charles Wilkins, 6645 S. Campbell av.

ADM. BYRD ASKS HOME FRONT TO SUPPORT G. I.S

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, polar explorer who staked America's claim in the Antarctic, broke a long self-imposed public silence today to pay tribute to the army's G. I. Joes and to urge on their behalf full production support by the folks back home for a war "a helluva way from finished."

His appeal answered the speculation, "Where's Byrd; back at the South Pole?" For he turned up, instead, on the European battle front where he is making a study of how the tactical air forces support the fighting ground troops. This may be helpful in the Pacific theater where the admiral twice has been on aviation duty.

"This is the time of all times for the home front to back up the battle front," Byrd said in a statement upon returning from the front lines to London near the end of his present mission.

The Miracle of this War

We are in the midst of the bloodiest war in recorded history, and we are one of the major belligerents.

Despite that fact, the miracle is that the daily, physical lives of the American people have been so little affected. We are not being bombed. We are better housed and better fed than any other nation in the world.

Under such conditions, it is so easy to occasionally forget that the war is still to be won and paid for in blood and treasure, and how imperative it is to back up our government with the purchase of War Bonds.

It is human to forget too, that in buying War Bonds, we are doing something for ourselves as well. What a comfort it will be to us in the years to come to have the security of that nest egg tucked away.

So let's do without some of the things we are buying in vast profusion today, and put that money into more bonds. Let's do it now.

G. O. P. LEADERS SEEK TO REBUILD PARTY FOR 1946

Halleck Urges Overhaul and Spirited Drive.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—With the tumult of the fourth term battle still echoing in the national capital, plans for 1946 and 1948 are beginning to occupy the attention of the leaders of both major parties.

Rep. Halleck.

Republican leaders are milling about trying to get their bearings in a more or less dazed sort of way. All of them are convinced that something must be done to get the G. O. P. organization on its feet again and revitalized for the 1946 congressional and state elections, the outcome of which will influence profoundly the 1948 Presidential election.

If the Republicans should succeed in capturing congress, or at least the house, in 1946 and winning additional governorships they would be strengthened greatly for the 1948 contest for the Presidency.

G. O. P. Overhaul Demanded.

Most of the Republican leaders here are waiting for Gov. Dewey, new titular head of the party, to initiate the reorganization of the party headquarters and the adoption of a program of action. A few, like Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.], chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, have spoken vigorously against the customary adjournment of party activity until a few months before the next election. He is demanding an immediate overhaul of the party machinery and a campaign of education in Republican principles in preparation for the 1946 elections.

"More than ever a vital opposition party is needed to stand guard over the rights and privileges guaranteed by our Constitution," said Halleck. "This is being demonstrated almost every day by the revelations of the excesses of the party in power, the latest of which pertain to the coerced sale of a radio station and to the relations of the attorney general with a New Deal lobbyist. This is no time for the Republican party to be asleep at the switch."

Martin Leadership Criticized.

Suiting action to the word, Halleck has slated a meeting of the congressional campaign committee for next month immediately after the 79th congress convenes to organize a staff and finance the 1946 canvass for election of Republican members of the house.

There is a good deal of dissatisfaction among house Republicans with the minority leadership of Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, but it is not expected to interfere with his reelection to the post.

The Martin leadership is criticized as lacking in virility, imagination, and resourcefulness. The dissatisfaction, however, is likely to be manifested in a shake-up of the Republican steering committee, replacing old stagers with younger members.

Brownell Status in Doubt.

Whether Herbert Brownell will remain as national chairman is not clear. He said after the election that he wanted to resign the post in order to give undivided attention to his business, but Gov. Dewey asked him to remain. There was much complaint during the campaign of inefficiency at Republican national headquarters, but whether Brownell was wholly to blame was open to doubt.

According to one version of the matter, Brownell frequently found himself short circuited by personal representatives of Gov. Dewey at headquarters, one of the most mysterious of whom was Roger Straus.

A somewhat similar situation obtained in the New York state committee the chairman of which, Edwin F. Jaeckle, resigned a week after the election. The state campaign had been conducted not by Chairman Jaeckle but by Arthur H. Schwarz, who was appointed campaign manager by Gov. Dewey.

Gov. Dewey's campaign strategy proved disheartening to many members of the national committee, who felt that the candidate was throwing away his chances of election by espousing New Deal policies and merely promising to do the job better. This gave Mr. Roosevelt an opening of which he took devastating advantage.

Dewey's successful attempt to take the post-war peace issue out of the campaign by collaborating with Secretary of State Hull on the Dumbarton Oaks project also was deplored by the nationalists, who took the position it would not be popular in the middle west while it would not win any internationalists away from Mr. Roosevelt. The extent to which Dewey went internationalist was the subject of comment thruout the campaign. In his stumping tours he studiously avoided indorsement of Senators Nye of North Dakota and Danaher of Connecticut and other nationalists. He already had repudiated Rep. Fish of New York.

New York Legislature Won.

One complaint frequently heard was that Dewey seemed to be more deeply interested in the election of a Republican legislature in New York than in his own election to the Presidency. Some thought he had realized from the start the futility of seeking to beat Mr. Roosevelt while the war was in progress and was playing his cards to assure reelection as governor in 1946. He succeeded in getting a Republican legislature, despite the Roosevelt sweep of New York, thereby assuring a program of state legislation and a strengthening of the Republican state organization which will aid him tremendously in seeking reelection.

If reelected in 1946 Gov. Dewey unquestionably will be a candidate for the nomination for President in 1948. If defeated for reelection, he would be handicapped seriously in seeking Presidential nomination. There undoubtedly will be numerous other Presidential contenders, among them Gov. Green of Illinois, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, possibly either Gov. Bricker or Sen. Taft of Ohio, and Gov. Warren of California.

On the Democratic side Vice President Wallace is being groomed by Sidney Hillman's political action committee for the 1948 nomination for President—that is, if Mr. Roosevelt should not be a candidate for a fifth term. Among the conservatives who are viewed as rivals of Wallace for the nomination are Sen. Byrd of Virginia and the newly elected governor of Massachusetts, Mayor M. J. Tobin of Boston.

Rhonda Fleming, movie starlet, arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Santa Fe Chief to spend a week here during which she will participate in the 4-H club's 23d congress. She will speak at a tea at 2:30 p. m. today in the Peoples Gas company building and at a dinner at 6:15 p. m. tomorrow in the Drake hotel to 4-H food production winners of scholarships. With a wisp of a felt hat on her red curls, and wearing a black and green gabardine suit and a squirrel coat, Rhonda, a native Californian, found Chicago's weather on the crisp side. She is the daughter of Effie Graham, former actress and model.

HOPE OF EARLIER VICTORY TOLD BY GEN. MARSHALL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 [Special].—Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, had hopes in the fall that this country's "flood" of military power might beat Germany by the time the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor and the nation's entry into war is reached this week.

He based this hope on the "dazzling" speed and strength with which our forces assaulted the European enemy this year. This amazing display from an inexperienced army not only had caught the enemy off guard, but had demoralized him, said the general, reviewing the third year of war for a special edition of the army and navy journal to be issued Dec. 7.

Marshall wrote the article in the early autumn. He said the 'lightning" progress of the war presented an "embarrassing" problem to one thus asked to comment so far in advance on the allied situation.

Forecast Bombing of Japan.

"Before this statement is published, hostilities might have terminated in the European theater," he said. The Pacific net, he added, should by Dec. 7, have drawn much closer around the Japanese perimeter and their homeland subjected to continuous bombardment.

During the last year the general said, we not only completed the deployment of our air and ground forces overseas, but had solved in a notable way the complex problem of supplying these forces, and keeping our weapons in action.

He disclosed we were able to provide most of the planes of the army air forces with two crews, so the ships could be kept constantly in the air. He explained the principle applied here was the same as that followed in the ground forces where the flow of replacements and guns was so maintained that divisional losses could be restored "over night."

Demoralizing to Nazis.

"Probably nothing has been more demoralizing to the Germans than this flood of sustained power always on the increase and constantly hammering at their dwindling resources in men and equipment," said Marshall.

The army chief commended the efficiency displayed by the corps and army commands in handling previously untried divisions in "a grand assault" on an experienced enemy. The elaborate training maneuvers in Louisiana and the southwest desert country were "amply" justified by the leadership displayed this summer in France, he commented. He cited the Normandy and Brittany breakthru carried out by Gen. Patton's 3d army as a "demonstration of efficiency" for which the enemy was totally unprepared.

Lives Saved by Training.

In the last war corps commands had to be organized virtually on the battle field, said Marshall, who in the A. E. F. of 1917-'18 was a member of Gen. Pershing's staff. "In this war the victory was speeded up and the lives of our men were conserved by the most comprehensive training procedure that could be developed in this country."

The army chief expressed hope the great demonstration of military power which the United States is today staging would impress future aggressors, if any.

Describing wars as "the great tragedies of the human race," the army chief declared it probably has been a good thing to have our war strength "so demonstrated that the world may know for the future that this democracy can and will generate a military force sufficient to overwhelm prospective tyrants of the years to come."

HARD WAR LESSON URGED FOR GERMANY BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

Sigrid Schultz, Chicago Tribune correspondent in Berlin for 16 years, yesterday called for a stern treatment of Germany after the war to demonstrate that aggression does not pay. Miss Schultz spoke on W-G-N's Distinguished Guest hour.

"This time we must thwart their plans for economic conspiracies, and their schemes for political, cultural, and economic infiltration they have been perfecting for more than a quarter century," Miss Schultz said.

This is how Miss Schultz proposes to teach the Germans that war does not pay. The first step, she said, has already been taken: The intense bombing of Berlin and other cities in the Nazi homeland.

The second step in the reeducation of Germany: Punishment of German war criminals.

The third step: Return of all loot taken from foreign countries.

PRAVDA SCORES U. S. ARMY-NAVY JOURNAL CHARGE

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The official Communist party newspaper Pravda, in an article broadcast tonight by the Moscow radio, denounced the semi-official American Army-Navy journal as "ugly looking" and accused it of "supplying pro-Hitlerite journalists with material."

The article said John O'Donnell, New York Daily News columnist, had reported that military decisions made at Teheran are not being fulfilled. This, Pravda said, was untrue.

"It appears," said Pravda, "that the source of O'Donnell's inspiration is the American magazine Army and Navy journal, which states that the strategy worked out at Teheran is not being fulfilled. This journal looks ugly. It is a journal which should, it would seem, inspire American soldiers, but which in fact permits itself to make unworthy onslaught against the U. S. S. R. and supply pro-Hitlerite journalists with material."

COURTNEY GOES OUT OF OFFICE TODAY; TUOHY IN

State's Atty. Courtney will go off the public pay roll for the first time in more than 20 years today when William J. Tuohy takes the oath of office as his successor. Courtney would not announce his plans yesterday, nor would he discuss whether he planned to open a law office or desired a federal appointment.

Tuohy, the only new face among the Democratic county officials whose elective terms start today, followed a policy of moving slowly on patronage matters and did not announce how many of the assistant prosecutors might be replaced. The new head of the civil department, the job Tuohy is vacating, will be Jacob Shamberg, a former associate who now is in private practice. James F. Ashenden, who was his campaign manager, becomes Tuohy's private secretary.

3D ARMY STORMS ACROSS SAAR IN SPEEDY ATTACK

Hodges Troops Take Four More German Towns.

let of Luchem, less than a mile below Lucherberg and on on the superhighway from Aachen to Cologne.

Seven miles south of Duren the 1st army seized ruins of what once was the village of Brandenberg and pressed on thru the woods a half mile east to within half a mile of the Roer.

Inden, a shabby industrial town, fell after a week of fighting. Some troops crossed north of the bridge at midnight and cleared Inden's eastern factory district.

Stalled at One Place.

Yank forces trying to push southeast on Bergstein were stalled by stiff opposition. The Germans also threw in several counter-attacks west of Gey, four miles south of Duren.

Altho the heavy overcast limited allied aerial support, the 9th United States air force blasted fortified villages and strong points along the Roer from Linnich to well south of Duren. The 1st United States tactical air force hit three German gun positions and other targets east of the Rhine.

Nine miles northwest of Duren the United States 9th army drew up to the Roer all the way from Linnich to Julich—two main river strongholds. This army cleared the Germans from that part of Linnich west of the river and fought bitterly to extend its hold inside Julich.

[A British broadcast said the 9th had taken all of Julich lying on the Roer's west bank.]

British Gain 600 Yards.

The British 2d army sprang to the attack in eastern Holland with a dawn assault that swept up to 600 yards into the Maas [Meuse] river defenses at Venlo, last German bastion on that front short of the Reich.

The British attack in eastern Holland was directed against the Blerick bridgehead across the Maas from Venlo. Lt. Gen. Dempsey's troops pressed to within 1,000 yards of the demolished Venlo bridge. The Tommies were under heavy shelling from across the river.

Farther north, some points of the front between Nijmegen and Arnhem were reported a foot under water as a result of flooding.

[The German radio said a German commando force blew the Lower Rhine dam southwest of Arnhem, "flooding the British positions over a wide area."]

Snipers in Strasbourg.

On the southern end of the front, the last snipers were being flushed from Strasbourg after the Germans had withdrawn to the east bank of the Rhine, blowing all three bridges there.

The 750 foot railway bridge was completely in the water, the central highway bridge was down except for the west span, but only the central span was blown on the 760 foot concrete highway bridge on the south.

Bitter street fighting eddied thru the communications hub of Selestat, 25 miles southwest of Strasbourg, where Lt. Gen. Patch's 7th army troops repelled two tank supported counterattacks.

These forces, which fought into the city after breaking out of the Vosges, were nearing a junction with others fighting down from Strasbourg. The forces from the north captured Ebersheim, two and a half miles northeast of Selestat. Orschwiller, three miles to the southwest, also was mopped up.

Fighting at Haguenau.

Despite felled trees, blown bridges and mines, armored forces moving south along the Rhine occupied Friesenheim, 18 miles south of Strasbourg and less than a mile west of the river.

Fifteen miles north of Strasbourg, heavy fighting was in progress at the southwestern edges of Haguenau, but eight miles to the northwest the 7th cleared Engwiller and nearby Mietesheim 11 miles south of the German border.

The French 1st army, driving the Germans from their last mountain position, captured four towns on the upper reaches of the Thur valley some 20 miles northwest of Mulhouse.

[The German Transocean news agency claimed that five French battalions were cut off after a German counter-attack had destroyed a bridge over the Huningue canal, five miles north of Basel. Units of the 4th Moroccan and 9th colonial divisions had thrust across the canal to the Mulhouse-Nurnburg railway before being halted and cut off, the Nazi agency said.]

Americans Advance Across Saar

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE AMERICAN 1ST ARMY, Germany, Dec. 3.—Back in 1543, the German town of Duren, vital road link protecting Cologne, had its worst year in history, staff officers studying an old guidebook learned today. That year two-thirds of the town was laid in ashes when Emperor Charles V. attacked the duke of Duren.

But the citizens of Duren long will remember the year 1944 and another conqueror who is attacking with bombs and shells. "Duren today," said an officer, "is three-quarters flat. And the new name for Duren to remember is Courtney I."

Courtney is the first name of Lt. Gen. Hodges, commander of the 1st army.

BRITISH DISBAND TWO MILLION HOME GUARDS

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Britain's home guard, a civilian army 2,000,000 strong, which stood ready with bulldog courage, and little more, to repel threatened invasion in the disaster laden days of 1940 and 1941, was demobilized today.

They "stood down," these men who manned the island bastions when Britain fought alone, in formal parades thru wintry streets lined with their families and neighbors—the people who know best and appreciate most their 4½ years of service.

This appreciation was spelled out in high terms of tribute by the guard's colonel in chief, King George VI., as he told in a radio address tonight of the May, 1940, answer to an appeal for volunteers "to stand against the invader in every village and every town."

"Thruout Britain and northern Ireland," said the king, "the nation answered that summons, as free men will always answer when freedom is in danger.

Story Oft Told.

"From fields and hills, from factories, shops, and offices, from mills and quarries, men of every age and calling came forward to train themselves for battle.

"Almost overnight, a new force came into being, a force which had little equipment, but was mighty in courage and determination."

In less rhetorical language, the story of how Britain's modern minute men sprang to arms is often told now in the fashionable clubs of the Mayfair section and in the pubs of London's East End.

For there were touches of the humorous along with the grim determination of the volunteers. Their arms ranged from expensively fashioned elephant guns to blunderbusses passed down as family heirlooms, from home made pikes to dummy rifles.

And with this assembly came a common democracy perhaps unparalleled in British history. For a man's military ability was the measure of his worth to the "H. G.'s." A titled private would find himself drilling under orders of his gardener or ex-garageman.

Pays Tribute to U. S.

The days of scarce equipment and clumsy maneuvering changed swiftly.

Foreign Secretary Eden, taking the salute at one of today's many parades, said that "we in Britain will never forget that in our dark hour when your numbers were far in excess of your equipment that it was the United States which alone gave us the weapons."

Picked home guard troops who were reviewed by the king and queen today bid to outdo with their smartly drilled formations some of Britain's regular guards. A burst of applause greeted one contingent made up of American citizens who formed a home guard company in London.

U. S. WAR PLANES ATTACK LINE OF REDS BY ERROR

Apologies Sent to Moscow by Chiefs of Staff.

ROME, Dec. 3 (AP).—American fighter planes swooping over Yugoslavia attacked a Russian column by mistake, headquarters of the Mediterranean allied air force disclosed today. Results of this attack last Nov. 7 on an ally were not revealed.

An official headquarters statement said the attack was due to an error in target identification thru faulty navigation, and said that apologies had been sent to Moscow and to the commanders of the Russian forces involved.

An official statement said:

"Mediterranean allied air force headquarters report that on Nov. 7 a squadron of fighters from the United States 15th air force, engaged in a strafing mission in Yugoslavia, attacked by mistake a Russian column.

"The error was entirely due to a mistake in target identification thru faulty navigation.

"The incident was promptly reported by the squadron when development of gun camera film verified the error.

"The United States joint chiefs of staff from Washington expressed their deep regret to Moscow, and Gen. Wilson, supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean, sent a similar message to the Russian commander of the force involved."

SOVIET PRESS ASSAILS AFL IN PARLEY BOYCOTT

MOSCOW, Dec. 3 (AP).—The soviet magazine "War and the Working Class" said today that the American Federation of Labor's boycott of the International Trade Union conference scheduled for London in February, was a "refusal to coöperate with those who sacrificed blood for victory over fascism."

William Green, president of the AFL, and William L. Hutcheson, head of the carpenters' union, were singled out by the magazine's blanket indictment of the AFL executive committee for "isolationism, backwardness and deep reaction."

"War and the Working Class" asserted the AFL maintained a calculated policy of opposition to the soviet union's trade unions for many years and its adherence now to the Amsterdam International of Labor Unions "means an attempt to resurrect a dead, bankrupt form."

Five Sentenced to Hang for Lublin Camp Massacre

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Moscow radio said tonight that all five German defendants in the Majdanek concentration camp atrocity trial at Lublin, Poland, had been sentenced to hang in public. A sixth defendant hanged himself in his cell. In the trial, which began Nov. 27, representatives of the soviet-Polish commission which investigated the German camp testified that 1,500,000 bodies had been exhumed from mass graves there.

reported that refinery equipment from the Ploesti and Campina districts is being removed.

Purchased by Nazis.

Under the armistice terms Russia obtained the right to seize German properties in Romania to improve her war production and to some degree make amends for the enormous damage done by the Nazis in the soviet union.

These German properties are extensive, since under Hitler's scheme to turn Europe into a colony providing raw materials for the industrial reich a great many Romanian and non-German foreign holdings in Romania were bought by the nazis.

A series of joint German-Romanian companies was established, with the nazis frequently contributing certain types of machinery which the reich could spare instead of capital as their share in the investment.

Shares' Status a Problem.

The Russians are in a position to take over such equipment. Whether much purely Romanian industrial machinery is being removed in the form of reparations cannot be ascertained.

One question which will be difficult to unscramble is the exact legal status of ownership of stock shares in many oil properties.

Czecho-Slovak sources here say the soviet government has placed a port in Bessarabia at the disposal of the Czecho-Slovak forces for military and relief shipments.

STATE REVENUE FUND GAINS.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3 [AP].—The Illinois treasury's general revenue fund increased $3,733,730 during November to a total of $114,849,418 at the close of business Nov. 30, treasurer William G. Stratton reported today.

AMERICAN BOMBERS FROM ITALY BLAST TARGETS NEAR VIENNA

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 15th air force in Italy hammered targets in the Vienna area today.

A gray, wintry overcast kept British based American and R. A. F. planes under wraps today.

Last night probably 600 British heavyweights spilled about 3,500 tons of explosives on Hagen, an important railway center in the Ruhr, and Giessen, another rail hub, 35 miles north of Frankfurt.

R. A. F. Mosquitos spotted an ammunition train steaming into the station at Papenburg, southeast of Emden, last night and destroyed it with gunfire. Explosions from bursting shells lit up the countryside.

Himmler Decree Drafts Labor Corps Into Army

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—A decree issued by order of Heinrich Himmler, under the name of Hitler, today drafted Germany's labor service corps into military service. The laborers will be given military training in addition to their present duties, said the German radio.

ALBANIA PLANS A DEMOCRACY, SAYS PREMIER

TIRANA, Albania, Nov. 30 [Delayed]—(AP).—Prime Minister Enver Hoxha said today in an interview that his government is rebuilding Albania as a democracy and that he favors "a strong brotherhood" of the Balkan peoples. He said, however, that he was opposed to any Balkan federation, at least until threatened boundary disputes were cleared up.

Discussing a recent statement by Greek Premier George Papandreou that Greece would seek a portion of southern Albania in post-war settlements, Hoxha declared that Albania was ready to fight to protect her borders.

The first task facing his government, Hoxha said, is a constitutional assembly to decide on a permanent form of government. Representatives to the assembly will be elected from every village in the country.

Scotland Yard on Trail of Linseed Oil Racketeers

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Scotland Yard, it was reported tonight, is about ready to blow the lid off what is believed to be one of the biggest black market conspiracies of the war. Thousands of gallons of linseed oil, which officially may be sold only under license to essential war plants, are said to have been diverted into the paint, ink, and polish trades.

WHAT'S GOING ON BACK HOME? G.I.S' PRIME CONCERN

Quiz Tribune War Writer Returned to Front.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 3.—A return to this front after nearly two months in the United States in many respects has the same characteristics as a visit home, altho front line fighters living in icy mud would laugh bitterly if they heard those words.

But there is a certain sameness in the warmth with which old friends greet a returned warfarer. There is the same eagerness with which questions are asked, altho the questions are exactly the reverse of those asked at home.

It makes no difference whether a soldier is a G. I. Joe or a general, they always put the same question first. How does it look back home? Or how did you find the United States?

Wonder Why a Shortage.

They want to know if the cigaret shortage is true and you tell them it is virtually impossible to get the standard brand cigarets and that every one is smoking brands they had never heard of two months ago. And they wonder why there should be a shortage, for even at the front tobacco is rationed to five packs of cigarets a week.

They want to know if whisky is still scarce. And when you tell them of the rows of bourbon bottles, their eyes bulge in disbelief.

One man will ask about the labor situation and whether there are still strikes. And you reply that while you were at home there seemed to be few strikes in the news.

Another will inquire if any one read Gen. Eisenhower's statement about the ammunition shortage and whether our war factories were doing anything about it. And you say that this shortage was probably the result of over optimism in Washington, D. C., which was reflected down the line, but that there need be no fear that the home front would let the soldiers down.

Ask About Rationing.

A few asked what Chicago or Washington or New York was like on election day, but there seemed to be little interest in the results of the election.

Often they will ask about rationing, whether every one is getting enough to eat. And you tell them that despite restrictions which cut down, for example, the amount of meat consumed, life at home seems to a returned traveler to be much the same as before the war.

You tell them life is proceeding in larger cities at a faster pace, that night life flourishes in larger cities, and that you noticed a certain amount of feverishness in both social and business life.

And then they ask the inevitable question, the same one they have been asking on and off for months. It is the question soldiers overseas ask on any front. Do the people at home really know there's a war on? And do they really know what the soldiers are going thru?

Can't Have Experience.

This is somewhat difficult to answer. Certainly, you tell them, the home fronters know there is a war on but it is rare when they are able to realize day after day what fighting and living is like in the mud of the western front.

There is this gap, you tell them, between the civilian and the soldier, a gap which correspondents and photographers try to bridge with words and pictures, but it is a gap which can only be completely bridged by actual experience, a condition which the civilian at home obviously cannot have.

You notice other things when you return to the front, just as you noticed changes when you went home. At home you were thrilled to see American automobiles and big cities ablaze with lights instead of the flickering gloom of blacked out front line towns.

You notice in your drive from the airport that the Meuse river has another new American bridge. You see freshly scarred damage from buzz bombs and rockets.

All Look Lean and Tired.

You realize that you are back again, too, where all men look lean and tired. And you feel a bit ashamed about the seven pounds you have added to your waist line in Chicago.

Then you begin getting the shocks you knew would be there waiting, the shock when you ask about this soldier and that soldier and you learn that they have been killed in this fighting which has become even more severe than when you left. You remember the little things about these men and you wonder when you will hear that other veterans you knew are no longer carried on the rolls.

But then you again experience the glowing warmth of friendship of the men with whom you have shared so much and you realize again that the comradeship of arms is a bond no civilian can ever completely understand.

Gains in Italy

ROME, Dec. 3 (AP).—British 8th army troops advancing thru the Po valley on a broad front northeast of Faenza have driven to within two miles of Russi, junction city astride the main Ravenna-Faenza highway, the allied high command announced today.

Supported by more than 2,500 planes and strong tank formations, the British drive started yesterday and the Germans were forced back toward Russi between Albereto and the Montone river. The retreat cost the Germans their last footholds on the west bank of the Montone.

The German news agency DNB in a Berlin broadcast admitted British troops attacking on a large scale had succeeded in "penetrating into the German main fighting area," but said Nazi counter-attacks had forced the British to withdraw.

TRIAL TO HEAR OF TORTURE OF DE GAULLE KIN

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 3.—The arrest, torture, and deportation of Genevieve de Gaulle, 20 year old niece of Gen. De Gaulle, and the torture and execution of 144 members of the resistance movement known as "Defense de la France" will be taken up when the "collaboration purge" trials are resumed before Judge Ledoux at the Palais de Justice tomorrow.

Outstanding in last week's hearings of the leaders of the French gestapo, Henri Chamberlin and Pierre Bony, was the extent of police precautions to insure that collaborationists still hiding in Paris did not break into the courtroom.

Police at hearings both Friday and Saturday searched men and women entering the courthouse, and a strong cordon was flung around the building.

Long Trial Expected.

The trial of Chamberlin, Bony, and their 10 assistants, charged with helping the Germans track down resisters, likely will last another 10 days. Next week's hearings are likely to furnish gruesome revelations of torture, blackmail, and denunciation.

The 12 accused men make an abject spectacle in the courtroom. Chamberlin sweats with fear when he is being questioned and answers in a hardly audible voice the questions flung at him by Judge Ledoux.

The Lyons court of justice passed the death sentence on Prefect of Police Angeli, who was charged with carrying out Laval's orders in repressing resistance forces in the Savoy region. He was alleged to have had 10,000 police at his orders to suppress the Maquis movement.

Georges Claude Seized.

Today it was announced that Georges Claude, leader of the French "Collaboration" society, has been arrested and interned in Fresnes prison.

Statistics published in Paris today show the "purge" justice courts, since the liberation of France to Nov. 22, have convicted 142 in Marseille, 77 in Nimes, 34 in Arles, 43 in Avignon, 33 in Chambery, 14 in Annecy, and 18 in Paris, indicating the purge has been more drastic in the provinces than in Paris.

RHINE APPROACH IS OUTSTANDING FEAT OF ALLIES

Encircled French Break Out of Nazi Ring.

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

The United States 3d and 7th armies are now in front of the west wall, which adjoins the north boundary of Alsace and Lorraine, and along the Rhine on the east bank. The German armies appear to have gotten back to this line without undue losses. They have received some new divisions, or rather, old divisions which have been reconditioned. Two panzer divisions have been reported as just arrived after having been equipped with new tanks and equipment.

Following the allied offensives in the Aachen and the Metz sectors, the third allied offensive on the west German front was by the 1st French army. This started on Nov. 14. It was weaker in strength than either of the offensives to the north. Like the others, its mission was to penetrate the German line if it could; if not, pound it until it crumbled. It secured a penetration, by slipping troops thru a narrow space south of the Belfort forts and the Swiss frontier.

Rhine River Reached.

As in the Metz offensive, the penetration troops reached the Rhine, and have not yet been able to cross that river. The Germans closed in around the French, but the latter were able to break the ring and establish themselves solidly. Two just north of Switzerland at Huningue and Kembs are being attacked.

After two or three weeks of the hardest kind of fighting, the allies have reached the Rhine at Strasbourg and just north of Switzerland —two outstanding victories. Between these two areas is the Alsace plain with the Rhine on the east side and the Vosges mountains on the west. This plain is 50 miles long from north to south between the two allied prongs, and 20 miles wide. It is held by the 19th German army.

Nazi Army Is Cautious.

This is the same army which was in southeast France on Aug. 15, when the allies landed on the Riviera coast. It had known in advance that this landing was going to take place. It even knew the approximate date, and the beaches where the invaders were to come ashore.

On that occasion the 19th German army left a rear guard to delay the allied advance up the Rhone valley. The main body marched off before the allies arrived. The German rear guard never was overcome. It generally held its position until the tail of the main body was at least 50 miles away. Then it fell back to another position which it held until it was time to fall back again. This particular German army was conservative. It took no risks.

Assuming that this army has the same staff as it had last summer, and is still imbued with the same ideas, it can be anticipated that it will take no unnecessary risks in its present unfavorable situation. For French troops are on its south, Americans to the north, and a part French and part American force is coming at them from the Vosges passes.

The abandonment of Alsace and the retirement of the German forces to east of the Rhine is to be foreseen.

East of Alsace the terrain is unusually favorable for defense. It is mountainous and covered by the Black Forest. Beside the Rhine valley front is the west wall. The Germans might be able to hold this front for some time, with fewer divisions than their previous front in Lorraine and Alsace. But the loss of these two provinces is a blow, and will deprive Germany of certain economic resources.

Success Is Substantial.

The clearing of Alsace and Lorraine seems likely to be the one great success of the present battle. It is still possible that losses inflicted may cause a crumbling of German forces elsewhere. This would be most desirable. It has long been hoped for. Upon this possibility has hung the expectation that the war against Germany would be practically over by Christmas. However if this does not occur, the allies already have won a very substantial success, the fruits of which are yet in part to be gathered.

ADMITS SETTING 5 FIRES IN HOME OF WIFE'S DAD

Jack Walz Jr., 25, of 7267 Coles av., a printer, was seized in his home last night after he admitted he set five fires in the basement of his father-in-law's home at 2555 E. 72d pl., because, he said, the older man had broken up his home.

William D. Jamieson, the father-in-law, found five separate fires burning in the basement when he returned from church. The damage was estimated at $75.

Jamieson told Detectives Charles Johnson and Harry Bergstrom his daughter, Mary Ann, is suing Walz for divorce.

PICKPOCKET GETS $8.

William Simpkins, 1504 E. 63d st., told police yesterday that his pocket was picked of his wallet containing $8 near 63d st. and South Park way.

HALF MILLION VISIT PACIFIC THEATER ON LAST DAY OF EXHIBIT

More than half a million persons visited the navy's "Pacific Theater" exhibit at Navy pier yesterday—the last day of the exhibit, staged to add impetus to the 6th war loan campaign.

Public relations officials said that more than 4,000,000 persons viewed the exhibit during its 17 day stand, and that another half million witnessed the six "invasions" of the Foster av. beach, the helicopter demonstrations, and the demonstration of jet assisted take-offs of navy planes.

The treasury department reported yesterday that Chicago and Cook county must buy as many bonds during the balance of the 6th war loan as the combined quotas of 20 states and Alaska for the county to meet its quota.

A dinner and bond rally will be held by the South Central association in the Morrison hotel tomorrow night, with guests limited to buyers of $1,000 war bonds. A bond rally also is scheduled for tomorrow night at Congregation Beth Itzchok, 4645 N. Drake av.

WAR STAMPS STOLEN.

Alexander Warnecke, who operates a grocery at 1413 E. 73d st., told police yesterday that burglars took war stamps, candy, and groceries valued at $75.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT IN ROME OVER MONARCHY

ROME, Dec. 3 (AP).—Fist fights between monarchists and republicans marked the beginning today of the second week of the Italian government crisis, still unresolved four days after Crown Prince Umberto asked Premier Ivanoe Bonomi to re-form his cabinet. A two hour free-for-all broke out at the Quiring theater when Enzo Selvaggi, monarchist leader, spoke on the aims of the "democratic" party, political group backing the monarchy.

Republicans began chanting "Pescara, Pescara"—the port from which King Victor Emmanuel embarked for southern Italy after the armistice. Fights started, and spread to the street before being quelled by city police and mounted carabinieri.

Bonomi meanwhile continued consultations with party leaders, while the Rome press criticized British Foreign Secretary Eden's speech of Friday in which he reminded that Italy had surrendered unconditionally. Eden expressed the belief that Count Carlo Sforza would not be a happy choice for foreign minister of Italy.

Will Ask U. S. and Britain for French Relief Needs

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP).—Jean Monnet, French commissioner for relief and rehabilitation, said today he would leave soon for London and Washington, seeking shipping space for 3,500,000 tons of goods which he termed vital to France's economy thru the winter and spring. This tonnage would be comprised mostly of food, wool, cotton, fertilizer, raw materials for industry, and materials for putting battered ports, railways, and factories back into full operation, he said.

JAP OFFENSIVE HELD OFFSET TO NEW LEDO ROAD

Land Link Across China Already Secured.

BY CLYDE FARNSWORTH.

KUNMING, China, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Japanese offensive in southeastern China already has exploited certain weaknesses in the American-Chinese partnership and is testing the basic strategy of American help for China.

It is quite possible that the enemy, aiming at least for Kweiyang, will also strike for Kunming and Chungking and will attempt to offset the prospective opening of the Ledo-Burma road from India. The Americans may be forced to take extraordinary measures to save a tremendous military investment here.

The Japanese already have partially neutralized the value of the Ledo-Burma road by their offensive in the southeast.

Cheves Supervises Road.

Brig. Gen. Frank Dorn, commanding the American force, hopes the Ledo-Burma road will be open by Christmas, but it is questionable whether even a military junction along that route between the Chinese and the allied forces working in from India will be effected by that time.

Supervision of the road and the pipeline being built across Burma will be under the new commander of the service of supply in China, Maj. Gen. Gilbert Cheves, who made a name for himself as a red tape cutter at Calcutta at the other end of the China supply line.

Apparently the fundamental error in estimating the Chinese military situation was in making the road the first order of business. It now has become obvious that the American air bases in southeastern China were never secure, and the American program never got around to preparing the Chinese to protect them. The order of business called for the supply and equipment of these forces out of tonnages over the Ledo-Burma road.

May Attack in Yunnan.

As a result the Japanese are now consolidating a virtual land link between Manchuria and Indo-China, and the United States 14th air force has lost its bases. The Japanese also have improved their defense of their homeland against B-29 raids from China.

The Japanese are limited in a possible drive on Kunming only by fear of diverting too many divisions from southeastern China, where they might be needed on China's "invasion coast." Terrain better suited for defense could hardly be found in China than in the mountains of Kwelchow.

Apart from the threat from the Kweiyang direction, there also is the possibility of a Japanese strike into China's southwestern province of Yunnan from French Indo-China.

Gen. Dorn says flatly, "It's a danger point. I wish I knew their plans."

Americans under Dorn have been training and equipping Yunnan provincial troops in southern Yunnan for more than a year.

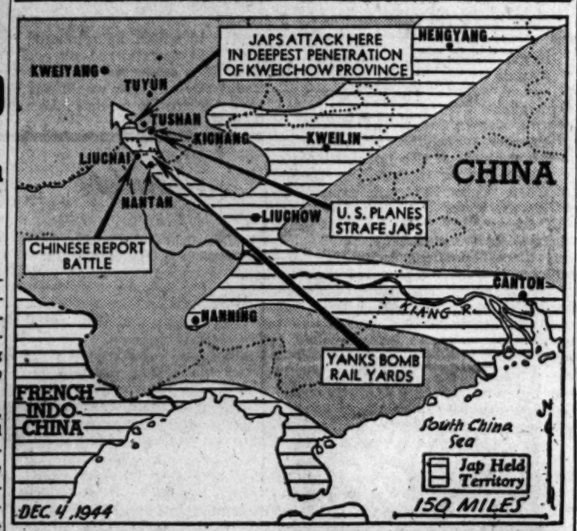
Tonnage Quadrupled.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 3 (AP).—An increase of over 400 per cent in the total tonnage of equipment carried over the hump during October for Burma road engineers by the air transport command was announced today.

The official statement said this huge rise over previous record figures was expected to be even larger in the coming months as work on the supply route to China from India bases was pushed.

United States army headquarters announced that Col. Robert F. Seedlock of the engineers corps had been appointed commanding officer of the Burma road engineers, succeeding Lt. Col. Louis, Y. Dawson Jr., of Charleston, S. C., who has returned to Washington.

Japs Push Deeper Into China



JAPS PLUNGE 35 MILES INTO NEW CHINA PROVINCE

Attack Near Capital of Kweichow.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 3 (AP).—Japanese troops have attacked Chinese positions seven miles west of Tushan, 75 miles southeast of Kweiyang, in their deepest penetration of Kweichow province, the Chinese high command acknowledged tonight.

Tushan, formerly the terminus of the Kwangsi-Kweichow railroad, is 35 miles inside Kweichow province, and is an important point on the rail line which now runs to Tuyun, 35 miles north.

Earlier a bulletin from headquarters of the 14th United States air force announced 100 Japanese had been killed in a strafing attack on Kichang, 90 miles southeast of Kweiyang, capital of Kweichow province and strategic Burma road junction point. The enemy's last reported position was about 100 miles from Kweiyang.

300 Japs Killed in Fight.

The Chinese high command said 300 enemy troops were killed in a battle near Liuchai, 95 miles southeast of Kweiyang.

The United States embassy here has advised American nationals in eastern Yunnan and Kwangsi provinces to evacuate. Yunnan is China's southwesternmost province.

The air force bulletin said railroad yards 15 miles north of Nantan, Kwangsi province city 102 miles south of Kweiyang, were bombed and that returning pilots reported sighting a large column of Japanese troops south of Tushan. Other 14th air force planes bombed and strafed enemy targets along the Burma road between Lashio and Wanting.

British Capture Kalewa.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Dec. 3 (AP).—British forces have captured Kalewa, on the Chindwin river 140 miles northwest of Mandalay, a bulletin announced today.

East African troops who pushed south along the west bank of the Chindwin later linked up with the forces in Kalewa.

Chinese troops in the southeast sector at Bhamo improved their salient into the Japanese defenses yesterday by slight gains to the north and east, the bulletin said.

Chiang's Cabinet Harbors Traitors, Russian Charge

MOSCOW, Dec. 3 (AP).—Sweeping charges that Chiang Kai-shek's revamped government harbors pro-Japanese reactionaries appeared today in the Russian press. War and the Working Class followed up Izvestia's initial attack yesterday with a comparison of how the Chinese communist armies and their partisan sympathizers engaged "over half the Japanese forces" in China while Chungking's armies were steadily defeated.

JAPS MUST HOLD THE PHILIPPINES, KOISO TELLS MUNITIONS MEN

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Japanese Premier Kuniaki Koiso told his munitions chiefs yesterday that the war situation is critical and that Japan must win the battle of the Philippines. He warned them increased production of fighting materials was paramount.

Radio Tokyo quoted the head of the government as saying: "Considering the fact that the Philippines are a vital area in the war strategy, it is necessary that the enemy be crushed completely and the Philippines be held secure.

"The war will not end by this accomplishment alone. This war still has a long way to go and the situation is critical."

B-29 TAKES OFF FROM SANDBAR AT CHUNGKING

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 3 (AP).—From hills overlooking a tiny sandbar airdrome on the Yangtze river at Chungking, people today watched four Americans win a gamble with death by taking off in a Superfortress which risked crashing into a hillside or plunging into the river.

The Superfortress was the "Dottie," which, after the American raid on Omura, Japan, Nov. 21, made an emergency landing on the hazardous sandbar.

The plane was stripped of every unnecessary piece of equipment. A dogleg extension 1,400 feet long was added to the original 2,150 foot runway by several thousand laborers. Among those watching the take-off were Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, newly appointed ambassador to China, and Maj. Gen. Wedemeyer, chief of staff to Chiang.

3 CHICAGOANS WIN SILVER STAR IN PACIFIC WAR

Three Chicago soldiers have been awarded the silver star for heroic action on Biak Island in the southwest Pacific. One of the awards was made posthumously. Details of these exploits follow.

Lt. Louis M. Krist, 2505 W. 69th st., commanding officer of an infantry company, led two assaults on an enemy occupied ridge last June 17, only to be driven back. With artillery and tank support and under heavy fire he then moved forward, directing fire and enabling his company to capture the ridge with a minimum of casualties.

The posthumous award went to Pvt. Theodore P. Howe, son of Mrs. Lorie P. Howe, 7407 N. Damen av., who lost his life last June 22 while grappling with a Jap who attempted to blow up with a hand grenade the machine gun position manned by Howe. The grenade exploded, killing both. His action saved the lives of his comrades.

The same day, during an attack by 250 Japs, Pvt. Chester F. Klovas, 4441 S. Campbell av., stayed at his machine gun post and inflicted heavy damage on the enemy. At the height of action his gun jammed, and he ran 50 yards under fire to bring up tanks, securing his section against infiltration.

Pope Tells Rome Radio Staff to Fight Hatred

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 3 (AP).—Pope Pius, giving an audience to 800 officials and employes of the Rome radio, today urged them to place themselves at the service of truth, to fight the hatred which the radio has been used to disseminate.

PLANES AND PT BOATS CARRY ON PHILIPPINE WAR

Damage Ship, Blast Palawan Isle.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Dec. 4 [Monday]—(AP).—Japanese and American patrols sparred today for positions on the north end of the Ormoc corridor of Leyte Island, while United States naval aircraft slugged it out with the Nipponese in the air and on sea.

Again Gen. MacArthur's bulletin reported no ground advances where doughboys are battling the Japanese and the worst weather ever recorded in Leyte. But on the sea P-T boats damaged a 4,000 ton vessel off southern Masbate, the bulletin reported.

Trade Blows in Air.

American fighter planes attacked enemy supply bases at Valencia, in the middle of the Ormoc corridor.

Japanese and Americans traded air blows, United States heavy bombers dropping 135 tons of explosives on Palawan Island, westernmost of the central Philippines. Nipponese planes made light nuisance attacks on American Leyte installations, but there was no damage.

[Tokyo continued to claim the sinking or damaging of American ships in waters near Leyte. It said Jap flyers sank or damaged 13 ships in the Camotes sea, immediately west of Leyte. It listed a destroyer, seven torpedo boats, and a transport as destroyed and four torpedo boats damaged. It acknowledged loss of a destroyer. American warships recently struck for the first time west of Leyte and blasted Japanese shore positions on western Leyte at close range. Gen. MacArthur made no mention of losses.]

Bomb Legaspi Airdrome.

The Sunday headquarters bulletin said Yank bombers lashed the Legaspi airdrome, on southeast Luzon Island just north of American held Samar. They unloaded 27 tons of bombs, cratering runways with 1,000 pounders. Several parked planes were destroyed.

To the south other Yank flyers attacked three airdromes at Davao, on Mindanao Island. They started fires, exploded fuel dumps, and bagged two grounded planes.

UNION LEADERS HEAR IKE'S G.I.S TELL ARMS NEED

The urgent need of ammunition and other war material to enable the allied armies to batter thru Germany's west wall was told yesterday by five soldiers recently flown back to this country. They spoke to more than 400 delegates attending a Chicago Federation of Labor meeting in Musician's hall, 175 W. Washington st.

After the invasion of the European continent Gen. Eisenhower selected the five soldiers as his emissaries to spur war production in the United States. The men related their personal experiences to the union leaders and then told of the destruction their equipment suffers during a campaign such as is now under way.

The five tomorrow will tour plants in this area engaged in the production of critical materials. Their first visit will be to the Cribben and Sexton company, 700 N. Sacramento blvd., where the workers will hear them.

Barricaded in His Home; Brought Out by Tear Gas

After laying down a barrage of tear gas bombs, six squads of policemen last night seized Cornelius Jones, 29, Negro, who barricaded himself in the bedroom of his home at 3807 South Park way. Jones' wife, Anna, 26, told police he had threatened her and their four children with a knife after she struck him on the head with a milk bottle during a quarrel. Jones was treated at Michael Reese hospital, then locked up.

29 Yanks Flee Sinking Ship; Japs Kill Them, One by One

Sgt. Rose.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP). — A Texas army sergeant has revealed a story of 29 American prisoners who were recaptured after they escaped from a torpedoed Japanese prison ship, and then shot to death.

For the 30th, who got away—Tech. Sgt. Denver B. Rose of Houston—it was a second experience in Japanese treatment of American prisoners. Rose, captured on Corregidor, was one of the thousand prisoners on the "march of death" on Bataan.

749 Americans on Ship.

Rose was on the prison ship with 749 other Americans. The vessel was sailing north along the coast of the Zamboanga peninsula when it was torpedoed last Sept. 7.

"When the torpedo hit us, many were caught below decks and never had a chance," Rose related. "The Japs turned machine guns on those who got into the water. I was within 50 yards of land when the Japs caught me and took me and 29 others into a small boat and back to another prison ship."

Back on the ship, his hands tied behind him, Rose resolved on a desperate plan. He rubbed his bonds against a frayed steel cable, inflicting painful wounds on his hands. The cable broke thru the ropes, finally, and his hands were free.

Then, said Rose, "I decided I'd just as soon be shot trying to get away as the other way so I made a break for it. I ran to the front end of the ship and slipped down into the anchor hole. I hid there for about 20 minutes while they searched the ship for me. When I heard more shooting, I let myself down into the water."

Others Slain One by One.

Rose says what he heard were death shots for the 29 other Americans. They were killed singly and their bodies were tossed overboard.

"I treaded water very softly so as not to stir up the phosphoresence," the sergeant continued. "Gradually I moved away from the ship and finally lit out for the shore."

Rose reached the shore in safety, one of 83 out of the 750 men on the prison ship to be rescued. The others perished.

Rose and the 82 others were rescued when the Philippines were invaded. "When we hit Australia," he said, "I weighed 112 pounds. We kept eating heartily and you could almost stand and watch a fellow fill out. I gained 50 pounds in two months."

BURGLARS GET CIGARETS.

Twenty cartons of cigarets were included in the loot taken by burglars from the candy store at 946 N. Wells st., Nicola Di Vecchio, the owner, told police yesterday.

YANKS PAMPER 16 BABY CHICKS FOR NEW YEAR'S

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED NEW GUINEA BASE, Dec. 3.—"Fried chicken and scrambled eggs by New Year's" is part of a shrewdly reasoned program to put wounded air forces personnel back on their feet.

Lt. Hyla Prince.

Twenty-four baby chicks were flown out from Australia under a high priority to launch the project. Now, 16 long legged chicks are left, and their growth is watched daily by convalescent fighters at the general hospital here.

New Class Every Week.

"Keep a man's mind occupied, and he heals better and more quickly," says Lt. Col. Byron Steger of Bucyrus, O., commanding officer of the hospital. Col. Steger, a brother of Mrs. John Riznar of La Grange, Ill., believes similar programs will be adopted generally in American hospitals after the war.

This convalescent training program—the only one operating in the Pacific theater—receives a new class of about 40 men every Monday. The two weeks' course, supervised by Maj. Karl Voldeng, Wellington, Kas., consists of classroom work, recreation, and physical training, which the men prefer in that order.

Have Swimming Pool.

An area was cleared in the jungle for a swimming pool with sandbagged sides. Two golf clubs and two balls—the only ones in New Guinea—are used on a sport miniature course with two water hazards. Japanese.

Chicagoans on the hospital staff include Capt. Michael Campbell, 7536 Clyde av., Capt. Thomas Milne, 1959 Cullom av., Lt. Arthur Olson, 4917 N. Francisco av., and two nurses, Lieutenants Hyla Prince, 10644 Normal av., and Marie Moles, 1425 Grand av.

Nevada Bomber Crash Kills Two Chicagoans

Tonapah, Nev., Dec. 3 (AP). — Four officers and two enlisted men were killed and three men parachuted to safety when a bomber crashed Saturday near Tonapah army air field. The dead included: 2d Lt. Edward M. Tiwowarski, 20, son of Michael Tiwowarski, 4758 S. Bishop st., Chicago, and Pvt. 1st Class John F. Delvin, 18, son of Mrs. Pearl Delvin of N. Central av., Chicago.

Elgin Officer Injured.

Bangor, Me., Dec. 3 (AP).—A crew of five was injured when a four engined army plane crashed while taking off at Dow field today. Flight Officer Niels C. Bucks of 318 Charles st., Elgin, Ill., suffered a broken leg.

NIMITZ PRAISES JOB OF PRIVATE FUEL TANKERS

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—"Not once did they fail," said Adm. Nimitz today in commending activities of the commercial tanker fleets engaged in transporting fuel for navy vessels in the Pacific.

Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, made the commendation in a letter to Adm. Land, war shipping administrator, which was made public here by the American Merchant Marine institute.

"Our requirements were numbered in millions of barrels of fuel to be transported thousands of miles to the scene of fleet operations," Nimitz said. "The volume involved demanded the utmost in operational management to assure a rate of delivery in keeping with our needs. Our success in keeping the fleet properly fueled was dependent upon the deliveries by these commercial ships. Not once did they fail."

ANOTHER WHITEWASH.

The most disastrous military defeat ever inflicted on our country took place at Pearl Harbor three years ago next Thursday. Meanwhile no one has been formally charged with the responsibility for the catastrophe and it is the intention of the present administration that no one is ever to be placed on trial. The secretary of war and the secretary of the navy have just reported that there was no one in uniform in Hawaii or anywhere else whose errors of omission or commission were of sufficient gravity to warrant a court martial.

The secretaries say that the removal from active duty of Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short, who were in command in Hawaii at the time, is all the reprimand they merit. Their military superiors in Washington are likewise cleared of any considerable responsibility, without even a reprimand.

Having absolved the military, the secretaries force the country to conclude that the responsibility rests with persons who cannot be touched by court martial, i. e., with Mr. Roosevelt and members of his cabinet. The only other possible conclusion is that a military disaster resulting from surprise was nobody's fault, a conclusion so absurd that it must be dismissed out of hand.

The two reports come closer, at least by inference, to the truth about Pearl Harbor than any previous official utterance has done. Obviously the secretaries are persuaded that Kimmel and Short carried out their orders; otherwise the two commanders would be charged with dereliction of duty. Obviously, too, the secretaries are unwilling to present a formal accusation against the two men because that would give them a chance to defend themselves and by so doing to present the full record of their acts and their correspondence with Washington.

The administration in Washington no doubt hopes that the subject will now be forgotten. It remains to be seen if congress will agree. Meanwhile, any one who wants to know the truth about Pearl Harbor and particularly about the Roosevelt diplomacy which led to the disaster can find the facts in the memorable analysis of the documents which was presented in THE TRIBUNE a month ago by Mr. John T. Flynn.

In fact, the Pearl Harbor question cannot be forgotten. The curiosity and the indignation of too many people has been aroused to permit the latest attempt at whitewash to stand as the last word. The country is eager to read the memoirs of Gen. Short and Adm. Kimmel and it cannot be doubted that these officers are eager to present their side of the story. In time, other actors will be heard from. Every one will hope that congress will press for the truth, but even if congress shows itself spineless, the facts will come out, sooner or later.

Meanwhile certain conclusions are inescapable. One of them is that Mr. Roosevelt's diplomacy had pushed the Japanese to the point where they must either lose face or fight. At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt had already involved the nation in an undeclared war against Germany. Mr. Roosevelt had likewise lulled the country with his promises not to engage in foreign wars. The attack on Pearl Harbor should not have surprised him, aware as he was of the diplomatic exchanges. One question that remains to be answered is how much of all this he had permitted Kimmel and Short to learn. Another is how much he and his advisers knew about Japanese naval preparations and how much of this he had communicated to the Hawaiian commanders.

Another series of unanswered questions concerns the preparations of our navy before Pearl Harbor to meet attack from the air. From the fact that we haven't lost a battleship to air attack since Pearl Harbor, and from the fact that since Pearl Harbor our battleships' anti-aircraft defenses have been vastly strengthened, it is apparent that Pearl Harbor taught the navy a lesson. It was a lesson that could readily have been learned from the experiences of other nations between 1939 and 1941. Why did we have to suffer a dreadful and costly defeat before we learned to arm our battleships for modern combat? Was that another lapse for which nobody is responsible?

WHY AMERICANS MAKE THE BEST FIGHTERS.

Prime Minister Churchill on Thanksgiving told 4,000 American soldiers in London that in the last three or four years "the United States has, in sober fact, become the greatest military, naval, and air power in the world." Mr. Churchill acknowledged that we achieved this eminence after a much shorter preparation than any other nation. We came into the war after all the others, we had no big standing army on which to build, and we started practically from scratch. But no one can dispute that the product is as he has described.

How did we get that way? The American is a superior soldier because American institutions have given him superior resource. They have encouraged the development of initiative. There is no aristocratic caste here to impress the young American with the idea that he is of a lower order than some of his fellows and to inculcate the spirit of subservience. Opportunities within a free society have given every man the chance to demonstrate his mettle and to rise. A competitive order encourages the fighting spirit and tenacity in driving toward the realization of an ambition or an objective. These are the influences that shape our young manhood and make Americans the best fighters.

Mr. Churchill was, perhaps unwittingly, paying a tribute to American institutions when he praised American fighting men. But, now that the virtue of our system has been so convincingly proven under test, what do we find afoot among the New Deal hierarchy and the colonials of the eastern seaboard? We find the administration making a deliberate attempt to undermine the institutions which for more than a century and a half have given us self-reliance and have made us more than a match in any competitive undertaking, from war to the Olympic games, against all opposition. And we find the eastern internationalists bent upon sacrificing our sovereignty so that they may make themselves acceptable to the aristocracy of jaded Europe.

Mr. Churchill, if the accidents of chance had called upon him to preside over the fortunes of this country rather than his own, would have known better than to attempt to destroy or sacrifice all that has made us great. He can view us with detachment and tell us—as our own leaders never do—that we are unique and that our heritage has set up apart. For his own part, his mission is to conserve what he knows can never be better than a second best; but the empire, its people, and its traditions are all that he has and he has no intention of liquidating them for nebulous and unproven quantities. It is in some ways too bad that Mr. Churchill's parents were not both Americans, instead of only his mother. He would have known how to value this country.

RADICALS IN LIBERATED EUROPE.

In France, Italy, Belgium, and Greece, countries in which the liberating armies might be expected to exercise a moderating influence, political tensions and civil disorders increase. The insecure authorities recognized in the military occupation have tried to disarm the partisan bands which came into being as resistance groups to fight the Germans and remain in existence as political forces, threatening civil war for control of the state.

The conflict holds nothing in store except dismay for conservative people hoping for the re-establishment of conditions in which the possession of property is recognized as a human right and not as a felony. The contestants are revolutionaries who differ only in degree. They are all left wingers demanding expropriations and nationalization. Some groups now undertake to oppose the Communists who see in present European conditions all the elements for a successful Marxist seizure of power. For that reason they refuse to disarm. The elements of such success are hunger, fear and anger, demoralization, ruined industries and debased currency, feeble governments, and armed mobs.

In a conflict between varieties of revolutionaries the extremists have the best chance of winning. In an uprising against a social order the moderates succumb to the radicals, who are overthrown by the extremists, who then fall upon each other. The left side of the French legislative assembly overwhelmed the right, the Montagnards extinguished the Girondists, the Jacobins sent the Cordeliers to the knife, and Robespierre then fell victim to reaction. In Russia the government of Lvoff was taken over by Kerensky, who was no match for Lenin. Stalin, succeeding Lenin, killed his fellow bolshevists and varied the subsequent pattern by escaping reaction. The liquidations had been so thoro and the secret police so effective there was nothing to react.

In the present French consultative assembly the head of the Republican Federation party, Louis Marin, made a plea for measured judgment and greater tolerance of opinions and of "categories of peoples." Marin is described as white haired and revered. He was ineffective, notwithstanding, on the occasion which drew his speech. The assembly expelled Poitou du Plessy, a parliamentarian who voted, in 1940, to give Marshal Petain the authority he tried to exercise as nominal head of the armistice government at Vichy. The categories of people proscribed by the present French regime are numerous.

The proscriptions vary in severity. Some have lost their lives and more will. Many will lose only their property. Women are lucky to lose only their hair. Apparently all Poitou du Plessy was to lose was his political rights. Any man of property is in a precarious position. The communist elements want to liquidate him. The more numerous proponents of state socialism want to expropriate industry and finance. Almost any one who remained in business under the Germans can be accused of collaboration, and that charge may forfeit his belongings or his life, or both.

Armed bands and feeble governments gave Russia to Lenin, Italy to Mussolini, and Germany to Hitler. Want and anger paved the way for them. In a conflict the extremists promise the greatest satisfaction to both appetite and rage. The outlook for Europe is more terrible than at any point of its history.

CHIANG'S REGIME.

The Christian Advocate, a Chicago Methodist publication, is to be congratulated on the forthright manner in which it discusses Chiang Kai-shek and China in its Nov. 16 issue. It points out that there is much to criticize in Chiang's regime, but that as long as the war continues the choice can only be between him and the Chinese Communists, who inevitably would take over if he lost control. This eventuality, the Advocate justly observes, is "one in which Japan alone, of all the nations of the world, will be the gainer."

Whether the Kuomintang dictatorship will yield to a people's government after the war can have no bearing on our fundamental concern during the war. That is the preservation of a government in China which represents something as closely approximating stability as can be hoped for.

The question of Chiang and China has been so befogged by New Deal diplomats and propagandists, by wishful thinking and by censorship, that it is refreshing to be treated to an occasional word of sense on the subject. THE TRIBUNE has never harbored any illusions about either Chiang or China's nonexistent democracy, but it recognizes, as does the Advocate, that America's interests are infinitely better served by the existing order as long as the war lasts than they would be by the rise of a communist government.

THE FIDDLER OF COLOGNE.

Let us glance ahead of the war news toward a great German city—third largest in the reich—which is in imminent peril as the allied invasion leaves shattered Aachen in its rear. It is Cologne, whose inhabitants hear the guns approaching slowly and wonder when their turn will come. A shelf of books has been written about this metropolis of the Rhine's left bank, but we shall skip its history, its architecture, and everything except one of its native sons: Jacques Offenbach.

* * *

From Cologne, in his youth, this German-Jewish musician took his fiddle to Paris to become the gayest entertainer of the Second Empire. This was a brilliant period in the French theater, which spread its ripples of influence over the continent, England, and the United States, and the music of Jacques Offenbach's comic operas and lyric farces was its most popular product. It was light, melodious, vivacious, and charming, and the Victorian period dined with it, danced with it, wooed with it, and then begat children whose children now call it "corny" and prefer to jitter thru the jungles of jazz.

* * *

Offenbach's last and most serious composition, "Tales of Hoffman," still lives in the opera repertory, but his frolics, which run to a count of 102, major and minor, are on the shelf now except when some sedate theater orchestra chooses to play a few favorite selections between the acts, or a ballet troupe gives "Papillon." Yet among these works was "The Grand Duchess of Gerolstein," which may have been the most popular opéra bouffe ever written.

* * *

The starriest singing girls of the 1890s, a great light opera period in this country, sang in Offenbach shows; for example, Lillian Russell in "La Belle Hélène," in 1896. The music of the can-can dance, a symbol of Parisian leg appeal for generations, came out of Offenbach's "Orphée aux Enfer."

* * *

Well, he is just a wisp of a memory of Cologne, plus old style Paris, but he was a great contributor to the gayety of nations. He symbolized an era that had more fun than the present, which calls his music "corny," and he could invent more melodies in a day than any jazz or swing maestro can in a year.

MORNING IN WASHINGTON.

Voilà, le Maître de la Maison Blanc
Has come from up the Hudson once again,
And on the avenue the cheering throng
Re-echo welcome thru the drizzling rain.
But we who were devoted have no need
To join the celebration and so bend
Our steps to Mellon's gallery instead,
Where things of beauty can so well amend
The moment's broken mood and spread anew
The glorious reality of art,
Forever overwhelming false with true,
Forever strengthening the lagging heart.
A capital indeed to visit when
The spirit feels some doubt of time and men.

"I Get Into More Trouble."

I begged a reprieve from my after-dinner chores and strolled over to a near-by newsstand to pick up the early edition of my favorite morning newspaper. I was standing there checking up on the rac-er-r-editorial page when Harve, a convivial neighbor, came along and invited me to a sa-oda fountain for a couple of short-er-r-malted milks.

After I had bought the fourth round, lost $1.50 at "26," shared my last cigaret, and paid off several election bets, I decided to call it an evening. On the way home we—that is, Harve—stopped to chat with the barber's cute little blonde manicurist. At that moment Mrs. Spillit, the neighborhood gossip, came along and gave me the old um-m-m-caught-you-that-time eye.

I looked around for Harve, but he had suddenly disappeared into the drug store to see if they had any cigarets [he said]. I get into more trouble going out to pick up my morning newspaper. Hig.

P. S. And to top it all off, I left my newspaper on the ba-er-r-soda fountain.

FASHION PORTRAIT.

Her hat may flaunt feather of scarlet,
Or her hair a deep, dark rose;
The lipstick she applies is called "Bravo,"
On a mouth that is sad in repose.
Her gloves of flame seek to give warmth
To hands that now always are cold,
She wears red as a badge of courage—
The star in her window is gold.

Stabbed in the Back.

Walter Simmons, Tribune war correspondent on Leyte in the Philippines, forgot the mosquitoes that were needling him when he heard one of his stories broadcast on a short wave program from San Francisco. But he was completely needled when the announcer closed with:

"You have just heard an eye-witness account of the fighting in the Philippines by Walter Lippmann."

I asked my wife to make a sound investment and she went out and bought a grand piano. Zivio.

Marriage is one grand experience, but divorce may be two grand or better. Tabarin.

The Line o' Type column gets around. Anstey, a town in England, reprints one of its poems ["Some Day," by The Youngest Allen] in a Christmas publication for soldiers. The editor found the verses in South Africa.

R. J. B. writes: "According to an item in your column, the adjusted service certificates issued to veterans of World War I. are to be converted to bonus bonds by Jan. 1. My husband passed away and I have his certificate on which no loan has been made. How is it handled?"

You will have to write to the veterans administration, Washington, D. C., explaining the situation and request that veterans administration form No. 1750 be sent to you. After receiving and completing the form and the certificate, send them in and you will receive payment. The certificates should be sent only by registered mail.

H. T. F. writes: "I am a veteran of this war, recently discharged. My wife and I have been trying to buy a small home in a north shore suburb and the minimum price so far has been $8,500, but the banker said the G. I. law limited a purchase price to not more than $4,000."

Neither the act nor the regulations limit the size of the transaction or the amount of the loan, but the maximum amount of the government guarantee available to an eligible veteran is $2,000. If the bank doesn't want to help, try another lending agency.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS—IN THE TROPICS.

NOT long ago, the father of a soldier serving in the South Pacific requested a description of a form of typhus which goes under the homely name of "scrub fever." He explained that not only his son but a number of the lad's buddies were afflicted.

Ordinarily, we think of typhus as spread by the body louse. This is the type with which we are familiar. The "scrub" variety, however, is common in the Southwest Pacific, particularly in many of the islands now occupied by American service men.

The malady may be a problem where men are obliged to combat swamp and jungle conditions. Where does it come from? It is transmitted by chiggers, a species of Trombicula. As a rule, these mites have fed on infected rodents [rats, etc.]. As soon as a polluted district is encountered, special precautions are taken by the troops. If possible, vegetation close to the ground is burned. Destroying all grass, leaves, and rubbish will render the region suitable for bivouac. Even then, it is well to spray the earth and set traps for carriers such as ground squirrels, chipmunks, rats, and mice. Insect powder is then employed as frequently as circumstances will permit. This is applied directly to the skin.

Should the ailment strike, the onset is characterized by chills, fever, and general weakness. Lymph glands are usually enlarged. Between the fourth and fifth day a rash will develop over the abdomen, chest, and thighs. In the meantime, appetite is lost and the victim will complain of severe headache and dullness of hearing. The temperature begins to drop, often at the end of the second week, altho complications may need to be guarded against. Victory over the disease depends upon a suitable environment, constant nursing, and maintaining nourishment at a high level. Thus transfusions or plasma may be utilized intravenously. Oxygen is also of real value.

The regular germ killers have little or no effect. This is an ailment which may be dangerous and, if a station hospital is not available, it may be desirable to transport the individual — in the early stages—to a larger establishment where expert attention can be obtained.

Recovery is slow and, as soon as strength returns, the sufferer should be given a long furlough as fatigue will be experienced for months thereafter. The chances are that the heart muscle has been weakened, altho eventually it will regain its normal power.

Because of the possible presence of this disorder, camp sites should be selected with great care. There are localities where the condition is so deadly that even the natives have learned to shun them. In a few instances, the presence of the trouble has been ascribed to the fact that food has been contaminated by diseased mice. If all flora cannot be removed, it is well to spray the area with slaked lime or sulfur. A thin film of oil will be about as effective. Soldiers are cautioned not to wander from prepared trails or roads and not to sit or lie on the ground.

After return to camp from an expedition, no small amount of protection will be offered by rubbing the surface of the body with a cloth lightly moistened with kerosene. Thereafter, a good cleansing will eradicate the mites, if they have penetrated the clothing.

MORNING NAUSEA.

Mrs. K. writes: My husband is in good health and yet he suffers from "morning sickness." What causes this?

REPLY.

Perhaps he is an expectant father. Look to the state of the digestive tract. Chronic gastritis may be present, with a large accumulation of glairy mucus within the stomach. The puddle forms during slumber.

DISTORTED VISION.

B. M. writes: What is the cause of double vision?

REPLY.

Out of balance eye muscles or trouble with the nerves which control the optics. In rare instances, a brain disorder will be responsible. Many toxins [including alcohol] can bring on the condition temporarily.

NOT PERMANENT.

Mrs. H. writes: Our six month old baby has a misshapen head from lying too much on one side. Will this correct itself?

REPLY.

As a rule, time takes care of such a condition.

Test Your Facts

TOKYO TOP SECRET

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Candor.

It was on La Salle st., Chicago's canyon to Mammon, that a wisp of conversation drifted back from the father shoo-shooing his two small children down the sidewalk. "And that's what happens to you when you work on La Salle st.," he concluded. "You start talking to yourself."

War Time Misunderstanding.

The wine steward at a Chicago hotel found it necessary some time ago to fire one of the bartenders because of his habitual binges. On the back of the record card which he sent to the personnel office the steward wrote "for the good of the service," meaning hotel service. This was misinterpreted by the war conscious personnel department and for three months the ex-bartender was the grateful but probably surprised recipient of monthly boxes of cigarets, chewing gum, and candy.

Reciprocity.

The cab driver was in a reflective mood. "I guess it's because they're still so young that all the boys in uniform are so decent about traveling," he began. "The other night I had a party, a soldier, who wanted me to take him from one station to the other. All he had was big bills, and I couldn't change them. 'Aw, forget it, son,' I said to him. 'Naw,' he said. 'I can't do that. Say, bud, how're you fixed for cigarets?' I was just about to reach in my pocket to offer him one when he threw five packs in the window at me. 'Hey!' I said. 'That's worth five trips!' 'Okay,' he said. 'Okay. What's your name and address?' I gave them to him and darn if he didn't mail me a carton. Well, I sent him two bucks, can't let a soldier pay for my cigarets, but I had my wife make him a four pound fruit cake full of brandy, too."

Notes of a Survey Victim.

Three times last week the telephone rang and a feminine voice asked if we had any hospital insurance. "We're making a post-war survey," each t. v. caroled in explanation.

Next a four page questionnaire arrived in the mail. Do you think the ⅔ ratification of treaties by the senate should be abrogated? Do you think free enterprise is gaining, waning, or here to stay? Do you believe in compulsory military training?

"We're making a survey of post-war thought," the letter of explanation stated.

Next came a 22 page questionnaire directed to all of us potential air travelers. By checking "yes" or "no" we could state what we wanted in the way of flossy air accommodations. Do we want a reclining seat, a foot rest, an arm rest, a folding writing shelf? Do we want mohair, wool, or leather upholstery? Do we want curtains, side shades, or venetian blinds? And just what color combination do we really prefer?

Do we sleep better in line with the direction of travel or crosswise to it? Do we like our mattresses hard, soft, or medium? And how many pillows? Do we want baby foods, a bottle cooler, a bottle warmer, a toydee seat, and/or disposable diapers? Do we want movies, television, and radio in flight? Do we want individual bars of soap, liquid soap, or granules of soap? And how about paper slippers, shoe cloths, a full length mirror, and a long distance telephone that can be plugged into circuits when we land?

O, yes, and do you think the planes should have a place for pets [$13.80 coast to coast if he is medium sized]?

Know what all this is? A survey on the "Age of Flight."

Somehow these surveys have put this department into a fearful dither. Trying to pull from one vague and indefinite mind concrete ing answers to such controversial delights, and all in one week, is frightening. Suppose we later change our mind about compulsory military training. How can we get that word to the post-war? Suppose we later decide the décor of the plane should be pink instead of seagreen. Suppose we really want a private plane for our pet. Imagine all of this, and post-war, too.

FIGHTING ABROAD FOR WHAT IS BEING LOST AT HOME.

CHINA-BURMA-INDIA THEATER, Nov. 19.—We soliders in Burma wish to voice our reaction to the results of the election received here last week. American soldiers are fighting on battle fronts thruout the world. The primary reasons they are fighting, as expressed by our civic leaders and by the majority of Americans, is to preserve our democratic way of life and to ensure that all nations may some day be free to live under forms of government desired by the majority of their peoples.

Thru the writings of various men of undisputed integrity and high intelligence, we have learned the following facts: One, that the political action committee of the CIO has been under the increasingly powerful influence of a group of Communists. Two, that the political action committee has great power over the political thinking and trends of the CIO. Three, that in the State of New York a political group entitled the American Labor party consisting of approximately 500,000 members, is dominated by members of the communist front. Four, that the American communist group was never dissolved, but is now acting under the name, Communist Political association, and is more seriously determined than it ever was to seize political power in the United States and eventually to transform the country into a totalitarian communist dictatorship. Five, that the communist leaders in America were heartily in favor of, and worked unceasingly for a Democratic victory in the state and national elections.

Associating these known facts with the election results, it is evident to us that the communist forces have climbed one more step upward toward their goal. While American men on foreign battlegrounds are losing their lives for the preservation of democracy from the onslaught of totalitarian dictatorships, our people at home are being led blindly down the trail toward the totalitarian form of government they avowedly despise.

May we offer our congratulations to the great, near-sighted American voting public? And may God help us.

IF WE HAD DRAFT MUTINIES.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Noel Coward was not greatly impressed by our poor, lonesome Brooklyn boys, but at least "they were there" and they were wounded. How is Mr. Coward impressed by those fighting sons of England's daughter, Canada, who staged a demonstration against dangerous overseas service thru drafting? Had our American boys done anything like that our nation would have been branded as afraid to fight. In fact, we've already been called some nasty names by Englishmen who thought we didn't get into it soon enough, or because we preferred peace to war and tried to avoid it until necessary. Even then, we sent our boys to Europe, where there are no Japs to fight. If Canada would not draft men to help the mother country because Canada was not actually attacked, certainly the United States cannot be condemned for the same action.

Apparently, England has a great deal less control over its own dominions than it has over the United States, and fighting British subjects prefer to fight on their own soil! E. J.

CLASSROOM COLLECTIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—In response to the letters of protest by parents concerning the collection of money in Chicago classrooms, I would like to say that no one is more tired of it or embarrassed by it than the teachers themselves.

Pressure tactics, coercion, and threats are held over the teachers' heads and they are forced to try to collect money from their children. Quotas are set for the school and each child is expected to bring a certain percentage of that quota. Orders are issued from the district superintendent's office to the principals. It is not the fault of the classroom teachers and they would be very happy to be relieved of the necessity of begging, pleading, collecting money every day, often from children of the underprivileged groups.

Not only is there the School Children's Aid society collection, Community War Fund, war stamps, but in addition there are the cheap photographers, magicians, etc., who travel around from school to school and for whom we teachers are forced to guarantee 100 per cent sales. Can you imagine the time and work involved in this work and bookkeeping?

EMBARRASSED TEACHER.

THRIFTY OBJECT LESSON.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 23.—I am sure we will oversubscribe the 6th war loan, but while we are doing it there is a question that comes to the minds of millions: Why do we not have leadership in sacrifice and saving from the administration? The administration repeatedly and rightly has asked us to be economical so that all possible man power and money could be directed to winning the war. But has the administration discontinued any peace time divisions and bureaus? Has the administration shown any economy in the use of man power in its civilian employes?

Each one of us should write our representatives and senators demanding that the administration top this 6th war loan by showing a saving of at least 25 per cent of it. The army leaders say we need 100,000 more people in war industry. Why not recruit these from government employes? They could and should spare many times that number. HARRY G. KRUM.

CABS FOR THE OLD AND SICK.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Something ought to be done about the taxi cab racket. If you happen to live a few blocks away from the loop they won't come and get you unless you promise a dollar tip. I always thought the cabs were for the public to use, especially for people who are sick and crippled and have to use a cab. Street cars are too dangerous for them to use. A. KELLY.

REPORT FRENCH REGIME PLANS CAPITAL LEVY

Repayment of Huge Sums Also Rumored.

BY ROBERT SAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 3.—A fresh batch of rumors concerning probable financial measures to be taken in the near future were circulated today among members of the consultative assembly as a result of the energetic attitude being shown by Rene Pleven, France's new finance minister.

Chief among the latest rumors was the government's alleged intention of declaring a levy on capital. It also was reported that the government is preparing to pay back huge sums advanced by the Bank of France during the occupation.

The periodic rumor that a new type of currency is to replace the bank notes now in circulation was revived. It has been argued that this measure is a necessity as it would facilitate cancelation of the old type bills of which the Germans still possess a great number.

10 Billion Francs Loaned.

The recrudescence of rumors about impending financial operations followed important declarations made by Pleven at Bordeaux Friday. The minister revealed that the liberation loan had now gone over the 10 billion franc mark and would be closed in two weeks. He also said publication of the weekly Bank of France statement will be resumed shortly and that the French foreign debt was small, especially in the case of the United States, to which France owed practically nothing.

He warned that financial recovery could not be expected as the result of a single operation or in merely a few weeks. Questioned about financial measures in Belgium, the minister said the situation in the two countries could not be compared, as the total area of Belgium was equal to that of only three French departments and that, moreover, the Belgian communications system was virtually intact, while French railways were badly disrupted. A drop in prices, he declared, would not come from any government action, but would be effected automatically with the reopening of the ports and the resultant resumption of interior traffic.

Cites Railroad Figures.

At a press conference in Bordeaux yesterday Pleven said that only 10,000 out of 40,000 passenger cars were left on the French railroads and only 100,000 freight cars out of 400,000 before the war could still be used, while 85 per cent of the present French rail traffic was being used for military purposes.

In order to remedy this situation, he said, France had ordered 1,700 locomotives in the United States and had recovered 80,000 German railroad cars.

He told his Bordeaux audience: "I can assure that the French government will be inflexible in its determination to recover all machinery, locomotives, coal, and industrial material that Germany stole from France in order to dismantle our industry."

Photographs of government and business officials in Mexico City reading copies of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on Friday afternoon, 16 hours after they had been printed in Tribune Tower, arrived here yesterday.

One hundred copies of THE TRIBUNE were aboard a Braniff Airways liner which made the inaugural flight of daily air cargo service from Chicago to Mexico City.

The plane left the Chicago airport at 1 a. m. Friday, an hour after the papers came off the press, and arrived in Laredo, Tex., at noon. There the papers were transferred to a plane of the Compania Mexicana de Aviacion, Mexican subsidiary of Pan-American Airways, which completed the trip.

BOY, 8, DROWNED AFTER HE GOES THRU RIVER ICE

Henry Aguilar, 8, of 37th st. and Shakespeare av., Riverside, drowned yesterday when he crashed thru thin ice while skating on the Des Plaines river, near Burling rd., in Riverside. His playmates called Joseph Peace, 13, of 47 Forest av., Riverside, who discarded his coat and scarf and jumped in the water in an effort to rescue the boy. Peace nearly drowned before other boys used his scarf as a line to rescue him. Riverside police recovered Henry's body two hours later.

WAC's Mary Xmas

Mrs. Mary Christmas, who enlisted in WAC during visit here.

Corp. Emily Tanko, recruiting officer for the women's army corp, offered Uncle Sam the season's greetings a bit early yesterday when she signed up Mrs. Mary Christmas, 30, of Ecorse, Mich., for the WAC.

Mrs. Christmas, who came to Chicago a few days ago for a visit, met Corp. Tanko at the Lincoln hotel, where both were guests. A convincing talker, the recruiting officer soon signed up the pretty recruit for automobile driving service overseas. Mrs. Christmas, who worked for several months last year at Fort Wayne, Detroit, as a civilian convoy driver for the army, says she can drive any vehicle the army owns from a half-track to a jeep. She is a former cosmetics model.

DE GAULLE TALKS WITH STALIN TO PRODUCE ACCORD

MOSCOW, Dec. 3 (AP).—Gen. De Gaulle's mission to Moscow, highlighted by two meetings with Premier Stalin, has assured the basis for a far-reaching Franco-soviet understanding and collaboration, competent sources said tonight.

The conversational spadework by the French and Russian leaders is all but concluded and many phases of post-war European problems have been covered in their talks. A bulletin is expected to be issued when De Gaulle's visit ends.

Officially the Kremlin has accorded De Gaulle every honor due the head of a major allied power. French observers expressed belief that this is evidence of friendship beyond the requirements of protocol.

LEFTISTS BRAND BRITISH POLICY AS REACTIONARY

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The left wing Commonwealth National committee, meeting in London today, issued a statement condemning British policy in Europe as reactionary.

"In Belgium," the statement said, "an unpopular government has been maintained by British bayonets, and in Italy and Greece British influence and British armored forces are used on the side of reaction.

"Those who fought against the Nazis are disarmed, and those who collaborated with the Nazis are often protected."

SMALL NATIONS URGED: 'BOW TO U. S. AIR POLICY'

Group Ends Its Work on World Plan.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

Pressure was being applied yesterday to smaller nations at the international civil aviation conference to sign up with the United States' air freedom program which this country so far has been unable to write into the draft of a world aviation covenant now being prepared.

The question of how much air freedom will be allowed when peace comes remains in two separate documents, laid on the table along with the world covenant, which set up an international air organization with advisory powers and outline technical and operating standards with the suggestion that all nations apply them as "recommended practices."

One for Hesitant Powers.

One of the documents grants only the privileges of uninterrupted flight over a nation's soil and landing for nontraffic purposes. This is for the more hesitant nations. The other grants three additional freedoms of the air, including right of commercial entry.

Meanwhile, a conference drafting committee yesterday produced a completed draft of the world air convention. This may be amended before the conference closes, but is expected to stand without any substantial changes.

The delegations of 54 allied and neutral nations, who have been meeting in the Stevens hotel since Nov. 1, hoped to end the conference by tomorrow, but some sources are talking about Thursday morning as a more likely date.

U. S. Champions Freedom.

The United States, from the beginning of this conference, has championed complete freedom of the air, including right of commercial entry everywhere in the world. Adolf A. Berle Jr., chairman of the United States delegation, presented the document to the conference which contains all of the five air freedoms.

It was reported unofficially that the delegations of several of the smaller nations have received word from their embassies to go along with "whatever Uncle Sam wants." The embassies, it is said, got the suggestion from the administration in Washington. Almost all of the smaller nations represented here receive valuable aid from the United States in lend-lease or other forms. As one observer said, "Nobody votes against Santa Claus."

However, Great Britain, the largest recipient of lend-lease, has stood out resolutely against granting any commercial air freedom unless it is restricted by traffic quotas or other formulas that will limit the number of commercial planes which can be put in the air.

Three Sections in Draft.

The draft of the permanent world air convention contains three parts: A section on air navigation, one on the organization of a global air body, and a brief section on air transport.

The air navigation section covers registration and licensing of pilots and aircraft, safety measures, and will have an elaborate technical annex of "recommended practices" in such things as the color of airport lights, marking of aircraft, and radio communications. It also grants freedom of flight and freedom of nontraffic landing to private and charter aircraft.

The world organization section outlines an assembly of all of the member nations, with each nation having one vote. This assembly elects a council of 21 members which is the organization's general operating body. The council appoints a president, secretariat, and secretary-general, as well as a committee on air navigation and air transport.

Power to Mark Routes.

The air transport section gives nations power to designate routes to be flown over their territory, provides for expansion of airports on a "loan" basis, and allows two or more nations to operate an international air line jointly. It also provides for the settlement of disputes between nations thru arbitration, and gives the world organization power to suspend a member nation which persists in violating the terms of the convention.

Two other conference documents that remain to be approved are an interim agreement, based on the permanent covenant, which will operate from the end of the war until the permanent document is ratified, and a standard form to be used by nations which want to negotiate separate bilateral air treaties.

Nickel Cigar Gone—Cigaret Sidelights

Chicago cigar makers declared yesterday that newly amended regulations of the office of price administration not only tighten the market and raise the price for smokers of the former 5 cent cigar but also threaten to put independent manufacturers out of business.

Price increases set in the new regulations range from 50 per cent for the one time nickel cigar down to 40 per cent for the three for 55 cents grade. The advances, however, are based on March, 1942, prices and include previous markups which already have eliminated the nickel smoke. The increases from March, 1942, granted in the present scale include:

From 5 cents to two for 15 cents; from 10 cents to 2 for 29; from 2 for 25 cents to 18 cents straight; from 15 cents to 22; from 3 for 50 cents to 24 cents each, and from 3 for 55 cents to 26 cents each.

Some Raise Prices.

The amended rules permit markups now and some retailers are reported to have raised prices. Others are said to have delayed, possibly thru misunderstanding.

All cigars made in Chicago are hand rolled in small shops. The makers regard themselves in a class separate from the large manufacturers of nationally distributed brands, who, the small operators say, turn out 45 per cent of the country's supply.

The independents' complaint is not with the price scale but with a provision that they say will make it impossible for them to roll a low priced cigar.

Affects Whole Line.

"Every cigar maker is now required to fix an average retail price for his whole line," said Emmanuel John Seidner, 10 S. La Salle st., attorney for the Associated Cigar Manufacturers. "This is a complicated process, in which he starts with a list of the grades he made in March, 1942, figures how many of all the grades he sold in the first six months of 1943, and then reaches a weighted average price by applying the factors set out in a table.

"From now on, he may make all the cigars of any grade he wishes, but the average retail price must not exceed his weighted average. If a manufacturer made 50 per cent of the old nickel grade, his average will be low. Thus, if he makes a box of 26 cent cigars he will have to make several boxes of the low grade to hold his average down.

Paid by Piecework.

"Cigar makers are paid by piecework according to the grades they work on. At a recent meeting a representative of the cigar makers' union told us the men would have to find other jobs if they were held down to low grade cigars."

An indication of how the OPA expects the weighted average prices to work out is given in a table in the regulation fixing averages for manufacturers starting business. A figure was determined for each internal revenue district. In the 1st Illinois district, which includes Chicago, the figure is 10.11 cents; in the San Francisco district it is 14.09 cents; in Florida 8.07 cents, and in Idaho 4 cents.

More for Yanks

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Beginning tomorrow American combat soldiers, replacements, and hospital patients in Great Britain may purchase seven packs of cigarets a week at post exchanges. Noncombatants will be allowed five packs.

CIGARET SIDELIGHTS

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

As the cigaret shortage continued yesterday, with many store shelves bare and others displaying "No Cigarets" signs, but with dealers doling out packages from under the counter, often at black market prices, these interesting sidelights on the situation came to light.

One-third of our cigarets are going to one-twelfth of our smokers. The one-twelfth which gets the one-third are the 5 million soldiers, sailors, and marines, now overseas. The eleven-twelfths who must get along on the remaining two-thirds are the 55 million smokers who remain at home in this country. There were 60 million smokers in the United States before the war.

On Nov. 21, Lt. Gen. Somervell, commander of the army service forces, said "American troops overseas now number nearly 5 million." At the same time the office of war information announced that approximately 5 billion packs of cigarets will have gone to these overseas fighters by the end of the year.

Five billion packs going to 5 million soldiers in 1944 means 2¾ packs a day to each one.

But during the same period the 55 million smokers at home have had to get along on approximately 12 billion packs. This means 218 packs a year to each, about four packs a week. These figures are based on an OWI release stating that 1944 production of cigarets was estimated at almost 17 billion packs of 20 each; that approximately 12 billion of these packs would be for consumption by civilians and fighters in army and navy camps in the United States, and that the remaining 5 billion were tax-free cigarets for shipment overseas.

OWI based its report on information obtained by it from the tobacco branch of the war food administration and from the internal revenue tax bureau. Concerning the overseas cigarets, it added that "the consumption of cigarets sent overseas to others than our armed forces is negligible." Tobacco company representatives said that lend-lease shipments [to other than United States expeditionary forces] in the first nine months of 1944 were 300,000 packs.

Information from all sources concerning the cigaret shortage showed that it resulted from the folowing situation:

With one-third of the nation's cigarets going overseas, either as lend-lease or for the army, the supply for civilians and soldiers in the United States some months ago was extremely short. Meantime the demand had tremendously increased. Millions who never had smoked before were smoking now because of war strains and for a number of other reasons. Millions of veteran cigaret smokers had increased their smoking, therefore their consumption, for the same reasons.

Thus an ever widening gap began to appear between the supply and the demand. Manufacturers and suppliers fought strenuously to keep up with the unprecedented demand, but they failed. The shortage was on.

Slowly the news about the manufacturers being unable to supply the demand leaked out. And the rush was on.

Now the manufacturers, the distributors—wholesalers and retailers—contend everybody is "hoarding" and it appears to be true. At least everybody admits buying all the cigarets he can get.

Chicago distributors say they could come near supplying the demand if all smokers would quit buying more than they need. They say that almost all women are now buying cigarets, either for their own use, or to send to sons in the army or navy, or to give to the men at home.

A number of women revealed they are getting cigarets from their physicians who, in turn, are getting them as favored patrons of drug stores with whom they do business or to whom they send patients for prescriptions.

A soldier guard pointed out that there are now 300,000 war prisoners — Germans, Japs, and Italians — in concentration camps in this country. He said there are at least 200,000 smokers among them. Each is privileged to purchase a carton a week of his favorite brand of cigarets, at 13 cents a package.

Cigar merchants and druggists say that at least half Chicago's thousands of taverns are selling cigarets, despite the fact they have no cigaret licenses. They say the tavernkeepers sell them above ceiling prices, at 25 cents a package. Many tavernkeepers admitted the practice. They said they had to keep "a few on hand" as an "accommodation" to customers. None would admit they keep them for profit. Nevertheless, the neighboring merchants pointed to them as a black market source.

From New York came comment that "37½ per cent of our tobacco was set aside in 1943 for allied countries."

Chain store executives, used to dealing with the buying public in the mass, say purchasers will not subject themselves to voluntary regulation.

Even the night clubs are not flush with cigarets altho they often sell only to favorite patrons, at 35 to 50 cents a pack.

An official of a chain drug company expressed his belief the shortage resulted from [1] cigaret smoking is at its peak in American history; [2] the supply has shrunk while the demand has vastly increased. "There is a tremendous increase in smoking by juveniles alone," this official said.

ICAZA RESUMES DORSEY BRAWL STORY TODAY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 3 (AP).—Tommy Dorsey's assault trial swings into its second week tomorrow with Antonio Icaza billed for further testimony about the balcony battle in which Movie Actor John Hall nearly lost the tip of his handsome nose.

A probably rigorous cross-examination looms for Icaza, Panamanian actor-sailor, who has declared that Dorsey bopped Hall on the brow with a bottle. The scene was a party last Aug. 5 at Dorsey's home in honor of the 26th birthday of his pretty wife, Actress Pat Dane, who with their friend, Allen Smiley, also is on trial.

Icaza has filed a $40,000 damage suit against the Dorseys for injuries allegedly sustained in the fracas. Just how much Icaza was involved in the battle is a point on which defense counsel is expected to dwell. Hall testified, in answer to one of Pacht's questions, that he saw Icaza afterward with no more of a bandage than a piece of courtplaster on one ear.

FOR VICTORY BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS EVERY PAY-DAY

EVERY DAY ONE YANK ON LEYTE LOSES HIS WIFE

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 24TH DIVISION ON LEYTE, P. I., Dec. 3.—At least once each day, some soldier in this front line division loses his wife thru divorce. And every day at least two other men who have been overseas more than 18 months are informed by the war department their wives have become mothers.

Lt. Col. Alva C. Carpenter, former Chicago attorney and judge advocate for the division, said wives bring twice as many divorce suits as do soldiers.

Even many husbands of women they know are faithless are withholding suits until they can return home "and talk things over."

Married to Same Girl.

On three occasions this year, two men have discovered they were married to the same woman. The war department in checking family allotments found one soldier who had two wives.

Col. Carpenter said in some states it is impossible for a soldier to obtain a divorce while overseas. He cites the case of one infantryman, away from home three years, whose wife had given birth to three children. State laws prevented his obtaining a divorce, yet federal laws required that his wife receive $22 from his $50 pay each month. And each time she had a new baby, another deduction was made from his meager earnings and sent to her.

Most Soldiers Single.

While between 400 and 500 divorces a year among approximately 15,000 men seems a relatively low percentage, it must be remembered that by far the majority of soldiers are not married.

Supposedly soldiers cannot be divorced by their wives without their consent, yet there is at least one case in the division where a shyster lawyer slipped the suit thru. Working thru members of the bar in the youth's home, Col. Carpenter is investigating the case.

Several cases of shysters bilking soldiers while handling estates also have come before Col. Carpenter and he, as lawyer for all men in the division, has secured services of good attorneys in an effort to recover the lost money.

Causes for divorce boil down to this basic reason: the wives have found somebody new.

IRAN LAW BANS OIL DEALS BY ANY OFFICIALS

TEHERAN, Iran, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Iranian parliament has approved a bill prohibiting any Iranian official from negotiating or signing any agreement concerning oil concession under penalty of imprisonment. The bill, presented for urgent ratification after the recent government crisis caused by rejection of Russia's request for concessions in northern Iran, provides that, altho the premier and minister may deliberate concerning exploitation of Iran's oil resources, they may not negotiate with foreign governments or oil companies regarding these resources.

Two of Dixon Family Back Home on Leave

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE return to Chicago from overseas of two members of the large Dixon family is cause for rejoicing among their relatives and friends. The Liberator bomber which has been circling the Chicago lake front during the "Pacific Theater" exhibition at Navy pier, which ended this week-end, was piloted by Lt. [j. g.] Homer Dixon Jr., who recently returned from South America. Lt. Dixon leaves today to report to Norfolk, Va., but hopes to return here on leave over the holidays.

His cousin, Lt. Bruce Dixon of the army air forces, also is at home on leave after escaping from enemy territory, where he was shot down during his 43d bombing mission in the European theater. He is spending a 30 day leave with his parents, the William W. Dixons, whose younger son, Pvt. Warren F. Dixon, is serving with the army medical corps in France.

Two other members of the Homer Dixon family also are in this country following overseas duty. Lt. Alexander Fletcher, who is back from the Pacific, now is attending a naval course at Sea Island, Ga. Mrs. Fletcher has just returned from a two week visit there. Nearing the end of his advanced navy training in Miami, Fla., is Lt. Parker Bryant, who served for many months in both the Aleutians and the South Pacific. His wife is at their home in near-by Palm Beach. Their brother-in-law, Maj. Wallace S. Wakem, is serving with the army in China, and during his absence his wife and baby are with her parents.

Engagement News.

At a small tea on Saturday in their home in Winnetka, Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Pierpont Cobb announced the engagement of their younger daughter, Mary Louise, to Lt. [j. g.] Austin Huntington Kiplinger of the naval reserve, son of Mrs. Irene Austin Kiplinger of Toledo, O., and of Willard M. Kiplinger of Washington, D. C.

Miss Cobb attended the Warrenton Country school in Warrenton, Va. Lt. Kiplinger, a graduate of Cornell university, has just returned from 10 and one-half months of service in the Pacific. Since he is spending part of his 30 day leave with his fiancée's family in Winnetka, it was decided to announce the engagement at this time.

Missing from the party Saturday were Miss Cobb's brothers, Ensign Albert W. Cobb, who is on duty in the Pacific, and John Pierpont Cobb, who is stationed in San Diego, Cal., as a seaman second class in the navy. Their sister, Elizabeth, was present, however.

Since Lt. [j. g.] James Clark O'Brien of the naval reserve returned recently on a 30 day leave after two years of service in the Pacific, Miss Betty Casey has been wearing a new diamond ring on her left hand. Today Mr. and Mrs. James Raymond Casey of Wilmette are announcing the engagement of their daughter to the young officer, who is the son of Mrs. Charles Loren O'Brien of Wayne av. Miss Casey attended the Convent of the Sacred Heart and Barat college. Her fiancé studied at Loyola university. He now has left to report to an advanced training school on the east coast.

Debut Notes.

The luncheon which Mr. and Mrs. F. Dorsey Montgomery are giving on Dec. 24 at the Saddle and Cycle club for their daughter, Lilian, is not being called a debut, as the party will be small and informal. Miss Montgomery will arrive from Smith college the day before the luncheon. Sharing in the festivities of the week-end will be Mr. and Mrs. Jens G. Mowinckel [Carol Montgomery], who by that time will be here from New York. Mrs. Mowinckel and her mother, Mrs. Frederick D. Montgomery, are expected in Chicago about Dec. 17, and Mr. Mowinckel will join them later for Christmas. The three visitors will divide their time between the families of F. Dorsey Montgomery and James R. Montgomery, who are Mrs. Frederick Montgomery's nephews and stepsons.

An old fashioned debut tea at home in Kimbark av. on Dec. 30 will be Miss Ariel Tatman's introduction to adult society. The house in which she will bow is the same one in which her parents, James H. Tatman and the former Helena Meinrath, were married, and in which the debutante grew up. She will return from Pine Manor on Dec. 14. Following the tea, the bud, her assistants, and their escorts will go to the Pump room for dinner and dancing. Miss Tatman's brother, James Jr., is stationed at Fort Monroe, Va., as a private in the army.

Mrs. Arthur Wirtz will entertain at luncheon on Dec. 27 at the Arts club for Miss Ann Cornelisen, who will make her debut at a small tea on Dec. 30 at the Racquet club.

Today's Events.

The Electric club atop the Civic Opera building has been reserved tonight for dinner parties preceding the opening performance of "Porgy and Bess," which will be sponsored by the National College of Education in Evanston. Among those who will give dinner parties are the John Brill Shermans, the David Vandercooks, the Rush Brisbines, Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Coon, the Melvin Veeders, and Dr. and Mrs. A. Martin Puris. Boxholders for the opening performance include Miss Edna Dean and Miss Clara Belle Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Church, Mrs. Hugo Dalmar, Mrs. Burt J. Denman, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dwight Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Poppenhusen.

The Beverly Hills center of the Infant Welfare society of Chicago will celebrate its 15th anniversary with a special meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Donald Nightingale. The center operates a thrift shop in Roseland, which so far this year has made $1,300.

Mrs. Garrett Bergen and Mrs. Tyson Poppell will entertain at luncheon today in the former's home in Wilmette for the board of the Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society, marking the last meeting of the present board.

Lionel Vasse, agent of the provisional government of the French republic, and Mme. Vasse will be the special guests at a Christmas program which Les Filles de France will give at 2:15 p. m. today in room 210 of the Fine Arts building. Mrs. Jack London will speak on "Childhood Recollections," and Miss Jeanne Brochery will tell a Christmas tale. Mrs. Arthur Byfield will sing Christmas carols, and tea will be served.

Musicians Club Gives Open Program Tonight

The Musicians Club of Women will have an open program at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Cordon club. Esther Ament, contralto; Ruth Lyon, soprano; Beatrice Eppinelle, pianist, and members of the Scherzo quintette—Dories Klein, Marion Stern, Margaret Teander-Evanoff, Evelyn Teander, and Marjorie Winkle—will take part. Hostesses will be Mrs. Eugene Gamble and Mrs. Lola Carter Robuck. Mrs. Nelson Brewer, Mrs. James Holland, Mrs. Alice Phillips, and Mme. Obrassova Podolsky will pour at the tea afterward.

White Collar GIRL

The Boss' Application Blank.

Just fill this out, Sir, if you please,
"Must stenos perch upon your knees?"
"Are you a mumbler with each word
So syllables are rarely heard?"
"Dictating, are you quite a menace?"
"Do you dash off for golf or tennis
And leave appointments by the score
With customers annoyed and sore?"
"Do you remember holidays
And have a heart for love's young ways
[Of steno and her furlough date]?"
If so, we'd say you really rate.
Perhaps we'll judge, by questionnaire
Your fitness for the boss' chair!

Informality.

Those who advocate less stuffiness in business correspondence should set their seal of approval upon the nice note of informality introduced into a letter reported by Telephony. Returning two reports to the state board of revenue and taxation the manager of a Kansas telephone company appended a note.

"Folks, I have been and am doing five people's jobs. I absolutely work day and night. I never go to bed. Every few days I drop down on a lounge and relax and sleep for an hour or two; then up and at it again."

The other reports, he adds, will be forthcoming if he can just keep up his strength.

Noon Hour Notes.

You have to have a drag to get a drag these days.

Where once the sky was the limit, the ceiling now is the limit.

It is not how patriotic you are that counts but how you are patriotic.

MAURICE LAZARE.

Qualifications.

Why religion is included as a qualification for a job has puzzled me, too. My only thought would be in considering people in groups, a majority of believers in religion might tend to make the group more readily managed.

Ten per cent of the information on an application blank is to determine the applicant's qualifications and 90 per cent to give the employer an insight into the applicant's character and personality.

It's hard to believe, but I've been told that the personnel man of one of our largest downtown stores, during the days of plentiful help, hired only people with blue eyes as he believed they were more honest!

WHITE COLLAR CYNIC.

Dis and Data.

There's a telephone operator who is a sort of 1944 Cinderella. Four nights a week after leaving the switchboard, she emerges, in evening clothes, to appear as a songstress at a Chicago ballroom. . . . And, speaking of telephones, Chicago, with less than three per cent of the population of the United States, has more than four and one third per cent of the total number of telephones in service in this country. . . . Era Bell Thompson, an interviewer for the United States employment service in Chicago, has been awarded a Newberry Fellowship for a book on her family and herself. . . . That is an appealing bit of writing in the November Boeing Magazine "A Woman Waits," by a young wife who helps make planes while her husband serves as a gunner on a B-29. . . . A Christmas gift appreciated by many white collar girls would be a big wall map for the office.

Trapp Singers Evoke Beauty of Music's Past

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Since the unforgotten English singers of two decades ago, the American concert stage has known nothing to compare with the Trapp Family singers. Baroness von Trapp, her seven daughters, and the family priest and conductor, Father Franz Wasner, who on occasion adds a warm baritone to the ensemble, gave one of their delightful concerts at Orchestral hall yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the St. Ignatius Alumni. They will return to the same hall next Sunday afternoon for an entire program of Christmas songs.

The charm of the Trapps is the disarming intimacy and informality of their music making, coupled to professional standards which are no less exacting for their complete unobtrusiveness. They remove the solemnity of such often forbidding music as the "Ave Maria" of de Victoria and the "Ave Verum" of Josquin des Près, and recreate it in terms of living warmth. Or they can toss off a madrigal, like Morley's "Sing we and chant it," in the most faultless English style. And they have a sense of humor. Only eight people constantly subjected to the inconveniences of war time travel could put so much feeling into Mozart's priceless little canon, "Bed is cozy."

But they do more than sing, and to hear them play Telemann's Trio Sonata in A minor for two recorders and virginal, or two movements from a Mozart Sonata for three woodwinds—a prime example of Mozartean genius—played on recorders, is to take an expertly conducted excursion into the remote but still living past.

To Jenska Slebos on Saturday night was allotted the trying task of rising from her chair as assistant leader of the cellos of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and playing for her colleagues and the audience of the "pop" concert the longest and most difficult of cello concertos, that by Dvorak, which the eminent Gregor Piatigorsky had played on the same platform only four days earlier. But Miss Slebos' mind was exclusively on her performance and not on possible comparisons, and her interpretation stood soundly and brilliantly on its own feet. She has grown enormously since the days she was often heard as first cellist of the Illinois Symphony orchestra. Always technically impeccable, she has discovered a new warmth and poise that has resulted in glowing tone and musical eloquence. Her great success with the audience was thoroly merited. Mr. Defauw conducted.

Kimball hall did not have enough seats yesterday afternoon to contain all who came to hear Dorothy Jordan, a Negro soprano of unusual gifts. Miss Jordan did not find it any easier to stay on the pitch in Schubert's "Du bist die Ruh," even in accelerated tempo, than others before her have, but when the musical material fitted her warm, voluminous voice, as Mednikoff's "Hills of Gruzia," Hue's "J'ai pleuré en reve," and Lenormand's "Quelle Souffrance!" she was decidedly impressive. "Ritorna vincitor," from "Aida," offered her no vocal obstacles whatever, but she is still hazy on the essentials of operatic style. Robert Macdonald was the accompanist.

Another large audience journeyed to Kimball hall in the evening to hear the Ukranian Women's Chorus of Chicago, brilliantly clad in native costumes, give a concert under the direction of George Benetzky. The group is not large but the individual voices are good and when they devote themselves to Russian liturgical music and Ukranian folk songs, they sing with finish, style, and agreeable tone quality. Three soloists were listed: Lillian Opychany, soprano; Alexander Kulpak, bass-baritone, and Helen Mazurick, mezzo-soprano.

It is not customary for the baritone and the tenor to walk off with the main glory of "Lucia di Lammermoor," but that is what happened at the Eighth Street theater last night where the Universal Opera company presented the Donizetti thriller. Algerd Brazis, seemingly using each appearance to vault higher up the scale of artistic excellence, turned in very nearly a first class job as Lucy's double dealing brother. There's a boy to watch, my hearties. And in numerous years of singing in these environs Enrico Clausi never sounded half as well as he did last night. Many larger stages these days tolerate tenor singing that doesn't surpass his in style or in genuine tenor quality of voice.

June Browne was assigned the title role, touchstone of coloraturas, and if she did not greatly distinguish herself, neither was she by any means deplorable. She is pretty, her voice is light, flexible, and clean in passage work, and when she frees it from an often restricted method of production, and learns to trill rather than bleat, she may really be ready for this arduous task. Michael J. Lester, Donald Gramm, and Roberta Holmer had the other roles, and Giovanni Berrafato conducted, better than on some occasions, but still too loosely for the best purposes of ensemble.

Thru the Looking Glass

The good metal compact is a joy. If you're like us you hate the one that is too gadgety or too heavy. You want a nice deep well for loose powder, a decent puff and, above everything, hinges and closures that won't go haywire after a month of use. We think not even the style is as important as the construction.

Vanity of goldlike metal.

The compact that combines style—the one that's really a dashing, chic costume accent and has just about perfect construction as well—is the one you ought to shop for these days. Make a special note of the one in the accompanying picture. It's a little sweetheart; if we owned one we don't think we could part with it to our dearest friend.

This is made by a firm that is famous for its precision working parts and guards its reputation for them zealously. The hinges and the clasp, which are the first things we looked at, are wonderfully sturdy. The whole compact is of goldlike metal, highly polished, with a charming engraved design on the cover that gives an effect of delicacy we like.

The powder well has an enamel flooring, which we like, too. It will never acquire an odor and it's easy as pie to keep immaculately clean. And to keep the vanity from being scratched while it bounces about in your bag in its year or so service, there's a particularly attractive pink protective case. The price: $6.95.

Libby Holman and Josh White Sing Blues, and How They Sing!

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Nothing new in the amusement world? Think again. Libby Holman and Josh White, the Negro guitarist, came to the Civic theater last night in a program of blues and other songs, and a kind of molten mesmerism hung tingling in the throbbing air. There they were, a woman in a dim spotlight with a slatted jalousie for a backdrop and just below her a man with a Svengali guitar. They sang the blues, the folk songs, and the strangely spiced spirituals, and from the point of view of the concert or opera singer they sang in no particular register, except indubitably the cash register. For they sang as Negroes sing, a native gift to Mr. White, an acquired one for Miss Holman, and in their voices were the quavers, the curious cadences, the shadows, the sorrows, and the joys of a race superbly articulate in improvised song.

Miss Holman, who was lost for a while, has found her way home. Singing the lovely "Riddle Song" about the cherry with no stone because it is love in bloom, singing the smiling voluptuary of "Evil Hearted Me," the enchanting "Ribbon Bow" of the Kentucky hills, the true blues of "I'm Goin' to Move You to the Outskirts of Town"—singing all these and many more, she was singing the songs she was born to sing, the songs that waited years for the husky, quavering, sudden deep velvet magic of her voice.

Why didn't some one tell me, or why didn't I know by myself, that this is the Josh White of my cherished "Chain Gang" album? There's no one like him. His "Trouble" would lure me to any theater on the busiest night. And his "Lass With the Delicate Air," his song about "Jerry" the mule, and especially that "Hard Time Blues" make it hard to keep your eye on a deadline. I couldn't hear him do "Summertime" with Miss Holman, but I did hear the brooding sadness of their lynching song, "Strange Fruit." They know the power of understatement, and that song, so simply sung, was a hand at your throat.

For anything less I would have begrudged leaving Ballet Theater on its last crowded night at the Civic Opera house, but here are glimpses of the dance week-end as I was able to see it: The afternoon's "Fancy Free" went gala at the last minute when the third girl, to the sailors' popeyed astonishment, was Tamara Toumanova, who took over the role, quite secretly, for fun. Perhaps, too, to thank Johnny Kriza for his superb support of her in Saturday night's pas de deux from "Swan Lake." That boy is going like a skyrocket.

Yesterday's most amusing contrast was between the demure Victorian ballerinas of "Pas de Quatre," the best of them Alicia Alonso, and the not quite so demure damsels of Tudor's "Gala Performance," most gala when Nora Kaye, Mr. Tudor and Hugh Laing were on hand to catch its full sardonic flavor. These, too, were brilliant in Saturday night's "Pillar of Fire," despite some lighting and dancing mishaps, because they know how to make the implicit explicit without pounding the point. Another festive occasion was "Graduation Ball," with Reed and Kriza back in the cast where they belong. Can't we have them all back in the spring, with those novelties they intend to rehearse?

At the Civic theater yesterday afternoon Nancy Silsbee played an ambitious recital which had some of the mechanical resources of music, such as reasonably good technique, solid tone, and directness of approach, but lacked the qualities that make you want to listen. She has to get beneath the surface of Debussy and Raven to make them count to an audience, and there is no use playing a Griffes sonata unless you can make that audience know why.

Give Reception Today for Jerusalem Rector

A reception in compliment to Prof. Leon Roth, rector of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, will be held this afternoon in the Standard club under auspices of the directors of the Jewish Welfare fund. Prof. Roth, who has just arrived from the near east, will give a report at 5 p. m. on activities on the university and its contribution to the war.

Boys, Too, Need Foster Homes for Christmas

Little girls with blue eyes and long blonde curls are first on the list of Chicagoans who have responded to the plea of the United Home Finding Service to "take a child for Christmas." This was disclosed in examining more than 350 applications which resulted from a story carried in THE TRIBUNE.

"Every one wants a little girl but no one wants to take any of the little boys who are so desperately in need of homes, too," Charlotte Byrum, director, said.

The service has hundreds of little boys, big ones, fat and thin boys, some cute and some homely, but most of them are just average, normal boys who are hoping that Santa Claus will come to see them, she said.

For that reason the Home Finding Service is making a direct appeal . . . homes for boys of any ages.

Michael, 9, with laughing Irish eyes, whose mother is ill and whose father is overseas, is a typical boy. In his own words, he "sure would like to be in a real foster home, where Santa has a chimney to climb down."

Then there's little Jimmy, who has been on his good behavior for at least the last week in the hopes that this will influence Santa his way. "Gee, I'd sure like a fighting chance on being on Santa's list," he said.

All the children's expenses are paid by the agencies which comprise the United Home Finding Service. This includes room and board, clothing, and medical and dental attention. If you will open your home to a child, call the service, 343 S. Dearborn st., WAB. 9793. The children are not for adoption and cannot be sent out of the state.

Publicity Club to Hear McGoorty, Ruopp, Mann

The human side of public relations will be discussed on Wednesday at a luncheon of the Publicity Club of Chicago at the Morrison hotel by Judge John P. McGoorty, the Rev. Harold Ruopp of Central church, and Dr. Louis Mann, rabbi of Sinai temple. The program is sponsored by the Chicago Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 3.—Darryl Zanuck has been busy as a bird dog cornering the market on best sellers. He has bought "Anna and the King of Siam," "Forever Amber" and "Leave Her to Heaven." And boy! Are stars lining up for them! Myrna Loy was overheard at the Stork club in New York saying she was going all out to do "Anna and the King of Siam." She's even willing to leave Gene Markey for the part. She'll do it, too. Paulette Goddard, who refuses a picture at Paramount until after June or July, is hot on the trail of "Forever Amber," and if you've read the book, you'll know she was the trollop to end all trolloping. Joan Fontaine is wanted for the murderess in "Leave Her to Heaven." It's a lucky thing the screen is asbestos, or these torrid ladies would probably burn it up before your very eyes.

Could Be Heart Trouble.

What goes with Spencer Tracy? He has become a veritable matinee idol, wants to see rushes, and hasn't been nice to Lucille Ball on the set of "Without Love." Could it be because he and Katharine Hepburn are no longer speaking? . . . It's amusing that every time "Laura" breaks a box office record, David Selznick gets burned to a crisp. He declares again and again that he never even read the script for Jennifer Jones. . . . I'm told Sheila Graham will divorce her mate when she arrives from England. . . . This is cutting-up day for Laird Cregar. He has finally done it—had that operation.

A Prelude to Stardom.

Fred Finkelhoffe, writer, ran into a navy pal who showed him a picture of his girl. She was a beauty, and Fred asked if she'd like to be in pictures. The young man said he thought she would, so Fred passed on that information, with her name and address, to Robert Goldstein, head of International, in New York. He phoned the lady and asked for an interview. Well, she made seven dates and skipped them all. He's still trying, because, says he, this alone proves some day she'll be a great actress. . . . Anne Baxter, after a week-end with her family at Del Monte, is still raving about the beauties of nature. Anne tells me there's not a chance of her marrying John Hodiak. . . . I'm told when Lana Turner gets a mad on and corners Turhan Bey, she rushes over to Martha Raye's home and pours out her tale of woe. . . . Gaylord Hauser is back in New York with Greta Garbo, which must mean that his pal Frey Brown's trouble with the draft board is all ironed out.

Accidents Will Happen.

Paul Kelley has been wounded again during a gun fight with Errol Flynn in "San Antonio." I hope he's got special insurance. Speaking of that, W. C. Fields tells me insurance companies ruined his career. "How come?" said I. "Well," he explained, "you know all companies insure themselves against loss of all kinds during the making of a picture, and on account of my age, no doubt, they no longer think I'm a good risk." . . . When an actor gets another actor a job, it's news. But when he gets two actors jobs, it's practically unheard of. That's what Charles Gordon, of Group theater in New York, did, and they're all working at Republic. The guys are Stephen Barkley and John O'Malley. . . . Don Loper may turn up in Michael Todd's "Up in Central Park" which took Noah Beery Sr. back to New York.

Fair Enough.

The Desi Arnazes celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary at Ciro's with Xavier Cugat playing the wedding march and with a cake and four candles. A friend muttered, "Question is—will they make the fifth?" . . . Ozzie Nelson writes those duets he and Harriet sing on their air show. . . . Deborah Kerr, Metro's English lassie, goes into a London play opposite John Mills until May, when her picture "Perfect Stranger" will be shown. . . . Ben Goetz will be home from England for Christmas. . . . How about Elizabeth Scott for "The Well Groomed Bride?" . . . Two soldiers, one with his arm in a sling and the other on crutches, came to rest on "Swinging on a Rainbow" set. Everybody wanted to get their story, so here it is. They'd never been out of California. They'd just been in an automobile accident two nights before.

ORPHAN ANNIE

'Personal and Private'

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1944: By William MacLeod Raine.)

INSTALMENT XIX.

A DISCOVERY.

Ranger walked to the office of the Star to have a talk with Davis, recently promoted to managing editor. The newspaper man was rotund, middle aged, and deaf. At sight of the caller his eyes lit.

He jumped up and slapped the ranchman on the back. "You blamed old skeezicks. You come to town and never look me up. Why not?"

"I'm looking you up now," Ranger shouted in his ear. "It was just three months ago I saw you."

They sat down at the desk. The owner of the Circle-JR drew a paper pad toward him and scribbled a line. Davis read, "My business is private. Mind if I write it?"

The editor nodded. "Hop to it, John."

Ranger wrote: "I want to find the sister of Bob Webb, the man who was sent to the pen for killing Giles Lemmon. She has been married since, I've been told."

"Young Webb broke jail two-three months ago," Davis murmured.

The cattleman used the pad again. "I know that. It's his sister I'm interested in just now."

Davis moved over to a long table with a Star file of the previous year. After leafing the bound volume for five minutes he found what he was seeking. It was a story telling of the marriage of Joan Webb to Henry Mitchell. He turned to the town directory and ran down a column of names beginning with M.

"They live at 423 4th st., or did when this was got out," he said. "Fortunate you didn't ask for the address of her brother. I'd have had to tell you, somewhere in Mexico."

"Much obliged," Ranger drawled. "I'll be pleased if you'll forget I asked you."

"Sure. If there's a story in it, let me know when it can be published."

"There isn't, Phil." Ranger crumpled up the sheet of paper he had used and put it in his pocket.

When a printer brought in a galley proof John departed.

The heat of the day still hung over the town as they walked to the address given in the directory. The man who came to the door was a good looking young fellow. He identified himself as Henry Mitchell and said that his wife was at home. As he ushered them into the parlor he was plainly a bit puzzled.

Joan Mitchell was a very pretty dark eyed young woman not very long out of her teens. When Ranger mentioned her brother's name she showed instant signals of alarm. He reassured her at once. They were friends, he explained, and told her the whole story, as far as he knew it, of Bob Webb's adventures since their first meeting.

"So you see we are very much in his debt," Ranger concluded. "We want to put ourselves at your service to help in any way we can."

"But I don't know where he is," Joan said. "I wish I did. Since he escaped I have had one letter from him. He did not tell me his plans. I want so much to see him."

Her husband added an explanation. "Joan understands that Bob could not come here. The place is watched. I think the letter that reached her had been opened and sealed again."

"Bob did not kill Giles Lemmon, tho if he had it would have been self-defense," Joan cried. "He told me so before he was tried and again after he was convicted. It was a crazy idea for him to try to talk Mr. Packard into doing justice to mother. I expect Bob got excited. Lemmon and another man named Uhlmann started shooting at him and by accident Uhlmann killed Lemmon. So they got rid of Bob by lying him into the penitentiary. And now they are hunting him like a wild beast. I suppose they will kill him. Why doesn't he get out of the country?" Joan asked piteously. "He can't dodge around Arizona forever."

"He is hoping to get evidence that Packard got the Johnny B crookedly," Ranger told her. "I don't think he can do it. Jug must have covered his tracks long ago."

"I haven't seen Bob for over a year," his sister said. "I suppose he is still very hard and bitter."

"He lives in a shell," Sandra answered. "Beneath that he is as kind and gentle as any of us, tho he doesn't want anybody to know it."

As the Rangers walked back to their hotel, Sandra said hopelessly, "There's nothing we can do for him—nothing at all."

"Not just now," her father agreed. "There may come a day when we can help him."

They passed the dark entrance of a store in which a man was lurking. Neither of them glanced at him, tho they were near enough to have reached out and touched him. He was the man who called himself Cape Sloan.

An hour after the Rangers got back to their hotel the son of the proprietor came up to announce that a man in the lobby was inquiring for them."

"Says his name is Fraser."

The eye of the cattle man warmed. "Must be Stan Fraser," he told his daughter. "Before you were born I got in a jam at a fandango at Guaymas. It looked like kingdom come for me when a young fellow I had never seen before threw in with me. For several days soldiers hunted us, but we made it back across the line finally."

Sandra's eyes were wide. "Did you kill anybody?"

"No. We winged a couple. I didn't start the trouble. A big Mexican crowded me." John turned to the boy. "Tell Mr. Fraser to come up."

After the greetings were spent Fraser explained his presence. "Henry Mitchell told me you were in town and staying here. He said you hadn't been gone 10 minutes when I dropped in."

"You know Mr. Mitchell?" Ranger asked.

"Never met him before. I took a message from Bob Webb to his sister."

"He isn't here—in Tucson?" Sandra questioned.

Stan smiled at her. "Maybe you'd better not ask where he is. It's supposed to be a secret."

"Then he's here," she cried quickly.

"I didn't say so. But I know how friendly you feel toward him. Mitchell said you would do anything for Bob you could. There's a way you could help, if it wouldn't embarrass you."

"Of course we'll do whatever it is," Sandra promised.

"A man named Chandler Newman lives here—works in the Southern Pacific office. He used to be bookkeeper for Jug Packard at the Johnny B mine. I'm pretty sure he knows something about the dirty work Packard pulled off. If he does, he has kept his mouth padlocked. The point is, could you get him to talk, John?"

"I'd go see Newman myself, but if I was seen talking with him they might track me back to Bob," Fraser told them. "We don't want Packard to get the idea that anything is stirring."

"If you have his address we'll call on Newman tonight," Sandra cried.

Sally Explains 2 Requests for Baby Buggies

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Requests for baby buggies continue to be numerous. A recent appeal came from a young widow who has one child a year old and is expecting another. She has been employed and self-supporting but soon will be forced to discontinue work. It is impossible for her to purchase a buggy for the older child.

Mrs. B. is also in need of a buggy for her 11 month old baby girl. The youngster is not yet able to walk and is very heavy for her mother to carry any distance. The father is overseas and has been in service over two years. If any reader can provide a stroller or buggy, Mrs. B. would be grateful for it.

An assisting agency has requested a sewing machine for Mrs. X. She has two small daughters and a very meager income. It is not possible for her to purchase much in the way of clothing for her youngsters, but she could remake apparel for them, if a machine were available.

Mrs. H., on the south side, has requested clothing for her children, a 4 year old girl, a boy of 1½ years, and a 4 month old baby. Her husband recently became ill and is soon to enter a sanitarium. Their living quarters are exceedingly damp, and the children have been subject to many colds. Warm clothing would be very helpful in keeping them healthy during the coming winter.

Barbecued beef is more popular than ever now that broilable steaks are scarcer than hen's teeth. Today's beef requires long, slow, moist cooking. Barbecue seasonings make it delicious.

Barbecued Beef Steaks.
[Eight portions.]

2 pounds round steak cut ½ inch thick
Flour for browning
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 medium onions, chopped
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon red pepper or a dash of tabasco
½ cup catsup
1 teaspoon chili powder
½ cup water
1 teaspoon sugar

Cut round steak into serving portions. Dredge with flour and brown on both sides in hot fat. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Combine all other ingredients and pour over meat. Cover and simmer gently about two hours or until tender. Add water to sauce as needed.

Hamburger Barbecue.
[Six portions.]

1 pound ground beef
1½ cups chopped onion
1½ cups chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 can condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1½ teaspoons salt
Split baking powder biscuits

Brown the beef in a skillet and add other ingredients. Simmer for 30 minutes. If sauce seems too thick, add a little water. Serve over hot, split baking powder biscuits.

Cowpunchers' Chili.
[Serves eight.]

2½ pounds ground beef
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup chopped onion
2 cloves minced garlic
1½ tablespoons salt
3 tablespoon chili powder
3 tablespoons paprika
1 tablespoon cumin seed
3 cups water
2 No. 2 cans red beans

Brown meat, onion, and garlic in hot fat. Add remaining ingredients except beans. Cover and cook slowly for three hours. Serve with boiled rice. If you make this dish for hearty appetites, six large portions can be expected.

Humphrey Bogart Away from Home; Wife Hires Lawyer

BY HEDDA HOPPER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 3.—It looks as tho the Humphrey Bogarts are all washed up this time. He has been away from home two nights, and his wife, the former Mayo Methot, told me thru her tears yesterday that she had retained Jerry Giesler as her lawyer.

"What can I do?" she asked. "He hasn't come home and he tells me he won't come home. But it is his home, and I want him in it." The marriage has weathered a number of storms since the nuptial ceremonies in August, 1938, but this time the ship is on the rocks.

"I don't want a big settlement," May confided, "I want him because I love him. It's become a habit to love Bogey and it's hard to break the habit."

Bogart was divorced by Mary Phillips in 1937. Among the grievances she listed were failures to come home until the early hours or not at all.

Gifts for Child to Make Are Listed Today

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

After mentioning in a recent article about what a lovely thing it is for children to make at least some of the presents they are to give at Christmas time, I promised you some suggestions for today. For, altho some boys and girls are simply bursting with their own ideas, others will turn to you, asking:

"Mother, what do you think Dad would like for Christmas?" or, "Mother, tell me some of the things you want very much."

If you're used to sewing, crocheting, or doing things with tools and paints yourself, many things will come to mind that your children can make. But if not, we'll jot down a few ideas. I do want to say, in addition, that you might tell your children to keep their eyes and ears open when around the family, for some one is almost sure to drop a hint unknowingly by saying:

"I wish I had lots of potholders"; or "I love sachets in my bureau drawers"; or "I'd like to have a good sturdy rack for my neckties," or "a small wooden 'step' for the kitchen."

Yesterday I came across the last surviving napkin of a set that a young friend fringed for me out of Scotch plaid gingham. This is something a really young child can do, using any pretty cotton fabric that will fringe out easily. You may have to help at the beginning with the perfectly straight cutting of the place doily and napkin.

If you are lucky enough to obtain some dates they will provide another job for the youngest gift-maker. Dates stuffed with walnuts rolled in granulated sugar and attractively packaged make a very acceptable gift, and the doing is within a small child's skill.

Potholders—for mother, aunt, or grandma—may sound prosaic, but they don't have to be. While they are always useful, there's no reason why they can't be made of gay gingham, percale, or even flowered chintz.

For the little girl who is beginning to sew, an apron can be made for mother or grandma just to the waist, with no bib. If the material is pretty or gay, and the strings wide for a full bow in back, the gift will look really important.

Northern Baptist Groups to Open Sessions Friday

Post-war religious issues will come before the midyear meeting of the Northern Baptist convention's executive group which opens Friday at the La Salle hotel. The denomination's post-war planning commission will meet over the week-end, followed by its council on finance and promotion. Plans will be made for the meeting of the convention May 26 at Grand Rapids, Mich. A report on yesterday's "Sunday of Sacrifice" offering will be heard during sessions. This offering represents the beginning of a 10 million dollar post-war fund.

Prices on Gift Gloves Run in a Wide Range

BY REA SEEGER.

Gloves, like other Christmas gifts, wear all kinds of price tags. You can run into money when you select the super de luxe items with fur cuffs and bands, the bands and cuffs of such luxury pelts as leopard, mink, black or gray Persian lamb, nutria, ermine, or beaver. And remember the additional tax for fur, too. The fingers and palms are of doeskin in black, brown and deep beige. They look like a million and cost a fraction thereof.

Then there are the picture book gloves consisting of a collection of victorian contrast colors — damask red, plum, parma-violet, blush-pink, china blue, egg yellow, and so on. These are of softest suede and have such effective trim as heavy decorative braid on the backs, heavy feather stitched motifs or fagoting and shirred edges with dainty pinked designs. Some have entire fingers of lace, notably those in black; others have fanciful medallions inset with fine handwork embroidery. Beaded motifs vie with the flicker of sequins and paillettes for customer approval. Two tone color gloves are new and fascinating for finger work, as the panels down the sides are of the contrast colors. Most of the colors are rich and jewel-like, ideal accents for dark winter clothes, day time or evening.

Long luxurious gloves in white smooth kidskin are available in extremely simple varieties or embroidered. These embroidered gloves of white have pastel or all white embroidery on the cuffs. Smart white gloves exquisitely sewn with black thread are outstanding classics for a glove collector. These and the all-white slipons provide the perfect gift for some one you know who asks for sleek perfection.

Sponsors Theater Party.

The Woman's Ideal club will sponsor a theater party tonight at the Goodman theater, where "Accent on Youth" is playing.

Double Duty

This trim frock serves as a double-duty item in the wardrobe because it's equally smart for business hours and after-office dinner dates. The bodice has a smart weskit cut, and is topped with a "little girl" collar. Soft fulness flows under the weskit waistline. Style No. 2565 is designed for sizes 10 to 20. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The winter fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents, 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Miss Murnane Is Married to Major Liston

The marriage of Miss Margaret Ann Murnane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Murnane of Commonwealth av., to Maj. Thomas P. Liston of the army air forces will take place at 11 a. m. on Dec. 16 in Our Lady of Mount Carmel church. Miss Murnane, a graduate of the Immaculate Heart convent in Hollywood, Cal., and of Northwestern university, has been engaged in Red Cross war work in the Chicago area.

Maj. Liston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Liston of Sherwin av., recently returned on leave from the European front after completing 86 combat missions. He joined the air forces in 1940 upon his graduation from the University of Notre Dame and was a flight instructor at Perrin field, Sherman, Tex., before going overseas, where he was commander of a Thunderbolt fighter-bomber squadron.

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Marie Burt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Burt of Springfield, Ill., formerly of Glenview, to George W. Jaap, son of Mrs. G. W. Jaap of Cincinnati, O., will take place at 2 p. m. on Wednesday in the Chicago Methodist temple. The bride's sister, Miss June Burt, will be her only attendant. Charles Jaap will be his nephew's best man.

Mrs. Samuel G. Grodson of Monroe st. announces the marriage of her daughter, Miriam Sunshine, to Joseph Hazelkorn of the navy, on Sept. 30 in New York. The ceremony was arranged after Mr. Hazelkorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hazelkorn of Brooklyn, returned unexpectedly from Europe, having participated in the invasions of Italy and France. He and his bride took a wedding trip to Quebec and to Champaign, Ill., where they met while attending the University of Illinois. Mrs. Hazelkorn has returned to Chicago to live with her mother now that her husband has reported for duty in the Southwest Pacific.

Maternity Center to Open Observance of 50 Years' Service

Fifty years of service to Chicago's mothers will be observed in a year-long golden anniversary celebration which opens tomorrow with a luncheon at the Casino given by the board of directors of the Chicago Maternity center. The work started by the late Dr. Joseph B. De Lee will be recognized.

In 1895 Dr. De Lee started a fight against death caused by childbirth that has been carried on by the Chicago Maternity center for 50 years. Originally known as the Maxwell street dispensary, the center will celebrate its half century anniversary in 1945.

In the 50 years it has delivered more than 75,000 babies in the homes of Chicago's poor with a mother mortality which is among the lowest of the country. During that time thousands of doctors and nurses have left the center with knowledge of the life saving technique used by Dr. De Lee. Close to 200 distinguished guests will attend Tuesday's celebration dinner, Mrs. John Andrews King, chairman of the center's board of directors, said.

Choral Groups to Sing Christmas, Folk Songs

A free program of international folk music and Christmas carols will be presented by three Chicago choruses at 8 o'clock tonight at the Art institute. The concert is being given in connection with the current exhibition, "Art of the United Nations," open from 7 until 10 p. m. Participating choruses are the Lyra Singing society, composed of 65 male singers under the direction of Frank Kubina; the San Demetrios choir, 40 young people of the San Demetrios church, and the Echo chorus of 40 young Polish women whose director is George Kalmus. Spyros Stamos directs the San Demetrios choir.

ANSWERS TO SATURDAY'S QUIZ.

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ J 10 2 ♥ K J 8 3 ♦ 7 4 ♣ Q J 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 diamond	1 heart	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. You haven't enough for a penalty double. And your hand is not good enough for a free bid of one no trump which denotes a good hand. If partner cannot act again you will not have missed anything.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ A Q 9 5 3 ♥ 6 ♦ Q 10 7 4 ♣ K 9 5
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 spades	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. Partner has opened and jumped and you have about the equal of an opening bid which makes a slam probable. If partner has not two losing diamonds it ought to be a cinch.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ K Q 10 7 5 ♥ K 5 ♦ 6 3 ♣ J 7 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 spades	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three or four spades, depending upon the character of your partner. Even tho he did not offer an immediate raise, he refused to quit at two clubs which suggests merit. The hand fits well.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ K Q 10 2 ♥ A ♦ Q J 9 5 ♣ A Q 10 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	3 clubs	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. An alternate bid is to take the bull by the horns and leap to game in clubs. After all, merely the king of diamonds and the king of clubs will give you a good play for it, and partner should have more than that for his raise.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ A 2 ♥ J 3 ♦ K Q J 9 5 4 ♣ Q 10 9
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	1 spade
Pass	Pass	3 clubs	3 spades
4 clubs	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. You are forced to go to game in diamonds, so you might as well stop off on the way to show the ace of spades. Partner cannot expect too much because you did pass over the one spade bid, showing a minimum opening.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ J 5 4 ♥ J 7 ♦ Q 10 9 ♣ 10 9 8 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	Pass	1 spade
Double	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five clubs. As far as partner is concerned you haven't a thing. He knows you have nothing and is still asking you to bid a game. The queen of diamonds and the fifth club should induce you to do so. You might have had a great deal less.

Q. 7—Opponents vulnerable, you are not. You are South and hold:
♠ 10 7 4 2 ♥ 9 7 6 5 ♦ A 7 4 ♣ A 6
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 heart	Pass	Pass
Double	2 hearts	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. Your hand should develop three tricks and partner should take four in view of his bidding. This means a two trick penalty, or 500 points. Four small trumps should be regarded as a defensive trick.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ Q 6 4 ♥ A K 9 5 3 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diamonds	2 spades	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	5 hearts	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Six hearts. Obviously the only thing worrying partner, is the immediate loss of two club tricks. Since you are protected against that, you should accept the invitation. You have the right cards.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

A crowd of 15,731 Blackhawks loyalists, biggest turnout in three Sabbaths, last night saw their pets lose to the world champion Montreal Canadiens, 2 to 1, in Chicago Stadium, but they were regaled with some swell hockey until the visitors spoiled the party by scoring the winning goal with slightly more than four minutes of the game to go.

The Canadiens, shaken out of the lead Saturday night when Toronto won from the New York Rangers, resumed the top thru last night's success. The Hawks remained in the cellar.

Play 2 Scoreless Periods.

For two periods the teams fought to a scoreless tie, virtually unheard of in hockey as it is played in these nights of war time talent; miraculous in a match between champs and cellar boys. Moreover it was the determined Hawk fighting spirit, rather than Canadien lethargy toward unhappy competition that kept the game so interesting to the very finish.

The Canadiens, tho checked in the first two periods, didn't wait long in the third period before notching the first score of the game. Twenty five seconds after the final session opened Maurice Richard, assisted by Elmer Lach, beat Goalie Mike Karakas, after a trip down the rink in which they zigzagged the puck until Richard, after his 14th goal of the season, cut loose from close in.

Hawks Tie Score, 1 to 1.

Right after 3 minutes of the period had been played, Frank Eddolls was tossed into the penalty box for holding. The Hawks promptly organized a power play, which paid off when Pete Horeck got the puck past Goalie Bill Durnan for the tying score. Joe Cooper and Bill Mosienko earned assists and the time was 3:04.

The Hawks fought the champs to a standstill until the game had gone into the final 5 minutes. Then Fern Gauthier, Buddy O'Connor, and Dutch Hiller rushed Karakas and Mike saved a shot by O'Connor and the rebound should have cleared by Cooper. But Joe had one of the few defensive lapses of the evening. Gauthier was given plenty of time to get the vagrant puck and pitch it over Karakas as Mike tried valiantly to struggle back into position after his squat from the save on O'Connor. The latter and Hiller were given assists on Gauthier's winning goal and the time was 15:54.

The Hawks will try their luck on one foreign pond before their next appearance at home on Dec. 17. They will play the Rangers in New York next Sunday night, their first Sunday absence of the season.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

PHIL WEINTRAUB, the Chicago boy who had the best season of a long and checkered major league career while with the New York Giants in 1944, believes Brooklyn's young Howie Schultz may become one of the greatest first basemen in the history of baseball. . . . "I've heard it said Howie couldn't hit," says Phil, who is wintering in New York, "but he showed no such weakness against us. And when he gets his kind of pitch, how he can blast it!" . . . Weintraub and Manager Mel Ott had a misunderstanding, which led to a two weeks' suspension for Phil at the end of the season, but the big boy wants to forget it and start all over again. . . . Lt. Comdr. James Crowley, commissioner elect of the new All-America conference, does not agree with alarmists who believe that all football teams eventually will be using the T formation and thus give the game a single monotonous pattern. . . . "Ten years ago the spinner was all the rage," observes Crowley, "and now this new cycle features the T. But some one finally will get a defense for it, or work out a new offensive system." . . . When the materials are available, a removable bleacher seating 12,000 will be installed in Shibe park's right field. . . . This will raise the capacity for football games to 45,000. . . . The new section cannot be used for baseball, however, as it encroaches on the playing field. . . . There is a mild boom on in New York for Joe Maniaci as post-war football coach at Fordham university. . . . The former Fordham and Bear full back, now in the navy, has coached Bainbridge to 16 consecutive victories over two seasons. . . . Detroit's curling club has opened its 59th season. . . . "Is This Trip Necessary?" was the headline over the story of the transfer of the Army-Navy game to Baltimore in a Newark [N. J.] newspaper. . . . Phil Shaughnessy, one of the four sons of President Frank Shaughnessy of the International league in service, was wounded while fighting with the Canadian forces in Holland.

Four night games will open the 1945 Southern association season. . . . Roland Gladu, Boston Braves rookie, is a French-Canadian. . . . Pitcher Marino Pieretti, drafted by the Washington Senators from Portland, is only 5 feet 6 inches tall. . . . Capt. Will Lewis, quarter back of Northwestern university's 1931 Western conference champions, is chief of surgery in a hospital in the Burma jungles, where he has been stationed for two years. . . . George Case, the Senators' outfield flash, has a daily schedule of gymnasium work, in season and out. . . . Coach Tom Stidham of the Marquette eleven is having a terrible time trying to fit his feet into a pair of wooden shoes sent him from Holland by Lt. Doug Renzel, former Hilltop full back. . . . Mrs. Stidham, however, has found use for her gift—perfume from Paris.

Gypsy Mother—1923.

A gypsy mother crooned a lullaby
While sorrow filled her eyes with unshed tears—
And as she sang she could not still the sigh
That was to come so often thru the years.
[Ah, yes, we think that gypsies all are gay,
And life for them is all romance and song—
We only see the tinseled, bright array,
And in our judging them are often wrong.]
For this new mother saw before her eyes
The carefree life of many a gypsy lad—
But in the background loomed a barking gun—
The sign of war—and seeing it she had
The age old fears that mothers always know
Who croon sweet songs to babies they love so.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3. — A football game which matched the high stakes for which they were playing ended in a 16 to 13 victory for the New York Giants over the Washington Redskins before 47,457 chilled spectators in the Polo Grounds today. As a result, the Giants took over first place in the three team struggle for the National Football league's eastern championship.

The Giants, presented with a 10 to 0 lead in the first quarter, waited until less than four minutes of the game remained to overcome a 13 to 10 deficit. Following a series of strange events in the final period, a forward pass by Arnie Herber, once a shining citizen of Green Bay, was the play which brought victory to New York.

Decisive Game Next Sunday.

This winning touchdown, which came at 11:35 in the fourth period, was the signal for a deafening roar from the spectators, but their cheering exhibition seemed premature when, with a minute and a half to go, big Joe Aguirre, from 37 yards out, booted the ball over the goal posts. Those would have been the tying points, but Washington's left guard, Al Fiorentino, was charged with roughness. The result was a 15 yard penalty. While the fans nervously watched, Aguirre, cheated of his third field goal of the game, tried again. His aim was true, but his right leg simply didn't carry enough power, the ball falling a few yards short.

Now all that stands between the Giants and a Dec. 17 title battle here with the Green Bay Packers, western champions, is a victory in a return game against the Redskins next Sunday in the nation's capital. This will bring them the title by half a game, even if the second place Eagles whip the Cleveland Rams.

Redskins Take 13-10 Lead.

It was a fluctuating battle today and until the Giants' winning surge, Sammy Baugh, who completed 25 of 35 passes for 273 yards, was the hero, hands down. Baugh had been on the sidelines during that rocky first quarter when an intercepted pass and a Redskin fumble had led to 10 points for the Giants. Then Baugh rushed in as a replacement for Frank Filchock, onetime Indiana star, who was seen no more the rest of the way.

The Redskins tied the score at the half, 10 to 10. A touchdown pass from Baugh to Wilbur Moore from the 9, culminated a 66 yard drive started late in the first quarter, and with a minute and 30 seconds left, Aguirre kicked the tying points. In the third quarter, with the Redskins still dominating the play, the Redskins settled for a field goal and a 13 to 10 lead, which stood up until the Giants' closing rush.

Petrilas Intercepts Pass.

Bill Petrilas, a young man from New Haven who had never played college football and who was with the Chicago Bears briefly this summer, was the Giants' opportunist in their first quarter success.

Filchock pitched a pass on third down after the opening kickoff. Petrilas intercepted it, then ran 23 yards for a touchdown in 1:17. On second down after receiving the subsequent kickoff, Frank Akins of the Redskins fumbled. Petrilas caught the ball on the fly and ran three yards to the Redskins' 45.

BIG MEN IN BOWLING AT BOWLING'S BIG EVENT

John Small of Chicago (left) wears a satisfied smile as Chet Bukowski of Detroit helps him on with his coat after Small had gained a place among the leaders in the All-Star bowling tournament on the alleys of the Auditorium service men's center yesterday. Small has a 12 game total of 2,421.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Joe Sinke of Chicago looks at the score which catapulted him into the lead yesterday on the second day of bowling's nine day world series. Aided by a single game of 265, Sinke totaled 1,232 for six games yesterday. This, added to the 1,213 which he bowled Saturday, gave him the top spot with 2,445.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 3 [Special].—The Chicago Bears today repeated an early season victory by scoring in every quarter to swamp the Chicago Card-Pittsburgh Steeler football combination, 49 to 7, before only 9,069 fans, of whom 2,320 were youngsters admitted free.

The triumph gave the Bears a tie for second place in the western division of the National Football league. It was the Card-Pitts' 10th loss in a row.

Full Back Johnny Grigas of the Card-Pitts, second in the league in individual ground gaining, did not play. Team officials did not learn until noon that he had left town.

The first half of the game was close, with the Bears leading, 14 to 7, at the intermission. However, the Bears scored 35 points in the last half, 28 of them in the final period.

Grigas, a former Holy Cross player, attended the final practice yesterday. This morning his hotel roommate, End Don Currivan, found a note from Grigas saying, "This is the end." Later, two teammates said Grigas told them yesterday he would not play today if the field were frozen. Half of the field was covered with snow today.

The mighty Bears, who clinched a part of second place money in the western division by the victory, rubbed salt into the Card-Pitt wounds by sending Clyde [Bulldog] Turner, 235 pound center, into the back field in the final few minutes. He not only returned a punt 9 yards, but raced 48 more from the left half back position with only six seconds left.

The Card-Pitts, who wound up with a minus 2 yards net from rushing, could have used the fleet Grigas. However, they did manage to tally one touchdown with only five seconds left in the first half, when Bobby Thurbon went over from the 1 yard line. Conway Baker added the seventh point by placement.

Gaudaskas Kicks.

Pete Gaudaskas place kicked all seven points after touchdown, one short of the league record, held by Bob Snyder of the Bears, and made on Nov. 14, 1943, against the Giants.

However, the Bears did create a new league record for most yards penalized in one season. They were set back 125 today for almost every infraction in the book. That broke

Eagles Beat Tigers, 34-0; in 2d Place

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP).—Led by Steve Van Buren and Ernie Steele, rookie backs, the Philadelphia Eagles today trounced the Brooklyn Tigers, 34 to 0, to remain in the race for the National Football league's eastern division championship. By winning, the Eagles went into second place, a half game behind the leading New York Giants.

Center Vic Lindskog supplied the first score, racing 65 yards on a pass interception behind perfect blocking after six minutes and 12 seconds of the first period.

Ernie Steele sparked the Eagles' second touchdown, scoring the payoff dash on a 24 yard end run after 10 minutes and 43 seconds of the second period. Zimmerman's kick was no good.

Jack Hinkle's running set up the last two scores as Eagles subs played most of the second half. Al Sherman tallied on a quarter back sneak in the third period, and Jack Banta dashed 59 yards in the final quarter.

LIONS, 38; YANKS, 7.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP). — The Detroit Lions, scoring freely in the first three periods, whipped the Boston Yanks, 38 to 7, today in the season's final for both teams. The Lions' fifth straight victory assured them of at least a tie for second in final western division standings.

Half Back Elmer Hackney scored three of Detroit's five touchdowns, two on 4 yard plunges and the other on an 8 yard pass from Bob Westfall, who pitched two other touchdown aerials.

Sinkwich Adds Points.

Frank Sinkwich kicked a first period field goal from the 23 yard line, and adding all five points after touchdown.

Sinkwich's field goal and Westfall's 46 yard touchdown pass to Bob Keene gave the Lions a 10 to 0 lead after only six minutes of the opening period. Westfall threw 14 yards to End Dave Diehl for Detroit's second touchdown and Hackney slashed over tackle for the third score before the half ended with the Lions leading, 24 to 0.

Yanks Score on Pass.

Hackney scored on an 8 yard pass from Westfall and again on a 4 yard plunge to wind up Detroit's scoring after George Cafego pitched a 12 yard touchdown pass to Keith Ranspot for Boston's only tally in the third period.

BAINBRIDGE WINS 13-3 VICTORY; 2D PERFECT SEASON

Bainbridge, Md., Dec. 3 (AP). — Bainbridge football team completed its second straight perfect season today with two fourth period touchdowns which beat the Maxwell field Marauders, 13 to 3.

The Alabama Fliers took a 3 to 0 lead in the third period on a field goal by Joe Stringfellow.

A punt to Bainbridge's 32 yard line set the stage for Harry Hopp's 58 yard touchdown run early in the fourth period.

FERRIER HOLDS ONTO 1ST PLACE IN COAST GOLF

San Francisco, Dec. 3 (AP).—Sgt. Jim Ferrier, U. S. A., posted a 54 hole total of 211 to hold his lead at the end of the third round of the 72 hole San Francisco Open golf tournament.

The golfing soldier from Camp Roberts, Cal., shot a two under par 70 for Harding park, not quite as devastating as his spectacular 66 yesterday, but sufficient to keep him in the fore of a field comprising practically the finest pros in the country.

Nelson Cards 69.

Sgt. Ferrier needed what he made today because Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., deefnding champion of this tournament and leading money winner of the year, was close on his heels.

Nelson, pre-tournament co-favorite with Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., fired the hottest round of the day, a 69, when he dropped a 10 footer for a birdie 3 on the 395 yard finishing hole today. He gained one stroke on the pace setting soldier.

Match Stroke for Stroke.

Ferrier, an Elmhurst, Ill., professional until inducted into the army last March, teed off with a 36 hole total of 141. Nelson was two shots behind, at 143. The two matched stroke for stroke today, in the same threesome.

Ferrier, continuing to sink long putts, tossed a 33 at Nelson on the first nine, picking up a stroke when the latter carded 34.

Nelson sank an 8 footer for a birdie on the 16th, but on the next hole missed a 30 inch putt. As events turned out, the error cost him a chance to tie Ferrier for the lead.

San Francisco Clippers, Fort Warren Tie, 21-21

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 3 (AP).—A punt return of 96 yards by Kenny Washington, San Francisco's Negro star, featured a bruising 21 to 21 tie football game between the San Francisco Clippers of the American Professional league and the soldier team of Fort Warren, Wyo., in Kezar stadium today. Washington made his long run in the second period.

Pvt. Joe Wilman, the smiling Chicagoan who took the first round lead in the fourth annual All-Star bowling tournament in Saturday's first round of the big show in the Auditorium service men's center, had a job on his hands last night as he went to the line in the penultimate squad of the second set of six games. Joseph, 39 year old former captain of the old Budweisers, who now is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., and is making the most of a furlough to knock over pins, went into the aforesaid second block with an opening performance of 1,250.

The early marksmen yesterday rolled up their sleeves and set out to make G. I. Joe work. One of the first was Joe Sinke, the town postman who delivered the mail early, posing a 2,445 which gave him temporary command of first place for the half-way route thru the 24 game preliminary stretch which will continue today and end tomorrow. Joe the mailman batted out a 265 in his third game on the first squad and wound up with a series of 1,232. Incidentally he proved the 265 was no mistake by pursuing it with a 226 and a 244, only to slip to a 139 on his sixth effort.

Southpaw, 51, Thrills Fans.

The premonition that the rest of the 120 artists from 54 cities in 40 states would take a shot or two at the Wilman opener was verified in the fourth squad's work. This was the individual highlight of the day, when the tournament's only southpaw, Frank Tarbox, 51 year old Stone company president from Findlay, O., rifled the best series of the tournament to that time, and the high game for the first 12 games.

Big Frank, who is generally identified as Junior, and who never bowled until one of his sons, now a Seabee in the South Pacific, interested him in the sport 11 years ago, had started Saturday with a rather shoddy 965. Yesterday afternoon, he had the clientele howling as he poured strike upon strike for a 1,252 set and a high game of 267, with which he ignited the string.

Seven Straight Strikes.

Pressing Sinke before Wilman came out was Andy Varipapa, the Hempstead [N. Y.] vaudevilian who can combine strikes as well as trick shots. Andrew came within five pins of Sinke, off of a 2,240 which embraced a final game of 246. In this, he opened with six consecutive strikes, missing the seventh when the No. 10 pin refused to fall. He wound up with a 246 for that session and a series of 1,201.

Varipapa's run of six was outdone, however, by Chet Bukowski, the Detroit war worker who recently won the Bomar diamond medal classic and first prize of $2,000. Chet, who had gotten away slowly Saturday with a 1,066, set forth yesterday with a 174, 204, and 180. In his fourth appearance he thrilled the Auditorium crowd by shooting seven straight strikes, only to leave the 4-7 up on his eighth try. He rolled it out for a 253 and tacked on a 257 for high series of the tournament to that point, a sparkling 1,257.

Small Maintains Fast Pace.

Another early leader who kept the pace thru the second six games was Johnny Small, the Chicago business man who is regarded as one of bowling's most durable marathon shooters. John dropped in three 200 plus games in the 1,227 series which gave

32 FINALISTS TO VIE WEDNESDAY IN C. Y. O. BOUTS

Rivals Are to End Boxing Workouts Today.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The 32 finalists in the Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament will end boxing drills in C. Y. O. center gymnasium this afternoon. They then will mark time until Wednesday night when they will vie for the 16 open and novice class championships in Ashland auditorium.

The contenders include Curtis McDaniel, St. Anselm, and Jesse James of Holy Family, light heavyweight rivals; Ted Spicer, St. Sabina, and Don Philbin of St. Joseph parish in Summit, Ill., middleweight opponents, and Joe Lindsay, Holy Name of Mary ,and John Matula of St. Michael, heavyweight rivals.

Seeks Third Title.

Lindsay, who weighs 197 pounds, altho only 5 feet 8 inches tall, will be trying for his third C. Y. O. trophy. He won the novice C. Y. O. 175 pound title in 1942, and the open heavyweight crown a year ago. He is the only defending champion remaining in the running. Joe has a record of 20 victories in 23 battles.

However, Lindsay will oppose a strong antagonist in Matula, who captured the 1939 city Golden Gloves novice light heavyweight championship. John holds a decision over Eddie Kaminski, 1942 C. Y. O. heavyweight winner.

Philbin, tackle on the Argo High school football team, will make things interesting for Spicer in their forthcoming title contest. Ted, who is 21 and lives at 7610 S. May st., was a finalist in the novice Golden Gloves south sectional tournament last February.

In Quest of Third Medal.

McDaniel, who was born in England, Ark., 24 years ago, will be in quest of his third open division medal, a notable accomplishment if he achieves same since only three former C. Y. O. boxers have gained that goal—Andy Scrivani, Hiner Thomas, and Frank Kainrath. Curtis captured open middleweight honors in 1937 and 1941.

James is confident McDaniel will be thwarted in his aims. Jesse, who is 23 years old, started boxing as a novice welterweight in 1939.

Elect Davis Secretary of Bowling Body

Delegates to the annual convention of the Chicago Bowling association yesterday elected Roy Davis, editor of the Chicago Bowler, as their new secretary in a spirited meeting held at 32 W. Randolph st. He succeeds the late Al Sindelar to the position.

Davis polled 1,003 votes, to 406 for James Kalivoda, secretary pro tem, and 365 for Milton Raymer. Kalivoda then was unanimously elected assistant secretary, a new office which the delegates created yesterday. Jules Sowa, secretary of the Classic league, and Walter Schuster withdrew.

Secretary's Term Reduced.

Other items of business acted upon included the reduction of the secretary's term to two years from 10; the establishing of his salary at $4,000 per year plus five cents for each sanctioned team; the fixing of the assistant secretary's salary at $2,000 per year plus five cents for each sanctioned team; giving the association president a $200 per year expense account; establishing a $200 per year salary for the treasurer, and the rearranging of the rules to start the annual city tournament on the first Saturday in each December.

The delegates also reëlected Frank Gebler, president; H. H. Lewis, 1st vice president; J. J. Landa, 2d vice president; A. K. Young, 3d vice president; J. V. Clark, 4th vice president, and Jules Lellinger, treasurer.

Executive Directors Retained.

The association retained N. L. Edwardson, W. J. Schuster, J. Kalivoda, Jules Sowa, Al Hoffenkamp, H. F. Lempuhl, E. J. O'Brien, Art Williams, George J. Weissensel, S. M. Ross, and Frank [Bud] Wright as executive directors and added to that group Marvin Erickson, Walter Jurgenson, and Claude C. Randall.

Because the C. B. A. and the American Bowling congress are at odds as to what constitutes a quorum, the result of the election may be challenged, observers said last night. In the event of such a challenge, the matter would be placed in the hands of the A. B. C. for disposition.

BRUINS RALLY IN 3D TO BEAT LEAFS, 5 TO 4

Boston, Dec. 3 (AP).—Coming from behind in a free scoring third period, which saw a total of seven goals tallied, the Boston Bruins tonight defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 5 to 4, in a National Hockey league game in the Boston Garden before a capacity crowd of 13,000.

All-Star Pin Lead Taken by Joe Sinke

100 yards in 17 rushes, and Bill Paschal, who picked up 57 in 30 tries, him a 2,421. Twenty-seven year old Corp. John Supple of Fort MacArthur, a one time Chicagoan who distinguished himself in Saturday's last squad with 50 consecutive errorless frames, kept pitching for a half way aggregate of 1,283.

Dr. Harry Kerr of Philadelphia fired a handsome total of 1,245 for a 2,379 score going in to today's third round of six games.

Today's round will bring the preliminaries within six games of completion. At the conclusion of the 24 games tomorrow night the 48 high scorers will go into semi-final competition on Wednesday, working six games in the afternoon and six in the evening. The top 11 men for the 36 games of total pin shooting will gain the round robin match play finals opening Thursday and continuing thru Sunday night's finish. The two leaders for the 36 games of preliminary and semi-final shooting will be awarded special prizes of $200 and $100.

$2,000 First Prize.

The 11 leaders in the semi-finals will join five seeded players in the four days of match play competition. This quintet includes Paul Krumske of Chicago, newly crowned champion; Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., who yielded the 1943 title to Krumske in a challenge match on Nov. 26; Rudy Pugel, Day's Milwaukee protege; Buddy Bomar, of Chicago's Marigold Arcade, and Connie Schwoegler, Madison, Wis., giant, who won the 1942 championship.

The 16 finalists will meet each other in the 15 four-game blocks, with the Petersen point system governing their four-day argument. The 16th block, last on the tournament program, will be a position round. In this, the leader on points for the first 15 games will meet the second scorer, the third the fourth, etc.

These finalists will be battling for first prize of $2,000, with the runner-up collecting $1,000.

COM. WARE AND DAUGHTER WIN DINGHY SERIES

Commodore Willis Ware, with his daughter Leslie as crew, won the Columbia Yacht club's five race series for B class Frostbite dinghies in Chicago harbor yesterday. Sailing his entry, Mr. Big, Commodore Ware finished with 16 points. Ensign Peter Paganis, U. S. C. G., 23, who commanded a coast guard patrol boat in the English channel on D-day, was a close second with 15 points. He sailed Quest, with Phil Wattley as crew. James Hoddle, with Mary Gardner as crew, was third with nine points.

Gary Comer, sailing Debutramp with John McKeague as crew, won the first series of races to be sailed at the Jackson Park Yacht club for the Commodore Fred Weston trophy. Robert Landon was runner-up and Max Lauderback was third.

Jack Vials Jr. defeated 10 other D class dinghy crews at the Chicago Yacht club for the Edward Schnabel trophies. Skipper Vilas and his crew, Don Buckingham Jr., captured three of the seven races sailed in Belmont harbor. Americus Nye was second in the series, Sam Clarke placed third, Mrs. Harry Nye Jr. was fourth, and Herman T. Van Mell was fifth.

DAVID KINLEY, FORMER U. OF I. HEAD, DIES AT 83

University President in Greatest Decade.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 3 [Special]—Dr. David Kinley, 83, who headed the University of Illinois during the decade of its greatest growth from 1920 to 1930, died today in McKinley university hospital in Urbana.

Dr. David Kinley.

He had been a hospital patient for the last three months, suffering from a heart ailment which followed an attack of pneumonia. His two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Kinley Brooks, Chicago, and Mrs. John R. Gregg, New York, were at his bedside.

Funeral Wednesday.

Dr. Kinley had been in retirement since 1930 as president emeritus of the university. He maintained his residence in Urbana and until his recent illness was seen almost daily on the campus. One of his last public appearances was in March, 1943, when he spoke at a convocation marking the university's diamond anniversary.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in Smith Memorial hall on the university campus, followed by burial in Roselawn cemetery, Urbana. Classes will be dismissed for the day at 2 p. m. and all university offices will be closed while the funeral is in progress, it was announced. The family requested no flowers.

STUDIED UNDER WILSON.

David Kinley served as acting president of the University of Illinois in 1919 and became president in 1920.

He joined the faculty in 1893 as assistant professor of political economy and social science, and then served as dean of the university's college of literature and arts, dean of the graduate school, and vice president.

Kinley was born Aug. 2, 1861, in Dundee, Scotland, and came to America with his father in 1872. He attended Yale, receiving an A. B. degree in 1884, and then became a high school principal at North Andover, Mass. In 1890 he went to Johns Hopkins university where he studied under Woodrow Wilson and under Richard Ely, economist, with whom he went to the University of Wisconsin to complete his work for a Ph. D. degree in 1893.

Made Dean in 1894.

Soon after he went to the university his administrative ability was recognized and in 1894 he was made dean of the college of literature and arts. He held this post until 1906, during which time that college rose from second to first place in size among the divisions of the university.

In 1902 he organized a special group of courses for business training, and directed them until 1915 when they had become so important they were organized as the college of commerce and business administration.

His emphasis on scholarly research by the faculty and advanced students resulted in his appointment in 1906 as dean of the graduate school, a post he held until he became acting president in 1919.

Kinley was named vice president of the university in 1914. In that position it was he who was primarily responsible for the administration of the institution's war related activities between 1916 and 1919. When President Edmund Janes James' health failed in 1919, Kinley became acting president.

Kinley was a stanch defender of educational opportunity for all. As enrollment in the university increased by leaps and bounds, he firmly opposed limitations against any who could meet the institution's entrance requirements, working instead to expand facilities to serve the people of Illinois.

Chicago Unit Grows.

Altho building expansion on the Chicago campus of the university at the Illinois medical center on the near west side did not get well under way until after Kinley left office, he is considered in large part responsible for laying the ground work which led to raising this part of the university to its present position.

After the World war, Kinley kept the university educationally on a conservative basis. To meet the needs of national expansion in business, industry, agriculture and the professions, the university provided opportunity for specialization as well as broad liberal training.

Kinley gave his attention not only to the students, but also to their parents. The first collegiate dads' day of any institution was held at Illinois in 1920, and the first mothers' day in 1921.

In 1897 he married Kate Ruth Neal, who died in 1931 in Hongkong while they were on a trip around the world in the interest of the Chicago Century of Progress exposition. Two daughters survive, Mrs. John R. Gregg, New York, and Mrs. Harriet Kinley Brooks, Chicago.

OVER 40 CLUB FINDS, ADJUSTS MEN TO WAR JOBS

Big Post-War Field Is Predicted.

Service rendered by the Men Over Forty club of Chicago in finding jobs for its members is a standout record in war time industry, business, and the civil service, T. H. Gilmour, president, said yesterday.

Founded five years ago in Chicago and Boston to help the plight of unemployed white collar workers who previously had earned more than $4,000 annually, the movement is nation-wide in scope today with plenty of post-war possibilities, Gilmour said.

The Chicago club, at 134 N. La Salle st., is finding jobs every day for unemployed executives, engineers, accountants, salesmen, advertising men, writers, and other white collar workers.

Fit Round Pegs in Square Holes.

It is even possible thru the club's system, as Gilmour put it, to make square pegs fit into round holes. Many unemployed workers, he explained, simply aren't going about getting a job in the right way.

For instance, he said, recently the Chicago club has found positions for a former machinery installation expert, who is now a successful factory manager; a former radio publicity man who is now handling publicity for a loop hotel, and a retired university dean who has taken charge of a correspondence and direct mail training school for employes of a large corporation in Chicago.

One of the secrets of the club's success, Gilmour confessed, is getting in close touch with top executives who need men, and help applicants to present their background in the best light.

Depends on Gifts.

The club is a nonpartisan and nonprofit organization, charges no fees or dues, and depends on gifts from business firms for all of its needs, including office space, furniture, printing, and other requirements.

Gilmour is only the current president. A former insurance salesman, he will move out when he finds a post for which he is fitted. The next member in line will take his place.

The members hold meetings every Monday morning in the office to discuss job finding plans. Every member hits the street in the canvass, or marketing, as the club calls it, for jobs. Every member is looking for a job for a fellow member on the theory that it's easier to sell the other fellow than himself.

500 AT REVERE PLANT ATTEND AFL MEETING

Approximately 500 workers employed in the ordnance branch of the Revere Copper and Brass company at 2200 Natchez av. attended a meeting yesterday called by the International United Auto Workers' union [AFL] to determine their labor status. The meeting was a sequel to one held Nov. 25 for which 1,500 workers quit their jobs for the afternoon to attend and vote to affiliate themselves with a rival CIO organization.

Four of the local's officers, headed by Anthony Audia, who since have been suspended by the international union for their rebel activities, accompanied by about 50 followers, mostly from the Dallas Brass, another division of the company, attempted to take over the meeting. They were quelled by Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail. The disturbers left after shouting accusations that the AFL had done little or nothing for the local union.

As they left the hall they attempted to get the audience to follow but the ordnance workers refused to, as they did a week ago when they had been urged to stop work to attend the rump meeting. Anthony Doria, spokesman for the international union, said the labor relations board would be petitioned to hold an election to determine bargaining rights. The AFL union holds a contract which expires in August, he said.

Illinois General Revenue Fund Rises in November

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3 [Special].—William G. Stratton, state treasurer, said today that Illinois' general revenue fund increased $3,733,720 over October to a total of $114,849,418 at the close of business Nov. 30. The total includes 75 million in the general revenue investment fund.

ARMOUR & CO. FIRST 3¼S.

I should like some information concerning Armour & Co. first mortgage series E 3¼ per cent bonds, 1964.—E. P.

This 65 million dollar issue, marketed last September, provided most of the funds for redemption of the company's entire $76,365,000 first mortgage 3¼ and 4 per cent bonds previously outstanding.

Other funded debt consists of 10 million 2¼ per cent notes, 1945-'54, and $31,699,600 7 per cent cumulative income debentures, originally issued by Armour of Delaware which was merged with the parent Illinois corporation last year. The latter figure excludes $1,500,000 estimated sinking fund payment due within one year and treated as a current liability.

The new 3¼s are secured by a first mortgage, or by pledge of securities secured by first mortgage, on all the company's fixed properties owned in fee in the United States. Similar properties of wholly owned subsidiaries are included in the lien, as are certain improvements on leased land. The bonds are callable at 105 to Sept. 1, 1945, and at declining scale of prices thereafter. For the sinking fund the schedule of call prices starts at 102½. At the recent market price of 104¾, the yield to maturity is about 2.93 per cent.

The company's consolidated net income after interest and other deductions in the 31 weeks ended last June 3 was $8,120,407. In each of the 1943, 1942, and 1941 fiscal years income exceeded 11 million, and in 1940 was $4,560,539.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PREDICT HEAVY CITY FINANCING IN PEACE TIME

Trend Indicated by Recent Voting.

Public sentiment favorable to the resumption of large scale borrowing by local governments after the war was shown by the results of balloting on bond issues up for consideration Nov. 7, the International City Managers' association said yesterday.

Approximately 125 local governments offered for voter approval bond issues totaling 175 million dollars, of which at least 150 million dollars were approved. In 1943, the association said, only 20 million dollars of bond issues were submitted to voters, and more than 75 per cent was rejected.

Large Cities Approve Issues.

Cincinnati, Houston, Baltimore, San Francisco, Akron, Tacoma, and Long Beach were among larger cities voting bond issues and the Cincinnati and Houston issues were the largest. Both were for post-war projects and school district construction.

Of more than 30 major bond issues up for approval, only three or four were rejected, the association said. One of these was a 3 million dollar Baltimore street bond issue turned down by the same voters who approved bond authorizations totaling $19,300,000 for other purposes. Another was a proposed 7 million dollar issue to build a Wayne county and Detroit city-county building.

Results of the bond issue balloting encouraged city officials all over the country who are preparing post-war programs based on the issuance of bonds, the association said.

Major Issues Broken Down.

Breaking some of the major issues down, the 41 million dollar Cincinnati and Hamilton county total included 16 million for the city, 16 million for schools, and 9 million for the county. Of the city's share, 6 million will be spent on streets, 3 million on sewers, 2 million on grade crossing elimination, 1 million for a general hospital, 1 million for parks, and 2 million for the University of Cincinnati. The Hamilton county issues will provide 3 million for a new public library, 3½ million for a sewer development, 1 million for a road building program, and 1 million for a court house.

Baltimore voters approved 10 million for a thru highway project, 3 million for another airport, 3 million for sewers, 2 million for various public buildings, and the remainder for other purposes.

BRIGGS STRIKERS VOTE TO RETURN TO WORK TODAY

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP).—About 5,800 striking employes of the Briggs Manufacturing company's Mack av. plant voted today to work tomorrow, pending appointment of a special arbitrator for their dispute over seniority rights of demoted foremen.

The strike, by members of the CIO-United Auto Workers, started Thursday in protest against company action in giving demoted foremen plant-wide seniority. The company said it was following the union contract, but the union maintained the contract called for only departmental seniority.

The 3,800 CIO-UAW strikers at the Graham-Paige Motors corporation plant have indicated they would return to work Tuesday. The walkout followed suspension for a week of 23 welders who had quit work in protest against what they described as rehiring of assemblers without regard to seniority.

The three-day strike of 1,300 CIO-UAW employes at the aircraft engine division of Chrysler corporation's Dodge main plant ended yesterday. That walk-out began Wednesday over assignment of a girl to a job which the union said a man with more seniority could have been assigned.

HOLDS VET CAN DISPLACE OLDER, BETTER WORKER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—A returning veteran is entitled to his old job, even if he displaces a man of greater ability or more seniority, the legal department of the National Association of Manufacturers, said in the current issue of its law digest. It said the selective service act language clearly supports that premise.

"It seems relatively clear," the N. A. M. legal department held, "that an employer is given the choice of restoring a veteran to the position he left or of giving him another which is substantially equivalent, but he is given no choice as to whether the veteran shall be restored to his job. It is of no consequence under the law that the position is held by a person of greater abilities or more experience than the veteran or by a person having greater seniority than the veteran."

Surplus Sales Top 26 Million for October

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—W. L. Clayton, surplus war property administrator, reported tonight that four government agencies sold $26,772,000 of surplus property in October at 64.7 per cent of its cost or appraised value. In the five months since June 1 surplus property disposed of amounted to $111,779,000 at 76.1 per cent of its cost or appraised value.

The October figure includes $4,873,000 sold to other government agencies and $684,000 disposed of to lend-lease. The war department continues to be the largest source of surplus war property. On Oct. 31, it had on hand property excess and surplus to its needs, but not yet reported to disposal agencies, valued at $510,964,000.

Slide Fasteners Top Sales.

Clayton said this property is being screened for possible uses within the war department and by the navy. When no use is found for such property in either the army or navy it will be declared as surplus to the appropriate disposal agencies.

In October sales by the treasury procurement division were $13,592,000. The two largest individual transactions involved the sale of slide fasteners. Colmar Products corporation purchased 2,828,000 fasteners with an appraised value of $591,596 for $414,771, and Talon, Inc., purchased 3,703,000 of an appraised value of $931,456 for $705,343. Sales of other property appraised at $633,865 were made to lend-lease at $626,462.

Gas Mask Plants Sold.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation accounted for disposals of $11,455,000. Included was the sale of charcoal plants and gas mask assembly lines which cost $3,791,000 to the chemical warfare service of the war department for $500,000.

The maritime commission reported sales of $594,000, which included 15 diesel engines, and the war food administration made sales totaling $1,131,000.

People and Events

William H. Yates, president of United Wallpaper, Inc., yesterday announced election as a director of Frank A. Hiter, a senior vice president and general sales manager of Stewart-Warner corporation.

Phillips Carlin, who resigned as vice president in charge of program operations of the Blue Network, has been appointed vice president in charge of programs of the Mutual Broadcasting system. Carlin has been in radio for 22 years.

Appointment of Ernest Greenway Jarvis as chief metallurgist of Continental Industries, Inc., a small business group, was announced by Chester Bolles, chairman. Jarvis, who is president of Niagara Falls Smelting and Refining corporation, will take up his duties as adviser and research director immediately.

Swift & Co. announced the resignation of Fred J. Fabish, assistant manager of the hide department, to become associated with the International Commercial company about Jan. 1.

Approximately $386,100 will be paid before Christmas in a year-end bonus to 6,000 employes of General Aniline and Film corporation, said George W. Burpee, president.

War Devised Radar Is Held Transport Aid

Radar, invaluable to the allies in fighting the axis, will be a boon to water, air, and rail transportation after the war, with much time and money saved thru its application, Comdr. E. F. McDonald, president of Zenith Radio corporation, predicted yesterday.

E. F. McDonald.

"Radar erases fog," he said. "Every commercial ship in the world will use radar. It will have a vast effect on the speed of water transportation, and the cost of the holding up of ships by fog will be eliminated.

Highway Use Distant.

"Every passenger plane will be equipped with radar. Planes will fly where they have been grounded before. Radar will add to the safety of night flying. All passenger and possibly freight trains will use it."

He asserted he saw no application of radar in highway transportation in the "present state of the art," explaining that when its use does come in this type of transport it will appear in trucks and buses first.

Passes True Horizon.

He explained that radar, on the frequencies now used, goes to a horizon past the true horizon, acting the same as FM [frequency modulation] and television. He said it "bends" over the true horizon, much as does light.

As an example, he said waves transmitted from the company's antenna atop the Field building at 585 feet would hit the horizon in 27 miles, but that they bend over the horizon just like light and good reception could be obtained for many more miles.

CANADA FORMS BANK TO ASSIST NEW BUSINESS

Allows Tax Credits to Secure Loans.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 3 [Special].—Among steps taken by Canada to expedite the post-war development of industry and commerce is the establishment of an industrial development bank as a branch of the Bank of Canada.

The new bank, which is in the process of organizing, was designed to assist persons starting new enterprises and others who do not have the capital necessary to expand existing businesses. Its services are to be offered primarily to those who cannot raise funds easily thru normal lending channels.

Tax Credit Loans Offered.

Allowing business enterprises to use certain tax credits as security for loans is another asistance offered by the government. For the last several years a portion of excess profits taxes paid has been of a refundable character, earmarked for repayment two years after the end of the war. The government has decided this projected refund can be posted as security for loans, provided the money is used for "beneficial" purposes such as industrial development.

The government also has authorized double depreciation for tax purposes on new plants or expansions that will provide post-war employment; has set up a department of reconstruction to supervise the shift from war time to peace time economy, and has organized an exports credit corporation.

This agency, with 250 million dollars at its disposal to guarantee exporters against loss, was created to encourage exporters who are reluctant to trade because of doubts of the paying abilities of the importing countries. Since the Canadian economy is based on large exports, it was held desirable that there be as few possible impedi- there be as few as possible impedi-

Howe Heads New Agency.

Of the department of reconstruction little is known since it is in the organization stage. It is headed by C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, but he has not yet disclosed his plans.

He has reported, however, that both the Steel Company of Canada, at Hamilton, Ont., and the Algoma Steel company, at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., are further expanding their plants, already enlarged since the start of the war.

MORRISON ASKS NATIONALIZING OF 3 INDUSTRIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Modernization and nationalization of some of Britain's "inefficient and backward" basic industries was demanded today by Herbert Morrison, Laborite minister of home security and home secretary, in a speech before a labor audience. He listed the coal, cotton, iron and steel industries as first to be nationalized.

Admitting that American industries "which are so far ahead of ours are conducted by private enterprise," Morrison deprecated this because "America today is in the progressive, thrusting stage of capitalist development, as was Britain in the 19th century."

"Tho we must aim at America's results and learn from her technical methods, we cannot copy her industrial structure. You cannot turn the clock back three-quarters of a century."

SHOWMEN'S LEAGUE HOLDS SERVICES FOR 160 DEAD MEMBERS

Annual memorial services for deceased members of The Showmen's League of America were held yesterday in the Hotel Sherman before a reproduction of Showman's Rest, a plot within Woodlawn cemetery, where 160 members now are interred. Established in 1917, Showman's Rest is large enough to accommodate 750 graves.

The Rev. Clinton C. Cox, pastor of the Drexel Park Presbyterian church, gave the address and used as his subject, "The Show Must Go On." The Rev. Mr. Cox made several biblical references, and told the story of Esther, favorite wife of King Artaxerxes of Persia, who gambled her own life to gain an audience with the king and successfully begged him to stop his persecution of her people, the Jews.

The service was the preliminary meeting to the conventions of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions, which opens today, and the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools, and Beaches, scheduled to open tomorrow. More than 1,700 fair, park, and show representatives and performers will attend.

MILITARY MASS AT ST. ANDREW'S HAILS WAR DEAD

Military high mass was offered at St. Andrew's Catholic church, 3546 N. Paulina st., in a brilliant setting of massed flags and martial pageantry yesterday morning. Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, founder and national director of the Catholic Youth organization, presided and delivered the sermon. Three posts each of the American Legion and the Catholic War Veterans association, a women's auxiliary post, and the parish Holy Name society paraded around the block. Flags were posted in the sanctuary. Gold star families were honored and taps was sounded for war dead. The Rev. Martin Lorenz, Cook county chaplain of the Catholic War Veterans, offered the mass.

3D HERO MEDAL GIVEN FOOTBALL STAR, CAPT. BRITT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—Capt. Maurice L. [Footsie] Britt of the army infantry now has the distinguished service cross to go with the congressional medal of honor and the silver star.

Capt. M. L. Britt.

The war department, announcing the latest award today, said Britt is believed to be the first soldier in this war to win all three awards. Britt, who won football fame at the University of Arkansas and as a professional with the Detroit Lions, is a resident of Lonoke, Ark.

The captain is on terminal leave, preparing to retire from the army. He lost his right arm and suffered other wounds in the Italian campaign.

Battle with a Tank.

The D. S. C. was awarded him for extraordinary heroism in action on Jan. 24 of this year near Campo Morto, Italy. His company of the 30th infantry regiment, 3d infantry division, was pinned down by fire from all sides.

Britt moved into an exposed position only 75 yards from the enemy line and from there directed mortar and artillery fire. An enemy tank crew opened fire on him, but he directed an American tank destroyer's gunfire at the tank, which withdrew.

He then raced across to a house and set up machine gun fire from a window, helping fire the gun until all visible enemy soldiers had been killed or driven to cover. Britt took over direction of mortar and tank destroyer fire which knocked out three enemy machine guns, two personnel carriers and several mortars. Finally, he led his men in an attack.

Stops Nazis at Acerno.

The silver star, Britt's first decoration, was won at Acerno, Italy, in Sept., 1943. The nation's highest award, the medal of honor, went to him for stopping, virtually singlehanded, a German counter-attack near Mount Rotundo, in Italy, which threatened to isolate an entire infantry battalion.

To the combat awards, Britt has added a number of other decorations, including the Purple Heart with three oak leaf clusters for four battle wounds; the military cross of the British empire; combat infantry badge and a distinguished unit badge.

HEAD OF EVERSHARP OFFERS TO HELP END ALLEGED FIRE TRAPS

Martin L. Straus, president of Eversharp, Inc., 1800 Roscoe st., pen and pencil manufacturing firm, said on his return from New York last night that he had no knowledge of alleged violations of fire regulations with which the firm has been charged by Chicago fire prevention authorities. The company plant, which has been closed by police, has a low fire insurance rate, he said, but is willing to make any changes that are suggested to eliminate the alleged hazards.

The firm, he said, has spent half a million dollars in the last year improving working and safety conditions.

All employes are being paid full time rates until the plant gets into operation, Straus said, and the firm's plants elsewhere are continuing normal production. Company executives will appear in License court today to answer the charges.

TRANSPORT POST OF LEGION PLANS ITS FIRST DINNER

The first Transportation Corps post of the American Legion in the United States will hold its first dinner in the Morrison hotel at 7 p. m. Thursday. Silk flags will be presented by John L. Keeshin, president of Keeshin Freight Lines, to Maj. Alex Baxter, post commander.

Other speakers scheduled are Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad; Brig. Gen. William E. Guthner, commanding general, 6th service command, and Col. Dan A. Hardt, zone transportation officer for the army service forces.

Other guests will be Sheriff Mulcahy; T. P. Sullivan, state director of public safety; John L. Rogers, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Judge William Helander of the Illinois Commerce commission. The post is named in honor of the army transportation corps.

FORMER TACKLE FLEES; TACKLED BY EX-TACKLE

James Havis, 21, of 1122 Blue Island av., Negro, former Medill High school tackle, who was interrupted while tampering with an automobile yesterday in 13th st., near Halsted st., fled down the street, weaving from side to side in a beautiful bit of open field running.

But at his heels were Detective Thomas Barnes, former tackle on the Englewood High school team, and Detective Thomas Welsh, who was an end at St. Rita's.

With a flying tackle, Barnes stopped Havis, while Welsh captured Havis' companion, Eugene Collins, 21, Negro, 1306 Miller st. On the persons of Havis and Collins, police said, were found articles taken from the car.

BURGLARS TAKE RINGS.

Burglars took two rings valued at $193 from his home, John Jozefik, 10727 S. Ridgeway av., told police yesterday.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by M. Seitter, 6454 Laflin st.]

THE QUESTION.

What accomplishment of yours tempts you to brag?

WHERE ASKED.

Coliseum [asked of skaters at roller derby.]

THE ANSWERS.

Russ S. Baker, Sand Lake, Mich.—Altho it may seem odd for a man I have practically mastered the art of cooking and baking. I'm not a cook by trade, but my mother had a bakery and she taught me everything I know about it. Dad was in charge of a chain of restaurants, so I couldn't help but learn.

Buddy Atkinson, New York City—Many times I've taken care of my little baby sister, my sister's baby, and my own baby. I can give a baby a bath, mix formulas, change its diapers, and sing it to sleep. I believe I can take care of a baby as well as any woman and be just as kind, patient, and sympathetic.

Claire Richter, Wayzata, Minn.—When I was younger I had an inferiority complex about my height, which is 6 feet 4 inches. I've given the matter a lot of thought and have turned my height into an asset rather than a liability. I no longer have this complex and I'm rather proud of the fact.

Mary Youpelle, 2432 Winnemac av.—While working for the army I learned all about trucks and automobiles. I can grease and oil them, change spark plugs and tires and generally fix a car when something goes wrong. I also have had experience driving 1½ and 2 ton trucks—without denting fenders, etc.

Monta Jean Kemp, Indianapolis, Ind.—I don't like to brag but when the girls traveling with me can't get an appointment at a beauty shop they ask me if I'll style their hair for them. I always fix my own hair and I do it as well as they do in a beauty shop. The girls all compliment me on my good work.

Jack Wilson, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Ability to improve on what other people have done tempts me to brag. For instance, my traveling trunk. It was just an ordinary trunk when I bought it but now it has detachable wheels, a built in radio and safe, curtains to separate clothes, and other improvements.
